AFL-CIO Due To Request Hoffa To Quit Teamsters

Five Unions Face Ouster At Conclave

United Textile Unit Already Suspended; Corruption Attacked

By NORMAN WALKER

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Delegates gathered today for opening sessions of the AFL-CIO convention with five unions—including the giant Teamsters Union—facing expulsion moves on corruption charges. One of the unions, the United Textile Workers, was suspended last night.

George Meany, federation president, said in advance of the sessions that the Teamsters could escape expulsion only if James R. Hoffa, the union's president-elect, should quit and let AFL-CIO representatives monitor the union's affairs.

This appeared to be little change from the position the AFL-CIO high command has taken heretofore, but seemed to open the door a bit for Hoffa to step aside from the Teamsters' presidency and still retain some office, such as his leadership of the Central States Teamsters.

Declines To Elaborate

Meany declined to elaborate, and Hoffa was reported to have said in New York that he will consider the possibility of a compromise.

However, the AFL-CIO leaders appeared determined to push a convention expulsion action against the Teamsters, Bakery, Laundry, Distillery and Textile Workers unions. They comprise about 1,800,000 of the AFL-CIO's 15 million members.

All five unions have been under fire in congressional investigations, with the Teamsters and Hoffa especially being charged before the Senate Rackets Committee with misusing union funds and powers.

Merger Deadline Extended

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Unmerged state and local AFL and CIO bodies had a new lease on life today.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council extended today's deadline for merger without setting a date for terminating the grace period.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said further efforts will be made to bring the unmerged groups together and charters will be revoked only when a situation becomes "hopeless."

Unmerged bodies have been denied representation at the AFL-CIO convention opening today.

Under the AFL-CIO constitution, state and local bodies had until today to merge or the AFL-CIO could lift their charters and set down merger convention rules.

Thirty-three states and 169 local central bodies have merged thus far. Most of the 15 unmerged states are in industrial areas.

Greek Freighter Might Be Saved

HONOLULU (AP)—Chances for saving the stricken Greek freighter Margarita Chandris brightened today when a rescue ship messaged that the ship might be able to reach Honolulu under its own power.

The message, sent by the SS President Monroe, indicated the weather was improving in the area of the storm-tossed ship as Hurricane Nina swept by. It said nothing about the freighter's mechanical trouble, which is believed to have put the ship out of control.

100 British Commuters Die In Collision Of Two Trains

LONDON (AP)—Rescue workers today said approximately 100 persons died in the rush-hour crash of two trains taking commuters and Christmas shoppers to their homes in thick fog last night.

Salvage crews, moving through a nightmare scene of fog and twisted metal, brought out 73 bodies. They said 25 to 35 bodies still were trapped in the mangled coaches.

Police said more than 200 others were injured, including 110 seriously hurt. Determination of the final toll of dead and injured may take several days.

Arms and legs of bodies protruded from the windows and shattered roofs of the coaches. The rescue crews said there was no

CONVICTED OF MANSLAUGHTER—Charles Lee Guy III, left, is comforted by his father, Charles Lee Guy Jr., of Dunn, N. Eisenhower Hopes To Balance Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—Influential Democrats called today for military belt tightening to help provide added missile funds within the balanced budget President Eisenhower hopes to maintain.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate's Republican leader, told reporters after a daylong White House legislative conference that Eisenhower and GOP congressional chiefs are "all very hopeful there will be a balanced budget."

To attain that objective in the face of world conditions and defense needs, Knowland said, he expects present rates of corporation and excise taxes to be continued. The higher rates, in effect on a year-to-year basis since the Korean War started, expire next June unless Congress renews them.

Knowland said no over-all spending figure had been arrived at for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, but another conferee said the new budget is likely to be very close to the $71,800,000,000 estimated outlays for this year. This original estimate has since been raised to 72 billions.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee said he approves of the administration's budget-balancing objective. To help meet the additional two billion dollars in missile and other defense outlays forecast by administration leaders, Russell said some less essential military spending is going to have to be cut.

Save 600 Million

"I think that about 600 million dollars can be saved by eliminating some of the duplication and waste in the military program," he said. "I certainly am opposed to deficit spending and to increasing taxes."

"But if it came to a showdown between deficit spending and more taxes, I would rather see taxes raised."

Sen. Carroll (D-Colo.) said the Eisenhower administration is going to run into opposition in Congress if it attempts to cut out essential civilian services.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, called for more economies in both military and civilian spending.

Van Horn's Odd Illness Described

Accused Murderer Of Wife Subject To Physical Seizures

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Robert Jett Van Horn was subject to unusual physical seizures, defense witnesses testified yesterday at the murder trial of the 53-year-old socially prominent lumber firm executive.

More than 25 character witnesses were paraded to the stand by Van Horn's lawyers yesterday and two of them told of occasions when Van Horn was stricken with convulsive, or heavy-breathing types of attacks.

Additional defense witnesses were to be heard today, fourth of the Baltimore County Circuit Court trial of Van Horn, charged with first degree murder in the June 1 fatal beating of his wife, Bernice, 54.

Admits Beating Her

The defendant has admitted in five handwritten statements that he brutally beat his wife to death during a "red rage" after she struck him in the face with her pocket book.

Most of yesterday's witnesses—friends, employees or business associates of Van Horn—testified that Van Horn was a mild-mannered gentleman who went out of his way to avoid arguments and never showed any signs of viciousness or brutality.

Earl C. MacArthur of near Rochester, N.Y., who formerly taught English and coached football at the Peddie School, Hightstown, N.J., told of a seizure Van Horn suffered during a football practice at that school while a student there in 1921 or 1922.

"It was during football practice, and on a play in which Van Horn was carrying the ball around the right side of the line there was the usual pileup of players," MacArthur said.

Twisted On Ground

"Van Horn remained on the ground twisting spasmodically. His eyeballs were rolled back, and his arms and legs were twisting spasmodically. It seemed impossible to bring him to. The twitching was rather extensive. I never saw a fellow react during a football game that way before, and I haven't seen anything like it since," MacArthur testified.

Frank M. Fossett, an insurance agent, also testified about an unusual physical symptom displayed by Van Horn about two or three years ago when both men were standing at the bar in a club.

"It scared me because I thought he was having a heart attack," the witness said. "This spasm, or whatever it was, came on very suddenly. . . . he gasped, his face was flushed and it appeared to me as though his eyes bulged."

Women Testify In Hoffa Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—Two women employees of Teamsters Union units in Detroit have testified that they never gave anyone permission to listen to their telephone conversations.

Mrs. Judith Seymour Wall and Miss Bernice L. Burridge were government witnesses at the Federal District Court wiretap conspiracy trial of James R. Hoffa, president-elect of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters; professional wiretapper Bernard Spindel; and Owen Bernard Brennan, president of Detroit Teamster Local 337.

Cause Of Snow Moves Out; Road Hazard Stressed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau said today the disturbance which caused the East Coast snow storm has moved out to sea.

In its final advisory on the storm, the bureau said that early this morning the storm was centered about 400 miles east of the Delaware coast and was moving northeast.

The bureau added: "Strong winds caused the snow to drift, increasing the hazardous driving conditions which extend from Connecticut and Rhode Island southwestward through a large part of Virginia and West Virginia this morning."

"Temperatures will be rather cold today. Sunshine will cause some of the snow on roadways to melt during the day. Freezing temperatures again tonight will renew the hazardous driving conditions and caution is advised."

LONDON TRAIN WRECK — A bridge girder rests atop smashed, telescoped coaches as rescuers continue the search today for victims of the crash of two rush-hour commuter trains in London yesterday. The toll is expected to reach at least 100. The bridge girder was toppled by the crash and fell on coaches. Story at bottom of page. (AP Photofax)

20 Reported Hurt In Blast, Fire In Store

Villa Rica, Ga., Business District Hit By Explosion

VILLA RICA, Ga. (AP)—Twenty persons were burned, some believed seriously, in a fire following an explosion in the business district here today.

The Villa Rica Hospital reported 20 persons who suffered varying degrees of burns were brought in shortly after flames swept four stores at 11 a.m.

The hospital said it was not known whether all persons in the stores had been removed.

The blast was believed to have been caused by gas.

Fire trucks were called from Atlanta, 40 miles to the east of this town of 1,700, and from Douglasville, Carrollton and Bremen.

Mayor William B. Hartsfield in Atlanta authorized the Atlanta Fire Department to send any help needed.

Doctors were called in from Carrollton and other nearby towns to help with the injured.

First reports said the explosion was in a drug store.

The explosion demolished the Berry Drug Store, the Empire 5 & 10 Cent Store, the A & B Dress Shop and the Reeves Jewelry Shop. The stores adjoin in the three block long business district.

Dodson said he was in his office in City Hall a block away when the blast came. It rocked City Hall.

Debris was tossed all over the town by the tremendous force of the explosion.

State troopers from barracks in North Georgia were ordered to Villa Rica to help with the rescue work.

U. S. Reports Flu Declines

Washington (AP)—The government reported today a decline in the number of new cases of Asian flu and other upper respiratory diseases for the week which ended Nov. 9.

The total for that week was 2,241,000 compared with 9,808,000 for the week ending Nov. 2 and 11,033,000 for the week ending October 26.

The U. S. national health survey pointed out, however, that estimated figures for the average number of persons in bed each day because of upper respiratory diseases remained at approximately the same level for the week of Nov. 2-9 as for the previous four weeks.

The Soviet radio gave this additional information on the Lenin: The vessel has sleeping accommodation for 1,000. Its top speed will be 19 knots, its draft 30 feet, length 433½ feet and maximum

5 Asphyxiated In Apartment

STAMFORD, Conn. (INS)—Five persons died of asphyxiation and a sixth was found unconscious in a five-room Stamford apartment today.

The bodies were discovered this morning by Frank Johnson, who stopped by to get a ride to work. He knocked on the door, and when there was no answer he peered under a curtain and saw two bodies on the kitchen floor. He called police who broke into the tightly sealed apartment where two gas heaters had exhausted the oxygen supply.

Fire Chief Thomas Richardson said there was a gas heater on in the kitchen and food cooking in a pot.

Gaillard Wins Test; Cabinet Future Shaky

PARIS (AP)—Premier Felix Gaillard today won a fifth confidence vote from Parliament on his demand for a special economic powers bill but there was danger his Socialist ministers might bring down the Cabinet by resigning later in the day.

First unofficial figures gave the count as 222-185 on the second reading of the economic powers bill first approved by the Assembly Nov. 19. The Communists and extreme-right Poujadists cast most of the votes against the government.

There were moments of panic when the ballot opened because few government supporters were present in the Assembly and the Communists and Poujadists were on hand in force.

Francis telephone calls brought members of the majority hastening through the fog from all over Paris during the next hour.

Meanwhile, Socialist opposition to much of the Gaillard financial program was so strong that their ministers in the coalition were threatening to resign.

Gaillard told friends he would certainly quit if the Socialists carry out their threat.

Sub In Atlantic Can Sail Under Pole To Pacific

NEW YORK (AP)—Rear Adm. H. G. Rickover said today nuclear submarines could cruise under the ice of the North Pole to get quickly between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Rickover is head of the Navy's scientific team which developed the atomic submarine and is now working on nuclear-powered surface ships.

In a talk prepared for the overseas Press Club, Rickover said that the recent feat of the submarine Nautilus in traveling 1,383 miles under the arctic ice "is not fully appreciated."

"I venture to say that it will go down as one of history's greatest feats of exploration," he said. "Rickover said a power failure in the Nautilus' gyro compass was the only reason why the submarine did not reach the pole itself."

Rickover said it must be assumed that the Soviets will soon have their own nuclear submarine, although "as far as we know" they do not yet have such a vessel.

Second Try Might Come At Anytime

Minor Difficulties Force Postponement Hour Before Attempt

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States called off its proposed test launching of the Gamma baby moon last night, only 50 minutes short of the target hour.

The combination of a series of minor difficulties forced postponement—particularly a leaky disconnecting valve on the launching rocket's liquid oxygen tank—and a bad break on the weather.

In Washington, John P. Hagen, director of the U.S. Project Vanguard program to launch a series of research satellites during the international geophysical year, said it was his guess that the launching process would be resumed later today so it might be completed tonight or in the early hours of Friday.

No Renewal Today

But J. Paul Walsh, deputy director, told a news conference at Patrick Air Force Base officers club that there would be no renewal of the launching attempt today.

Walsh said the launching crew could get the 72-foot rocket ready immediately if it had to, but it would be up to the Defense Department to set the date for a new attempt.

He added that supervisors of the missile test range, 5,000 miles into the South Atlantic from the test center here, had been asked to give the satellite project the best time available for another effort.

Cape Canaveral is teeming with test missiles—Army Jupiters, Air Force Thor and Snarks, assorted Navy weapons—awaiting firing schedules. Filling them in has become a Herculean task for this overworked, overcrowded center.

'1957 Gamma'

At Cambridge, Mass., the Smithsonian Astrophysical Laboratory announced that the 6.4 inch, 3½-pound test sphere, once it has entered an orbit, will be known officially as "1957 Gamma" for the third letter of the Greek alphabet.

The name would signify that this was the third man-made moon of the year. If the Soviets launch a third Sputnik before Gamma gets going, the U.S. moon presumably would take the name of Delta, or No. 4.

In missing its date to become a moon, Gamma provided this part of Florida with unusual drama and excitement.

It had been indicated at first that at 9 a.m. Tuesday the launching crews would start an 11-hour countdown or checkout period during which every detail of the complicated rocket vehicle would be made ready for functioning. At the end of the countdown, the first of the three rocket stages would be touched off and the device would start its 300-mile climb to orbital altitude.

Baptist Pastor Heads Churches

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A Midwestern Baptist pastor who likes to climb mountains, the Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg of St. Louis, today was elected president of the National Council of Churches.

He is the first Baptist ever to head the big cooperative Christian organization, which includes 30 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with about 37½ million members across the nation.

Godfrey Buys Steer

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Sue Scordino's grand champion steer, Honeycomb, was sold today for $30 a pound—a record for the International Livestock Exposition.

The steer was purchased by Arthur Godfrey and the auctioning was televised on his CBS program.

Johnson States U. S. Must Catch Up, Go In High Gear

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) said last night the nation has some catching up to do and "we must go into high gear at once to produce the weapons that will insure survival."

But, he said, most of us will live to see space ships. "Rockets to the moon are just over the horizon. Space ships are only a few years away and most of us will live to see them."

"The scientists are already talking—in serious terms—about the day when we will escape the solar system and explore the universe," Johnson said.

He said, "Recent scientific achievements by the Soviet Union have resulted in grave problems for the United States, that the nation has been completely outstripped in a field where we thought we were supreme."

To prepare for the space age, "First, we must step up the development of the weapons which will assure our survival. "Second, we must revise our methods of teaching and our curricula so that science and technology are no longer ignored. "Third, we must mobilize our population to face the challenge—tapping the now unused reservoirs of talent and ability among people who are retired."

OUR COUNTRY
 The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union to-ever.—Morris.

A Crying Need

THE AMERICAN presidency has undergone a marked change in character. Reporters close to the White House are telling us that as result of the slight stroke which befell President Eisenhower we now have a duality in the executive power without precedent in history. Vice President Nixon, while not assuming in actuality the duties of the presidency, has become in effect an alternative president. If President Eisenhower is unable to attend the NATO conference he will head the United States delegation with presidential powers to commit our country.

BECAUSE OF limitations imposed by his previous illnesses, Mr. Eisenhower has been compelled to function at a percentage of his capacity. Some reports have placed this at 50 per cent. The American people clearly understood that this was the prospect when they returned him to office last year because he told them this was the case. It is inevitable that if Mr. Eisenhower continues to hold the presidency—and his press secretary has indicated he has at present no other thought—he must take more vacations, play more golf, spend less time wrestling with the frustrations of our military, scientific, economic and political problems.

WE BELIEVE that Mr. Eisenhower should retain his office as long as his doctors hold that this is feasible. He is a symbol—perhaps more than any other man in our time save Winston Churchill—of the optimistic hopes and capabilities of the free world. It is unfortunate that the Constitution of the United States contains no provision for an acting president in case the chief executive becomes incapacitated for any cause. It is likewise unfortunate that Vice President Nixon does not enjoy the confidence of a large portion of the people, not even of many who are of his own political party. He is too generally considered as an ambitious politician of the opportunist type. The fact that Mr. Eisenhower is not as robust as a President should be to function fully creates a crisis the import of which may not be as widely recognized as it should be and brings to the fore the question of a Constitutional amendment aimed to meet such emergencies.

The Railroads' Plight

IN DRIBS AND drabs, and occasionally with a big splash, reports continue to float in of the declining fortunes of America's railroads. Not long ago the New York Central and Pennsylvania, the country's two biggest, announced a proposal for a merger to strengthen themselves against the darkening financial prospect they foresee. Later on the Baltimore and Ohio asked authority to suspend all passenger runs on its line between Washington and New York. The New Haven has appealed to two states for an out-right subsidy for its commuter services. Dismal financial reports come in from many other lines. The time cannot now be too far off when the government will have to decide what value it places on our far-flung rail system, and how it proposes to maintain it in a time of mounting adversity for so many companies.

Tax Returns

THE U. S. INTERNAL Revenue Service made a wise decision when it put off to 1958 the effective operation of new rules governing personal expense account reporting on income tax returns. The rules would compel individuals to show in greater detail than ever before the expenses they have incurred which they regard as deductible items in calculating their tax. It was obviously both foolish and unfair to announce such rules in November to apply on income tax calculations for the calendar year 1957. Most individuals are unlikely to have kept such personal records as would permit reasonable compliance with the Internal Revenue order. The year 1958 is another matter. Taxpayers are now on notice that they must keep close track of all deductible expenditures henceforth. For in its perfectly proper desire to curb abuses in this field, the agency intends to examine those accounts hereafter with a jeweler's glass.

Hoosier Political Deal May Be Brewing

WASHINGTON.—A sign of the changing times is seen in the decision of Senator William E. Jenner of Indiana, avowed right-wing Republican leader who made a career of investigating communism and Communists, to retire from the Senate at the end of his present term. In January, 1959, if not earlier.

Alone, Bill Jenner is left of the Republican trio which shared the trademark with the late Senator Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin and Senator Herman Welker of Idaho. At the Welker funeral the Indiana Senator observed that the two others had gone and it also was time for him to leave the Senate.

The particular brand of avenging investigating scourge concentrated on the target of communism, of which we saw so much in the frenzied McCarthy heyday, has passed and balance has been restored to our national life.

In this swing of the pendulum a number of influences, including the Supreme Court, revived emphasis on the protection of basic human and civil rights that had been infringed upon at the peak of the McCarthy craze.

JENNER was always overshadowed by McCarthy. He had arrived on the scene after McCarthy had pre-empted the stage. He had a separate role of his own, though making a good deal of it, with the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, a wing of the Judiciary Committee, of which he was chairman when Republicans controlled Congress during the first two years of the Eisenhower Administration.

The Indiana Republican continued an active participant thereafter, though when Democrats regained control of Congress in 1954, the Internal Security Subcommittee chairmanship went to Senator James O. Eastland, who also became chairman of the Judiciary Committee. Eastland is active at the present time.

But the consuming fire of the McCarthy-Jenner-Eastland-Welker inquisition has died down in a calmer atmosphere.

ALMOST AS much as for his investigating activities, Senator Jenner is singled out for an extreme sort of isolationism in international affairs that has not even been affected by the Russian Sputniks. Vigorously, he expressed his attitude in the Senate and outside.

This viewpoint has passed out with most of his fellow Republican Senators so that in this, too, he is out of step with the times and especially with the Eisenhower wing of the party.

Those who saw an episode in the 1952 Eisenhower campaign in Indianapolis will not soon forget the bitter diatribe delivered by Jenner, then up for re-election, against President Truman and the Korean War. It was at a luncheon in the presence of General Eisenhower, who obviously was embarrassed but made no reference to it in his own speech.

LIKEWISE embarrassing to the Republican Presidential candidate at the conclusion of his speech at a big night rally was Senator Jenner's brash gesture.

He seized General Eisenhower's arm and held it high before the crowd to identify himself and his candidacy for re-election with the Presidential candidate and commander-in-chief of our European armies.

At the time it was commonly said that, had the Senator not hung onto the Eisenhower coat-tails, Bill Jenner would have been defeated that year.

Whether Jenner will absorb himself in private law when he leaves the Senate, as he announced, or whether he may divide his time in public affairs with some right-wing organization, such as "For America," we will see in time. He has even been suggested as a possible Presidential candidate for a right-wing third party.

HIS FRIENDS knew Jenner never really cared for Washington but preferred life in Indiana. Nevertheless, he was regarded as the strongest possible Republican candidate for the Senate in next year's elections.

His withdrawal buoyed Democratic hopes for a Senate seat in Indiana which, should it occur, would seem to confirm the momentum of the rising Democratic tide all over the country. Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, an Indianan, is among others mentioned as a candidate for the Democratic Senatorial nomination.

Rumored is a typical Indiana deal under which Jenner would retire soon from his Senate seat, even as early as January. Governor Harold L. Handley then would resign, whereupon Lieutenant Governor Crawford L. Parker would become Governor and appoint Handley to the Jenner's Senate seat. Like Tinker to Evers to Chance. It is all legal.

America Often Delays Vital Action

WASHINGTON.—(NEA)—Farsighted General James H. Doolittle warned the United States three years ago that the Russians might be ahead of the United States in ballistic missile development. Nobody paid any attention.

In his latest testimony before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, General Doolittle drove home another good point. He called attention to the American characteristic of waiting until the country is clobbered before waking up and taking the necessary action to meet a crisis.

That is what happened at Pearl Harbor. It happened again when the Reds struck Korea in 1950. It is happening once more as a result of Russian satellite and missile development.

This delay in action and reaction is just as true in political crises as in situations of national defense.

AS A MATTER of hindsight it is now generally agreed among political observers that the United States ran a grave risk when it re-elected President Roosevelt in 1944.

He had already had 12 grueling years in the White House. They covered not only a world depression but a world war. He was obviously a sick man.

President Roosevelt was 62 when he was elected for his fourth term. If he had lived out this term, he would have been 66, just turning 67.

Other world leaders—notably Winston Churchill and Dr. Konrad Adenauer, have served and lived longer. But any nation takes a big chance when it asks its leaders to serve beyond age 65.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower was 66 when he was elected for his second term. In his 63th year he had a heart attack. In his 66th year he was forced to undergo intestinal surgery for ileitis.

In his 67th year he has now sustained a third major illness.

Whether it is called a stroke or just an occlusion, it will handicap him in carrying on the full duties of the presidency for several weeks.

This happens at a crucial time in Washington and in the world. December is the month of big decisions.

No matter how complete the President's recovery from his latest attack, most medical men will agree that no one who has undergone three such serious illnesses at ages 65 to 67 can possibly operate at maximum efficiency in the world's most demanding job for another three years.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower himself foresaw the risks. Last March he called Republican and Democratic congressional leaders to the White House. He asked them to approve a new constitutional amendment.

It was to authorize the vice president to assume the duties of the president temporarily—with the approval of the Cabinet—if the president should give notice in writing that he himself could not carry on his duties.

Congress stalled. House Speaker Sam Rayburn took the position that the country had rocked along for 168 years without such an amendment, and nothing very bad had happened.

Rep. Emanuel Celler opposed giving the Cabinet of non-elected officials power to say who would act as president.

As chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, Representative Celler held brief hearings on the proposal, then dropped it.

Again it was a manifestation of the American characteristic to delay action till a crisis develops.

So They Say

We cannot expect educators to keep subsidizing our students at the cost of low living standards for themselves.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK.—There is a threadbare old legend around that if you sit in front of a certain Paris restaurant long enough, everyone you know will walk by. I doubt it. But I do know that if you stroll the streets of New York long enough and often enough, you will see a slim, bustling, charging man of no great height but with a phenomenal brain.

He will be looking straight ahead and is about the only man I ever knew who walks that way. If someone is in his way, he just walks through—not rudely, but definitely. His name, by now, ought to have cropped up in the news stories concerning guided missiles the controls thereof, and related matters but it hasn't. I wonder where Bill Lear is?

BILL IS THE only authentic, proved, utter and practicing genius on my list and I look upon him with a combination of awe and detachment, as though a combination can be arrived at. He is the kind of man who is in Berlin today, New York tomorrow, London the day after and maybe Los Angeles a day and a half after that.

His factories, engaged in all manner of electronically mysterious and miraculous processes, are devoted mainly to matters not to be discussed. This makes conversation with him not at all haltered or thin. He doesn't say what Lear plants are working on and you don't ask him, but his flow of words on all other subjects is vast and wolly.

IT IS KNOWN by me that he has some connection with the rocket and missile program and I certainly would not undertake to discover or say what. It is best never to know these things and thus avoid the burden of carrying around classified information.

I also know that he caused all manner of explosions a few years back when, on a whim and without proper clearances, he flew from Berlin to Moscow just because our top Air Force officers were there on a mission. He hadn't seen them in a few weeks and he wanted to say "hello" and shake their hands and maybe have lunch.

His sudden appearance, by private plane, over the Moscow airport almost shattered the Russians out of their fur coats. There was a mild reprimand and Bill begged pardon all-round and that settled it.

HE IS THE kind of man who can invent a small, boxed gadget which enables fog and storm-bound air pilots to bring a giant airliner in safely right to the dead center of an airport runway, and the number of lives that little idea has saved is beyond calculation. He is also the kind of man who, come 8 p. m., can put down his brains and tools, tidy up his desk, wash his hands and jaunt off to a musical comedy and have a whale of a good time.

He can play pranks on air regulations, fix up his private plane so it will do everything, automatically but fly in a small window and land on the dining-room table without ruffling the butter or guttering the candles. He has a gigantic set of brains, but his humor quotient is high and unpredictable.

THE ONE THING Bill Lear did not believe, as of three years ago, was that mankind of this planet ever would get off into space and go visiting the other planets, although Willy Ley and Dr. Teller will testify that Man certainly will. I say "did," not, past tense. Today, he may have changed his opinion.

He did not think so because he did not think Man could be adjusted to survive interplanetary space travel. He did not doubt that flying vehicles could be invented and perfected. He knew that fuels would come and the instruments, too. It was Man, frail, subject to a million perils, with a body too long earthbound and sensitized, that would not be able to live "Out There."

He knew enough about cosmic ray showers, violently changing extremes of heat sectors and cold sectors, the low, low, low temperatures of space (amounting to Absolute Zero) and a few other things and he just didn't believe that a tender mortal little bug called Man could take it and live. He saw no way wholly and thoroughly to shield Man from all the dangers.

WHICH COMES back to today and investigations into our possible fates and the improvement of missiles. Lear had noble and sensational ideas, all apparently sound and brilliant. It may be that what he is doing is so secret, he can't be called into public session.

But I'd give a bright red button to know what Bill Lear is up to and how it's coming along. The Russians can and may have a super-weapon called ICBM. I'll take the brains of Bill Lear and feel safer.

Snuff, Sand And Luxury

WASHINGTON.—Fresh snuff is on order, there's genuine black sand from the shores of Araby in the cut-glass bottles on the Senators' desks and we've even got a touch of astrology on Capitol Hill for the opening of Congress one month from today.

The Senatorial snuff comes from a Philadelphia tobaccoist; it goes fresh each session into a pair of Japanese decorated boxes on either side of the Vice President's chair, and somehow it always gets used up by summer. Most Senators insist they never use the sneezy stuff; a few claim they take a pinch when they feel a cold coming on.

THE SAND is what folks used to sprinkle on their signatures before an unknown genius invented blotting paper; Senators still have it on their desks, but they don't use it, either. This, for a while, was fortunate.

Black sand is hard to come by. Almost since the beginning of our government, the Senate got its supply from a particular Arabian beach. Came then World War II and the black sand supply was shut off. The major domo in charge of Senatorial sand eventually filled the bottles with iron filings and then spent several years biting his fingernails, fearful some Senator would discover his hocus-pocus. None ever did.

WHAT PART astrology will play in the deliberations of the gentlemen I do not know, but plainly for all to see in their new building deluxe, decorating the ceiling of one of their principal hearing rooms, are the signs of the zodiac in medallions a foot and a half across.

The gentlemen didn't plan it that way. When they installed a gymnasium in which to keep themselves fit, they offered to include a similar health emporium for lady Senators. There was only one of these, Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith and she said thanks, no. She needed no gymnasium.

THIS building will give Senators suites of five rooms and up. Their old building, a handsome structure largely of white marble, will have some of its walls knocked out so that denizens there also will have at least five rooms each. Neither building will be furnished quite as elaborately as some had hoped.

The gentlemen in charge of the interior decorating took a good look at vibrating couches to soothe Senatorial nerves; some even tried these out in their offices, but their verdict was, nein. A couch that buzzes might be good for a Senatorial spine, but the old-timers decided the voters might take a dim view.

REMODELING for the House of Representatives isn't quite so far along; so far they have little more than a hole in the ground for their third office building. When this is finished, the other two buildings will be rejiggered so that each of these gentlemen will get at least three rooms, instead of two.

These remodeling jobs for the Representatives will be complete; practically the entire insides of both buildings will be replaced at a cost, again, of about $20,000,000. This does not include the price of the nearby Congressional Hotel, which the gentlemen intend to use for temporary office space.

Should be nice when they get it all fixed. Then, unless they change their plans again, they intend to remodel the Capitol itself. Total charges for making statesmen happy at their work now are estimated at nearly $150,000,000.

The Big Task

THERE IS reason to believe that the slight cerebral attack suffered by President Eisenhower was at least in part a result of the tremendous demands made on the president of the United States. The presidency has always been a big job. In our time, it has become a job almost impossible for one man to perform successfully.

The news magazine, U.S. News & World Report, recently carried a rather comprehensive study of how the White House operates. The most striking statement in its article is this, credited to a close associate of the President: "I think that the presidency as it is now set up is an impossible job."

There seems to be a growing belief that this is true. There is growing agreement that one man simply cannot satisfactorily perform all the functions of chief of state, commander in chief of the armed forces, chief executive responsible for proposing solutions for a host of varied problems in foreign and domestic affairs.

What can be done to ease the burden on the president so that he can devote his energies more fully to his decisive role as head of the government? Even more important, what can be done to assure the nation that the performance of executive duty will measure up to the needs of our time?

None of the foregoing is in any sense adverse criticism of the man who now occupies the White House. Mr. Eisenhower has worked out a staff system which is striving mightily to keep on top of a complex mountain of events and obligations. The difficulties of the task are now apparent enough, however, to justify the most serious consideration by the general public.

Reporter's Notebook

For Hal Boyle

WASHINGTON.—Personal to Queen Elizabeth II of England and King Mohammed V of Morocco:

Your Majesties have shown an interest, during your visits to these shores, in the American supermarket. Well you might.

The supermarket, in its awesome majesty, is a growing symbol of American abundance. It is growing so fast, in fact, that if many more of them are built there won't be any place for the customers to live. There is no truth, however, to the story that one suburban couple woke up one morning to find a new supermarket built all around them.

WHAT YOUR Majesties may have missed, though, in your marveling at the heaps of goodies, detergents, stockings, mops and phonograph records, is perhaps the most remarkable thing of all: the supermarket customer.

He—and especially she—comes in many varieties, but the following categories pretty well cover the field:

Big Bertha: She's the same gal who drives in front of you on the highway—right down the middle of the road. She drives her shopping cart as if it were a Sherman tank.

Dottie Dither: She's in a frantic hurry to get out with a tube of toothpaste which she won't need until next week. So she sneaks ahead of you in the checkout line and then discovers she needs cigarettes, clothespins, anchovies and an assortment of items so off-beat that the manager has to go downstairs and open the safe to find them.

Helpless Harry: He's feeling put upon because his wife stuck him with the shopping detail. You can always spot him by the list he carries. It has such jottings as "B.S. R's," which he is supposed to interpret as "brown-n-serve rolls," and "4 D. F.'s," by which his wife means he is to get four cans of dog food if, but only if, there is a sale on it.

George, the Gourmet: He may have a list, too, but he pays small attention to it. He's gaily loading up with hummingbird tongues, fried worms and all manner of other delicacies which he doesn't know how to prepare and wouldn't eat.

PENILESS PETE, or Mrs. Pete: They heap their shopping buggies with grub enough to hold a clam bake and then discover they haven't a cent in their pockets. So the manager, who never saw them before, is supposed to cash a crumpled check, signed with a name that looks like "Nikita S. Khrushchev," and if he says no they take their business elsewhere.

Fertile Flossie: She makes shopping a family affair, meaning that the six older children run wild while baby sits in the shopping cart happily knocking bottles off shelves. The older children clamor for soft drinks, beat each other on the head and steal candy out of your shopping cart.

This doesn't exhaust the list of customers but just thinking about it exhausts your correspondent. Happy supermarketing, Your Majesties!

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON.—When Neil H. McElroy desisted from making soap, and came clean to Washington to replace Charles E. Wilson as Secretary of Defense, he brought his right-hand man, Oliver Gale, with him. Gale became McElroy's closest assistant here.

The other evening, while the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee had McElroy in the witness chair, grilling him as to who was really our missile and rockets czar, his assistant escaped long enough to pay a flying visit to a reception in honor of Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, Commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps.

Gale wore the anxious look of a man who expected to be snatched away at any second and put to the question. His eyes had the revolving appearance of a man trying to look every way at once, to see from which direction his next problem for coming. He shook hands warily with the host, a prominent Washington business man, but apparently decided the party-giver was not a space czar, either present or potential, and moved on to the guest of honor. Merely to make conversation, General Pate asked the assistant to the czar of czars how he liked Washington.

Gale startled the well-bred receiving line with the violence of his reaction. He gave a hollow laugh and replied with deep feeling:

"It was easier making soap in Cincinnati."

A FEW MINUTES before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee was due to resume operations the other afternoon, Senator Ralph E. Flanders, of Vermont, one of the missile program probers, came scowling out of a private Senate dining room. His face was twisted like that of a man who had just been confronted with stark disaster.

A foreboding colleague asked him: "Is the investigation disclosing the situation to be as black as all that?"

"My expression has nothing to do with the disclosures at the hearing," replied the 77-year-old Senator Flanders. "As you may know, one of my hobbies is to coax fellow Senators, preferably innocent newcomers, into joining me in a pinch of snuff from the Senate snuff boxes. Well—one of my recent victims just slipped me the garlic salt."

THUS FAR, none of our more notable denizens has shown any propensity toward fulfilling the prediction of an English style expert that American men soon will be taking to kilts. Even missile men who have been caught with their pants down, still hold onto them.

The London stylist, John Taylor, declared that "the kilt is much too nice garment to waste on Scots." He prophesied that "Americans with a dream of Scottish blood and a decent pair of legs will be taking to the kilt as evening dress."

I know a number of outstanding personalities here who have more than a dram of Scotch in them, but I cannot be as certain they have decent legs. About the only time we see their legs is when they are running away from an issue.

Stylish Taylor based his prediction on the premise that American men are now accustomed to showing the knee. He added: "They broke the ice by wearing bermuda shorts." There may possibly be eccentrics in our midst who go in for this, but in my standpatter set, we still cling to other devices for ice-breaking.

Soviet Officials Give Talks At Local Meets

Two officials of the Soviet Embassy in Washington yesterday attended meetings of the Cumberland Lions Club and the Junior Association of Commerce.

Vladimir S. Lavrov, counsel of the Embassy, spoke at the meetings on business, labor, domestic politics, education and religion. He was accompanied by Vladimir F. Morozov, third secretary of the Embassy.

At the Jaycee meeting, William Alabaugh, a Fort Hill High School senior who won the recent Voice of Democracy speech contest sponsored by the Jaycees, gave his five-minute talk in which he stressed why "I Speak For Democracy."

Six of the eight participants in the speech contest attended last night's Jaycee meeting, although all said they had received a number of telephone calls, most of them anonymous, urging them not to attend the meeting where the Russian diplomat was the principal speaker.

Young Alabaugh said he was proud to be an American, "where we are permitted to worship in a way permitted only in a free land."

In the course of his remarks concerning youth in the Soviet Union, Lavrov said that his country also permits freedom of speech, freedom of assembly and freedom of religion.

The Russian, making his third speaking engagement before a Cumberland audience, said his country has a 10-grade school system which has eliminated illiteracy in 40 years since the 1917 Revolution. Under the Czar only 25 per cent could read, he said.

Mr. Lavrov said the 10-grade school system has an obligatory curriculum which all boys and girls must take. The courses have been selected by the authorities as those to give the students all their necessary basic knowledge.

All students then have a right to continue their free education in technical institutes or universities but only those with the best grades on entrance examinations are allowed to enroll. During the four or five years they attend these institutes, the students receive stipends from the government to provide for their needs.

Those majoring in electrical engineering, for instance, must participate in a mass practice program at a factory where they get practical knowledge on its operation. There is no time for theoretical knowledge in these institutes. This program is successful in eliminating unemployment, he said.

Members of the Lions Club were told that the people of the USSR live 14 times as well as they did 40 years ago.

Some details of the life of the 200,000,000 people who live in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics were related yesterday by Lavrov.

The working day, he said, could depend upon the community, but is eight hours in many cases and six hours in the mining and steel industries, and two hours shorter on Saturdays and national holidays.

All who work in the plant, including the manager, may belong to the trade union organization which has the function of improving the unit's productivity.

If the plant's productivity increases, the benefits go to the people of the USSR and not to the owners as profits, he said.

The right to rest is guaranteed in the USSR, he said, when the working day ends.

Each plant, he added, has amateur groups established according to desire of the workers, and instructors are provided to develop talents of members.

Some of the meetings might be social gatherings or trips to cinema or stage attractions available in almost all towns.

The people, he said, feel they are working for themselves and show great enthusiasm, "and in the 40 years since the 1917 Revolution have 'changed the face of the nation.'"

He said its people know their lives have many shortcomings and would like to live better, but if they do not have as many cars and TV sets as they wish, "are sure they will have them tomorrow or the day after tomorrow or next year."

Asked by the club's vice president, Henry K. Duke, if the counsel of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow addresses clubs as he was doing, Lavrov said he did not know.

Talk Planned On Skid Row

Rev. Bruce Baker, pastor of Riverside Brethren Church, Johnstown, Pa., will speak at the Tri-State Youth for Christ rally Saturday at 7:45 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Rev. Mr. Baker plans to relate experiences he had while ministering on Chicago's Skid Row.

Youths from Meyersdale and Hyndman will continue the series of Bible quizzes.

In last week's contest between Hyndman and Allegany, an error was discovered in the awarding of the bonus points to Hyndman's team, which results in the score being tied. A five-question quiz will also be conducted to break the tie.

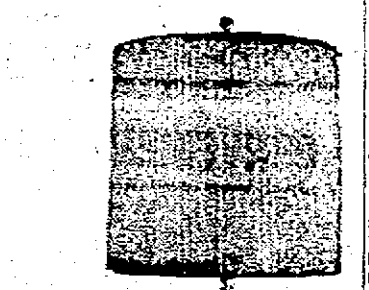

The two top scorers in the playoff December 21 will be sent to the YFC Holiday Youth-orama near Coudersport, Pa. Dave Trumbull, Allegany, and Shirley Evans, Hyndman, are the top scorers.

Trade unions, he said, provide benefits from dues of one per cent of their income. Profits from factories, he explained, are used for schools, hospitals and homes, by the decision of all of the people, since it would be wrong for members of the plant to decide. Asked how Russia can speak peace as long as seven million people govern 200 million, he said the Communist Party represents the best part of the population and that "our people trust our party."

Officers Attend Training Meet Of Homemakers

Sixty-seven officers attended the training meeting for officers of Homemakers' clubs Tuesday at the Woman's Civic Club House. Miss Evelyn Scott, assistant home demonstration agent from the University of Maryland, was in charge.

Mrs. Douglas Smith and Mrs. Royal Skidmore were installed as president and treasurer of the County Council of Homemakers Clubs at the afternoon session. Mrs. Irene MacDonald, county parliamentarian, officiated.

Routine reports were discussed and distributed by Miss Mary Wise, Allegany County Home demonstration agent. Mrs. Honora Burke announced the Christmas pageant to be presented by the Homemakers Chorus at West Side School, December 15 at 4 p. m.

During the meeting Miss Maude Bean, former home demonstration agent, now living in Nebraska, telephoned to wish everyone a happy holiday season. The group sang "The More We Get Together," dedicating it to Miss Bean.

Reunion Dinner Of LaSalle Class

At its 15th annual reunion dinner, the LaSalle Class of 1942 decided on holding annual reunions with parties for the ladies every five years and re-elected all officers. The dinner was held at Cas Taylor's with wives and friends as guests. Afterwards the group attended the Knights of Columbus Thanksgiving Dance.

Donald Palmer was returned for his fourth term as president; Philip Minke and Robert W. Brown, vice president and corresponding secretary, respectively, were returned for their third term. Francis Mullen, secretary and treasurer, was reelected for his third term.

Of the 45 members of the class, 42 survive. Edward Cavanaugh died shortly before graduation. Richard Brown died shortly after graduation and Hugh McMullen III was killed in action in Southern France in September 1944, while serving with the Army.

Approximately 25 members attended.

Davis WSCS Votes Money For Projects

The W.S.C.S. of the Davis Memorial Methodist Church gave a covered dish supper preceding its meeting. The devotional was conducted by Mrs. Rella Fresh on "Methodism and Its Students."

The table was decorated in the Thanksgiving theme, centered with a painted plant arranged by Mrs. Genevieve Long.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. Carrie Johns. It was reported that 356 gallons of apple butter had been made this summer, with the net profit of $50 to be paid to the conference. $500 was given toward the building debt and $36 for one-half of the budget for the year.

A letter was read from Elizabeth Bandel, missionary in Japan, thanking the group for the gift sent her.

The society plans to send the sum of $20 to a children's home for toys and Christmas gifts.

Several members are planning to attend the District meeting in Berkeley Springs.

Members will fill a jingle jar to be used for a needy cause, instead of exchanging jingle gifts at the December meeting. It will be held at the parsonage with Mrs. Charles Huffman, hostess.

Party, Election Held By B & O Vets, Auxiliary

The Christmas party of the Baltimore and Ohio Veterans and Ladies Auxiliary was marked by the election and installation of officers last night in the B&O YMCA auditorium.

E. S. Leasure was installed as president of the Veterans and Mrs. Carl Wagner, president of the Auxiliary.

Serving with Mr. Leasure are A. L. Smith, vice president; F. W. Hartell, treasurer; George Loar, financial secretary; Mrs. G. H. Barnard, recording secretary; Carl Koerner, chaplain, and J. W. Day, guard.

Other officers with Mrs. Wagner are Mrs. E. S. Leasure, vice president; Mrs. Carl Koerner, treasurer; Mrs. Myers Light, secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Willard, marshal; Mrs. Hazel Seel, pianist; Mrs. F. W. Hartell, chaplain; Mrs. Harry Smith, guard.

A Christmas program and jingle party concluded the evening. Mr. Leasure led the group singing, with Mrs. Thomas Buser at the piano. He also sang, "There's A Song in the Air" with Mrs. Buser accompanist. Mrs. Barnard gave a reading, "Another Night Before Christmas."

Mission Program Given By WSWs

The Women's Society of World Service of the First EUB Church featured a Mission program in conjunction with Bethel and Calvary EUB churches Tuesday at First Church.

"Strength of the Church Through Love" was the topic. Mrs. George Nixon was devotional leader. The group sang Christmas hymns and Mrs. Edgar Shumaker offered prayer.

Rev. Melvin Brant, former Cumberlander, now a Methodist minister in Wilmore, Ky., representing Global Harvesters, showed slides and talked of the Cuban mission field.

During the business session, instead of exchanging jingles, an offering was taken for the Quincy, Pa., Orphanage. Routine reports were given and a social hour followed, with refreshments served by the Bethel society. There were 38 members present.

Church Council Seeks Race Relations Answer

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A widely representative council of American Christians today searched their sacred heritage, seeking to draw from it the guidance to cope with problems of racial relations and "the space age."

Proposed resolutions on these and other contemporary issues were up for action at the Triennial General Assembly of the National Council of Churches.

The Assembly, representing 30 Protestant and orthodox denominations with 37½ million members, also was expected to elect the Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, a Baptist pastor of St. Louis, as Council president, to serve the next three years.

Race relations was the main theme of deliberations yesterday, with the Rev. Dr. Liston Pope, dean of Yale Divinity School, declaring churches are making slow but steady strides toward ending segregation.

He said about 10 per cent of America's congregations now are interracial—five times the percentage of a decade ago. By this figure, about 30,000 of the country's 308,864 churches now include both white and non-white members.

"Slowly, how slowly, the mending of the breach proceeds, but it does proceed," Dr. Pope said. "It will not stop until the seamless robe of the church is whole again."

From the South, came contrasting reports. Francis P. Miller, of Charlottesville, Va., a Presbyterian layman and president of the Virginia Council of Churches, said race relations in his home state and other Deep South states are steadily deteriorating.

He said white extremists are "in power in my state because they are well heeled and well financed" by wealthy northern conservatives, and are working to foment "race emotion . . . prejudice and . . . fear."

A more optimistic note was sounded by the Rev. Blake Smith, pastor of University Baptist Church at Austin, Texas, one of the few Southern Baptist churches in the South with an interracial congregation.

He called the situation in the South very hopeful, saying the "powers that seem to be in control at some points," in demanding segregation, "are not as strong as they appear to be, and are fighting a losing battle."

Satellite To Be Named 1957 Gamma

By DON GUY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 4 (AP)—America's first satellite—if successful—will be named 1957 Gamma by the scientists of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory.

That's the third letter of the Greek alphabet, and the satellite if it stays aloft will be the third man-made moon of the year.

Actually the five-foot, final-stage rocket will probably be sighted first and named Gamma, Smithsonian said. The six-inch sphere, visible only with telescopes or binoculars, will be named Gamma II when sighted.

This is similar to the terminology astronomers apply to comets, which are named with the year and then A, B, C, in order of sighting.

Amateur Moonwatch teams of the Smithsonian have been alerted to be ready to observe America's moons when they start circling the world. The white rocket should be visible to the unaided eye.

Smithsonian is charged with visual and optical tracking under the U.S. satellite program Vanguard. Most of the 100 Moonwatch teams in this country are in the southern half of the United States.

American satellites are to be launched on roughly equatorial orbits and are not expected to travel above 35 degrees north or south latitude.

First tracking of the small sphere would be made by radio.

It is so small it is quite beyond naked eye visibility. Radio tracking by stations of the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington would produce an approximate orbit.

This would enable Smithsonian to work out the approximate positions in the world where the satellite would cross twilight zones. Smithsonian would then alert its Moonwatch teams.

Like the Soviet moons, American satellites would be visible only when they shine by reflected sunlight against the darker sky before sunrise or after sunset.

Scout Leaders To Set Workshop Tonight

The Girl Scout Leaders and Mrs. James K. Kave will conduct the workshop and will demonstrate the making of gifts, ornaments and decorations which will be of interest to Brownie and Intermediate scouts.

Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive, said leaders attending should consult their December bulletin "The Yardstick" for a list of materials they should bring to the workshop.

Housewife, Civic Leader Honored For 4-H Work

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Fred L. Ference and other national meet-Bul, housewife and civic leader from College Park, Md., was among former 4-H members honored here last night for their continued interest in 4-H work.

Mrs. Bull received a gold key as well as having her expenses paid to this 36th annual National 4-H Club Congress.

During her 10 years as a 4-H club girl in Maryland's Harford County, Mrs. Bull won special awards for public speaking, canning and poultry. She was named, in 1922, the outstanding 4-H girl in 34 eastern states.

Mrs. Bull represented Maryland at the President's White House Conference on Education, the President's National Safety Conference and other national meetings. She also has served on Governor's Commissions to "Keep Maryland Beautiful" and Juvenile Delinquency, and on the Women's Highway Safety Commission.

Amazon's Water Goes 100 Miles Into Ocean

FIREMEN FLEE FLAMES—Two firefighters turn and run as storage tank bursts new flames at them during refinery tank farm fire in New Orleans. Eight tanks filled with 100,000 barrels of gasoline and other oil products have exploded into flames that still burn out of control after several hours. An official of the Ingram Oil Company, who owns the tank farm, said damage could reach several million dollars. (AP Photofax)

Engineers Group To Meet Tonight

The Universal Craftsmen-Council of Engineers will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the City Shrine Club.

Plans will be made for expanding membership, now about 65, to 100 by the end of January.

The recently organized Masonic engineering society is open to all craftsmen and engineers affiliated with Masonic lodges here.

Eugene Parks, grand worthy chief, will preside at the session.

Consultant Adlai Ends Stay With Ike As Critic

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration got a bear by the tail in Adlai Stevenson. He and the administration have worked together briefly. It's probably the last time for both.

He came in as a consultant, goes out as a critic. Yet his role as consultant and then as critic may work to the benefit of both himself and the administration.

If Stevenson had refused to help the administration with advice, a any criticism he offered later might be regarded as typical Democratic criticism from a constant critic.

But, put in the position of a man whose ideas the administration wanted and who saw policy making from the inside, he can expect a more attentive audience for what he says.

Yet his very criticism—it seems he doesn't think the administration is asking Congress for enough money in foreign aid and enough secret - sharing cooperation with the allies—may help the administration.

It will if he is persuasive in inducing Congress to give Eisenhower at least as much as he requests. It's usual in the capitol to give a president less than he asks.

People in a position to know Stevenson's thinking said last night he has no quarrel with administration plans as far as they go, but doesn't believe they go far enough.

These informants said Stevenson next year will go before Congress and appeal publicly for a "crash program, bigger and broader and more urgent than he believes the administration is considering now.

The administration invited Stevenson in as a consultant because it was anxious for as much solid Democratic - Republican backing as it could get.

This put Stevenson in a funny spot from the start. As the Democrats' last presidential candidate, he is titular head of the party. But no one in the party has to heed him, least of all the independent - minded Democrats in Congress.

Some of them weren't happy about his participation in administration program - making. It would give some appearance of Democratic responsibility for whatever the administration proposed.

Stevenson made it clear when he took the job that, as a patriotic duty, he would give the advice he thought best and reserve for himself the right to criticize what he didn't agree with.

All this would seem to indicate what seemed pretty clear in the 1956 campaign: that Eisenhower and Stevenson think pretty much the same on basic programs and that their differences are a matter of degree.

Washington County Housing Code Set

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—A new housing code for Washington County was offered today by a committee named earlier this year as the result of a child's death in a shack devoid of facilities.

John Young, chairman of the committee, said the code's main provisions are establishment of minimum standards "to make dwellings fit for human habitation" and to define substandard housing with a procedure for handling occupant complaints.

The committee was appointed last February by Gov. McKeldin acting on a resolution from the General Assembly.

Young said incorporated towns in Washington County will be asked to adopt the recommended code. The General Assembly in February to authorize similar for unincorporated towns, and the mayor's committee on housing to approve it for Hagerstown.

He said the code also includes authority for plumbing inspectors to condemn outmoded installations and building inspectors to approve major structural repairs.

Young reported that the committee in a survey of more than 1,000 dwellings in 11 areas found that occupants complained mostly about poor maintenance and lack of facilities.

Girard Tells Papers Hopes For New Start

Editor's Note—The following story was written by William S. Girard and was distributed to all news agencies by the U. S. Army at his request.

By PVT. WILLIAM S. GIRARD

CAMP DREW, Thursday, Dec. 5 (AP)—Some of the reporters wanted me to write a story for the newspapers. I haven't got much to say because I think it's been said a lot of times already.

Me and my wife hope to go to the United States and start a new life together. We didn't get to live too much together in Japan since we got married. We don't know yet where we will go in the States except that we want to go to Illinois and see my mother and brother so they can meet my wife. Now that the trouble is over, I'm kind of in a hurry to get back but I still like Japan. Since I am going to get out of the Army I'll look for some kind of a job maybe driving a truck or something else. I haven't decided that yet. I'll wait and see what happens first. Where I work will have a lot to do with where we live in the States so I don't know that yet.

All I know is that me and Candy are sorry for what happened in Japan. We will always think of the Sakai family (the family of the woman he was convicted of killing) and pray that they will forgive us. We hope the people will feel better about us. We have lots of friends in Japan and I like the Japanese people. I hope that people in the States will like Candy and let us have some quiet. I know she'll find it different but I think she'll like it there.

I also want to thank the people of Japan who have been so fair to us and the reporters who hung around all the time. They (the reporters) sometimes gave me a hard time but I know they got to make a living and that's their job so I want them to know I'm not mad at any of them.

I told Maj. Levin (this Army legal adviser, Maj. Stanley F. Levin, Hollywood, Calif.) thanks for what he did for me and Jim.

I also thanked Mr. Hayashi (Tetsuro Hayashi, his Japanese lawyer) and the other lawyers who helped me. I think the judge (Judge Yuzo Kawachi of Maebashi District Court) gave me a fair trial.

Also, I want to thank Col. Smith (Col. Rollin H. Smith, Seattle, Wash.), commanding officer of Camp Drew) and other officers in the Army who helped me a lot. I know they had a lot of extra work because of me but none of them ever said anything about it. The same goes for a lot of the men too. I already thanked Sgt. Saylor (Sgt. Gilbert Saylor of Newmarket, Va.) too because him and his wife were very kind to me and Candy and helped us when we were married and a lot of times since.

Now that it's all over, like I said before, me and Candy would both like some quiet. I'll be glad when the flashbulbs stop popping and we can live like other people. I don't think I need any more publicity just now.

Business Briefs...

NEW YORK—(INS)—The Guaranty Trust Co. of New York warned today that appropriation of additional huge funds for missile development might create an inflation that "could defeat the cause of freedom as decisively as enemy missiles." The monthly bank survey asserted that, based on the financial needs thus far indicated, the necessary funds "could very well be raised by cutting out or postponing 'social programs' that are of dubious wisdom in any case."

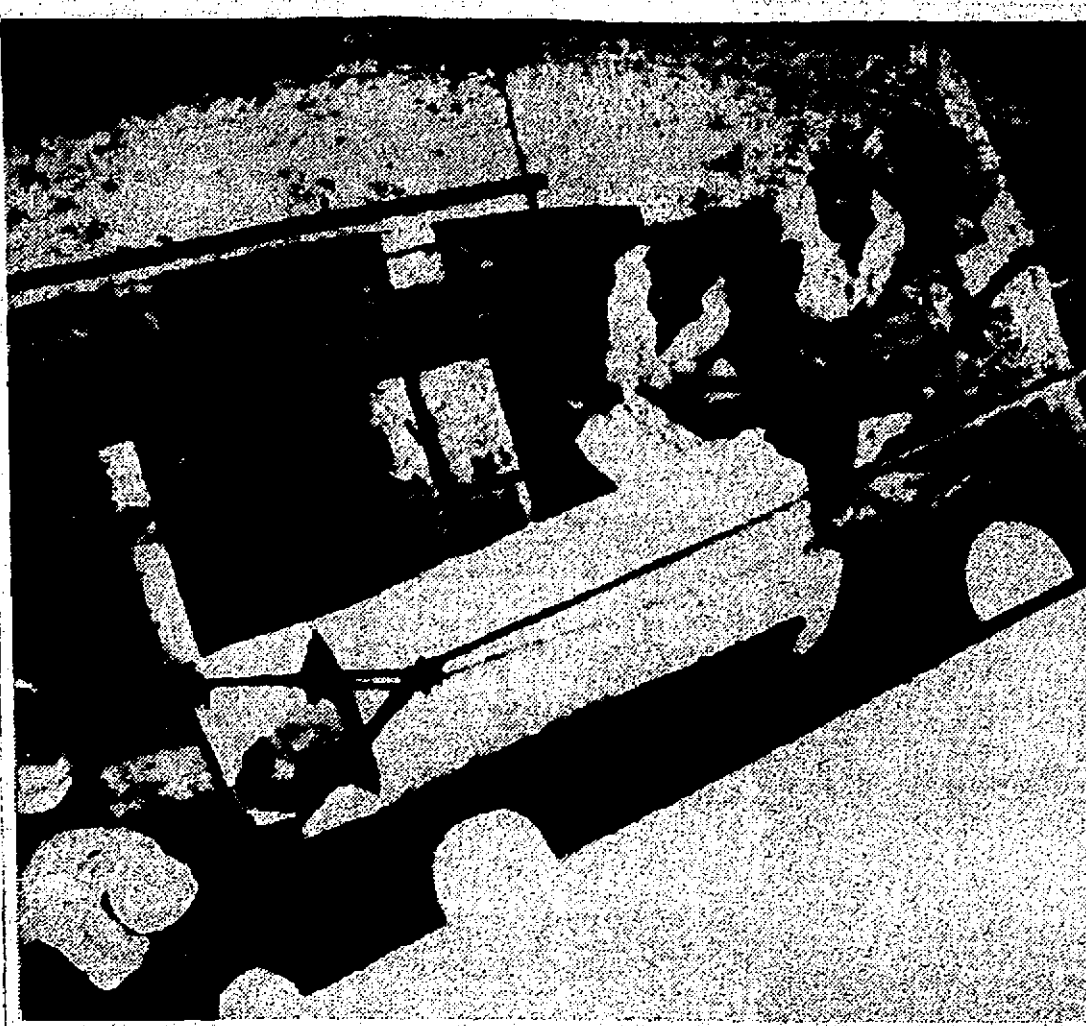

HOLLYWOOD, Fla.—(INS)—William C. (Decker) Jackson, Jr., president of the First Southwestern Co. of Dallas, was elected president of the Investment Bankers Association of America today at the group's annual convention for what he did for me and Jim. Hollywood. Vice presidents selected were William M. Adams of Los Angeles, William D. Kerr of Chicago, W. Carroll Mead of Baltimore and William H. Morton of New York.

JACKSON, Mich.—(INS)—Record sales and earnings were reported today by Aerograph Corp. for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30. Net sales of $42,793,000 were up 42 per cent. Net earnings of $2,538,606, or $2.30 per share, compared with $1,813,285, or $1.65 a share, a year earlier.

Man Takes Long Way About To Get Medicine

DES MOINES (AP)—Don A. Springer, Des Moines businessman, was upstairs in bed with the flu. His wife was entertaining a women's group downstairs. His medicine time came, but he had none.

Not wanting to yell to his wife for it, he reached a nearby telephone and called his office. The office worker then called Mrs. Springer—and her husband got his medicine on time.

MERCY MISSION — Crewmen of Norwegian freighter Tana, and American Export liner Excambion prepare to raise ill seaman Arild Odd Gunnerussen, on stretcher, to liner during transfer at sea, 640 miles east of Ambrose Light. Semi-conscious Arild, 17, was found to be dehydrated and suffering from double pneumonia. Ships rendezvoused when skipper of freighter reported that two other seamen had died, one from malaria and the other from Asiatic flu.

Centre Street PTA Plans Variety Show

The Parent-Teacher Association of Centre Street School has discussed plans for sponsoring a Girl Scout Troop and other projects for the year.

Thomas Wagner, principal, thanked the association for the new window blinds for the fifth and sixth grades; and the visual aid cabinet, which it purchased. He also outlined plans for sowing the lawn and placing a new fence in front of the school building, another PTA project.

The group discussed a variety show as the annual fund raising project. It is to be given shortly after the first of the year. Announcement was made of the American flag the VFW presented to the school. A Christmas treat is planned for the pupils, with Mrs. William Hellicker as chairman.

Miss Olive Hurlburt, executive secretary of the Girl Scouts, spoke on organizing a troop in the school and the association voted to sponsor it.

Routine reports were given and Mrs. Earl Nonnenmann, secretary's report; Mrs. Herman Brown, weekly Parent-Child study course and announced the final session of the six-week course will be December 10. Seven of the mothers presented a playlet entitled, "Who'll Come to PTA?" Mrs. Leonard Winchrenner reported on PTA membership.

In keeping with National Education Week, Miss Mary G. Walsh spoke on good reading for children, stressing the privilege of belonging to a library. The attendance banner was won by the fifth grade. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Catherine Kilroy and Mrs. John Shober. The next meeting will be held January 7.

Large Rocket Appears As Silver Pencil

Strength With Low
Weight One Of Aims
Of Martin Company

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — (AP) — The slim, towering rocket that was built for one purpose—to push America's baby Sputnik into an orbit—is a many-splendored, many-metalled thing.

It's 72 feet tall, yet its three stages add up to 80 feet. That's because the stages overlap and fit into each other, like lengths of stovepipe.

Right there the Baltimore-built Vanguard rocket's resemblance to a stovepipe ends. Seen from a distance, it's more like a white-tipped silver pencil, standing on end.

Starts To Frost

And once it gets its load of liquid oxygen for its huge first stage, the middle third of the rocket starts to frost up. By launching time the liquid oxygen has so cooled the broad midsection that it is brilliantly white with hoarfrost.

The Martin Co. built the rocket structure with an eye to the greatest strength that could be attained at the least weight—and to the ability of certain parts to withstand intense heat.

The nose cone, for example, had to tolerate temperatures of more than 1,500 degrees. Engineers said it might get that hot as the rocket poked its way through the earth's blanket of air on its way to the chilled, frictionless vacuum 200 miles and more up.

For that reason the tip of the nose cone is of titanium, lighter than steel but a good "sponge" for aerodynamic heating that if unchecked could destroy the aluminum satellite within.

Cone Is Plastic

Except for the tip, the nose cone is of asbestos phenolic, a light and strong plastic designed to withstand anticipated temperatures of 800 to 900 degrees.

From the base of the nose cone to the top of the fuel tankage for the second stage the Martin Co. used an alloy, magnesium thorium, able to withstand temperatures of about 600 degrees.

This shell, five feet long and 18 inches in diameter, would be in effect a second satellite, trailing along behind the aluminum ball. Unlike the rest of the rocket, this section was painted white to reflect the sun's rays and make it more easily observable from the earth.

The "tankage" of the 31-foot-long, 32-inch diameter second stage is of stainless steel. Sturdy against heat, corrosion and internal pressures, this part of the Vanguard rocket can tolerate temperatures up to 300 degrees.

Magnesium Alloys

The transition section between the first and second stages and the aft skirt is of magnesium alloys, also chosen for light weight.

MULTIPLE MUFFLERS — The latest version of Boeing-developed sound suppressors are the Buck Rogers-like rocket tubes on the firm's 707, prototype of America's first jet transport. The multi-tube suppressors muffle the noise of the jet engines and change the character of the and for ability to "take" the scalding of 300 degrees.

The tankage for the 44-foot-long, 45-inches-thick first stage, which houses the frigid liquid oxygen, is of aluminum alloy that can stand an oxygen tank temperature of 350 degrees below zero and a fuel tank temperature of 200 above. This alloy is weldable and has good strength for buckling loads.

The rest of the vehicle below the tankage is of light-weight magnesium that need endure only 100 degrees of heat.

The internal frames and thrust structure are of aluminum, chosen for its light weight.

Hibernation Is State
Almost Near Death

Hibernation is almost—but not quite—death. A woodchuck, for example, normally breathes about 30 times a minute. When excited, the rate jumps to 100 times a minute.

But in hibernation one breath in five minutes suffices. Its pulse drops from an average of 80 to four or five beats a minute, the National Geographic Magazine says.

Hyde Attacks State Board's Stand On Parkway

The Maryland Board of Natural Resources has been in effect accused by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde (R-Md.) of distorting facts in opposing a proposed national park along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal in Western Maryland.

"Public servants certainly are entitled to the opinions they develop from facts available to them," Hyde said in a statement, "but they owe a responsibility to the public not to distort facts or broadcast views developed out of ignorance."

The board at a meeting last Nov. 18 said that although the state was able to develop a park along the historic canal and Potomac River, agencies of the federal government were trying to take over the river basin.

State Not Consulted

"Plans for the park were made without consulting the State of Maryland and are going forward against the opposition of Maryland," the board said.

It added that "such a park would make the federal government the sole riparian owner along the north shore of the Potomac from Great Falls to Cumberland."

But Hyde said the proposed national park would make "no change whatsoever in the jurisdiction of the Potomac River."

The federal government already exercises some control of the Potomac as a navigable stream, the Western Maryland Congressman said.

"Permission must be obtained from Congress—not the state Legislature—to build dams in the river. Also, under the statutes the surgeon general of the Public Health Service could, but has never tried to exercise authority to control pollution on the river."

An Eye-Witness Just Back From Soviet Tells

Why Russians Won Satellite Race

Erie Cocks Jr., who wrote the following eye-witness report after his return from a lengthy trip to Russia, is vice president of Delta Airlines. At 36 he has served as national commander of the American Legion, special consultant to the Defense Department, and director of industrial development in Georgia. He has traveled abroad extensively.

By ERLE COCKE JR.

ATLANTA, Ga. — (NEA) — A terrific desire to prove themselves and their system to the world is one reason I believe the Russians won the earth satellite race with Sputnik I and II.

Another reason is that the Soviets have organized even their educational system along "crash" lines.

I was in Moscow, the day Russia shot the first man-made moon into space—and I spent the rest of my visit in the Soviet Union trying to find out how they did it. A top-level plant manager in Russia's industrial complex told me: "We've only been working on this satellite four years, and we've been successful two years ahead of schedule!"

There was a fierce, competitive pride in the fellow's voice. The same note cropped up in all of the conversations I had with individuals at the management level.

Even now, much of the Soviet economy is still operating on a horse-and-buggy basis. But industrial modernization, so far as the Party brass is concerned, is more than a goal. It's an obsession. They're going all-out to do everything bigger, better and faster than anybody else.

I visited Moscow University where approximately 28,000 students are completing the world's most highly specialized academic program. It is selective and thorough. Its sole object is to make sure that the best minds perform maximum service to the State.

The specialization starts in the first grade. Children 7 and 8 years old are put through rigorous IQ tests. The top scorers are earmarked for specific careers: engineering, electronic research, diplomatic service, etc. This group then undergoes 15 to 20 years of intensive, competitive study with accent all the way on the particular profession the State has assigned each.

Unacceptable in U. S.

We wouldn't accept that sort of career control in America. But it's right in line with Communist thinking, and it's producing the elite corps of specialists who produced Sputnik.

The Russian people are still subjected to a wartime economy, which is another explanation for Sputnik's existence in space.

I saw relatively few automobiles. Elevator service in most buildings is up only; you walk down, whether it's one flight or six. This saves power for use in manufacturing parts for Sputnik.

Electricity is conserved the way Americans conserved gasoline during World War II.

Walking through an art museum, I noticed that the lights came on as we entered each room and went off as we left. An elderly woman was stationed near the switch at every door to keep the place dark while there were no visitors around.

I saw plenty of men and women in military uniform on the streets. The guide's claim that they were mostly union groups or other civilians didn't ring true.

A war economy also has given Russia the only commercial jet airliner now in operation.

I rode the TU-104 from Moscow to Prague. Like everything else they put on public view, it's partly for show and partly functional. The plane's interior is cluttered up with heavy brass baggage racks and chandeliers that reduce passenger capacity.

But it is a jet, and they're exploiting it to the last drop of propaganda value. As nearly as I can determine from questioning airline officials, who definitely consider the information top-secret, there are about 38 of these ships in commercial service.

Rogue Exhibits

Russia's propaganda gesture toward providing a comfortable "peace-time" life for its people is show-cased in huge industrial and agricultural exhibits which occupy 500 acres on the edge of Moscow. The grounds are carefully landscaped and filled with permanent buildings of attractive design. On display are the finest "sample" products of USSR science, factories and farms.

While these extravagant exhibits are used for conferences and technical training of regional workers' committees, their main purpose is to persuade the Russian people that it's great to live under communism. The fact that the display products can't be found off the fairgrounds isn't mentioned.

One of the items my guide proudly pointed out was a heavy-duty truck. It appeared to measure up to our current American models. But there was only one I haven't seen another in Russia.

How does the average Russian react to it all? The ones I talked to weren't cheering, but they weren't crying either. Most of them appeared to be indifferent.

Some told me they're better off now than they were under the Czars and during World War II.

Overcoming public inertia is a major problem for the Party bosses. A tourist agency official conceded to me that they're got to work up more enthusiasm

Area Nurses Ask Exchange Students Here

District 1, Maryland State Nurses Association, has extended an invitation to two exchange students to visit Cumberland for a few days.

Miss Herwin Cochoorn, from Holland; and Miss Inger Eloom, Sweden, are exchange students at Johns Hopkins Hospital, and are anxious to visit as many hospitals in the states as possible while here.

Members of the district voted to invite the exchange students here, at the meeting last week. The meeting was held at Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, with Miss Christine J. Williams presiding.

Reporting on the state convention, Miss Williams announced an increase in Maryland State Nurses Association dues. She said this was the first increase in Maryland since 1947.

The ICN Congress in Rome, Italy, was discussed in a report of the convention, given by Miss Barbara Ann Thuss and Miss Rebecca Nell White, students at Memorial Hospital School of Nursing.

Miss Mary Louise Coyle, Sacred Heart student, gave the report on drug addiction and a study in nursing care of patients and problems of reconstruction to meet the demands of modern surgery. Miss Mary Ziler gave the general duty section report. Charles A. James Jr., spoke on nurses' group insurance and introduced Norman F. Geatz Jr., new area agent.

Pays Not To Argue With Trucker

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — In a smashing new victory over the unknown, modern science has at last come to understand why you should never argue with a truck driver.

It turns out that truck driving, like some other activities, imposes relentless vibration on the driver, making him argumentative and tense — regardless of his usual manner when at rest.

According to the U.S. Army Surgeon General's office and the Boston Research Laboratories who together have scientifically vibrated monkeys, truck drivers and people, effects on performance have been noteworthy.

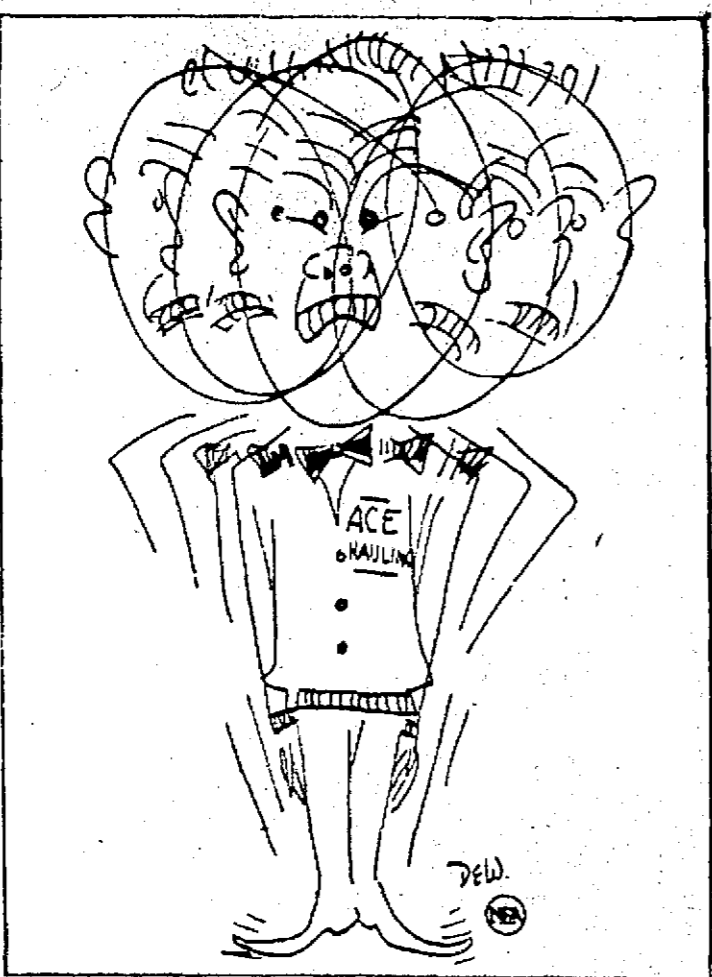

Tests of truck drivers immediately after a session on the vibrating table show: impairment of visual acuity; loss of equilibrium; inability to steer a vehicle accurately.

Physical examination during and after vibration shows: increased metabolism, stepped-up heart-beat and breathing, increased perspiration — a clinical picture of an angry man.

In a real-life truck driving, according to a Boston Laboratory engineer, it is not uncommon to read accident reports in which drivers say they swerved to avoid an hallucination: giant spiders, imaginary cows, etc.

"Vibration," the engineer said, "is a stress on any body. Relentless vibration on the human body can be a terrible stress."

He explained that autopsies of monkeys which had been shaken to death revealed burst hearts and a complete smoothing out of the usually convoluted brain surface.

The stress of vibration, the re-frequency, he will silently research shows, is a matter of frequency as real and perceptible as any sound.

All bodies — bells, glasses, people — have a natural frequency, the engineer explained. If you hit a bell it will send out a tone of its natural frequency. And if you far a person at his normal natural frequency. If he has a bushion of any sort under him, he can vibrate up to four times more violently than the truck.

In any case, his resonance will punish both his body and his emotions.

In reverse, with fewer pulses than his most comfortable one-per-second vibration will cause sea-sickness.

Today, the problem facing engineers from this source is one of building an independent system for drivers and passengers that will let them vibrate at their comfortable frequency regardless of what the vehicle does.

Vibration research has made enough dramatic discoveries to interest the U.S. Department of Health in this hazard that jeopardizes many more people than the nation's 10 million truck drivers.

Laboratory work has come up with other vehicles vibrating at the natural human frequency. For example, most earth-moving construction equipment, farm tractors, helicopters.

One of the most common vibration offenders, according to laboratory reports, is the school bus. Which may explain why you should never argue with school children.

Hole In One

COTTER, Ark. — (INS) — You might call this "fisherman's luck."

Dr. Harry Robinson of Cleveland, O., was fishing on the White River near Cotter late one afternoon when a lunker bass struck his plug, broke the line and got away.

Next morning, Dr. Robinson was fishing at the same spot when he noticed a large fish swimming around the roots of a tree. A piece of the broken line in the fish's mouth had snared him to the roots.

So the doctor netted the fish. As he started to remove a plug from the fish it suddenly dawned on him—it was the same plug he had lost and the same fish. "Turned out to be a four-pounder, too."

Wyoming still has vast copper and silver deposits.

Call To Action

BOSTON — (AP) — Dr. Alma Locke Cooke, a woman doctor who served 30 years as a Congregational Christian missionary in China, was about to retire. Then she heard missionary doctors were needed in West Africa. By mid-November, she had packed her stethoscope and was off for the dark continent — at the age of 70.

Jai Alai Promoters Plan Showdown Fight

By LOUIS G. PANOS
BALTIMORE (AP)—Jai alai gambling promoters, dealt a setback by Legislative Council backing a move to ban the sport in Maryland, prepared today for a showdown fight in the 1958 Legislature.

Indications were they planned to put the gambling issue on all-or-nothing basis by demanding that any ban on jai alai also apply to slot machine gambling.

The council, between sessions screening arm of the Legislature, voted 9-6 yesterday in favor of outlawing jai alai but leaving intact State laws allowing the operation of slot machines with cash payoffs.

Council action came at the final meeting of the advisory group and was preceded by a 1-hour, 45-minute debate threaded with pleas for morality and charges of political opportunism.

Sen. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) sponsored the proposal, which is aimed at overriding the issuance of a jai alai license to Auditoriums, Inc., by his county commissioners.

He and the Rev. Charles F. Kirkley, president of the Anne Arundel County Ministerium, told the council the commissioners acted on the license application without giving the public a chance to be heard.

The Rev. Mr. Kirkley, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church of Annapolis, challenged newspaper advertisements describing the Spanish sport, similar to handball, as one free of scandal and racketeering in its 32-year history in Florida, only state where it is played.

Wilbur R. Dulin, former State senator and now county resident agent for Auditoriums, Inc., told the council the issue was a local one and not a proper subject for a Statewide legislative body. He said his group had duly applied for and been granted a license to operate. Auditoriums, Inc., had paid $100,000 for this license and already had purchased land for construction of the jai alai fronton, or arena, near Fort Meade, just off the Baltimore-Washington Expressway.

Dulin also noted anti-jai alai groups had filed two court suits to block Auditoriums, Inc., and said legislative action while these suits are pending would be premature.

In other actions at its final meeting, the council:

1. Endorsed a batch of recommendations from its Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters, including one to de-emphasize property assessments as a measure of a county's need for State school aid.

2. Backed a proposal to pledge State credit to 15 million dollars worth of Port Authority bonds in order to make them salable.

3. Adopted a committee report saying "congress should assume responsibility for the Potomac River and for the solution" of its problems on pollution, flood control and water supply.

4. Approved a move to require competitive bidding and other safeguards in a law under which the State Roads Commission may acquire property and lease it to private restaurant and filling station interests along expressways.

5. Agreed that authority to obtain court permission to tap telephone wires should be withdrawn from police and left in the hands of only the attorney general, state's attorneys, or their agents.

6. Heard Council President Louis L. Goldstein (D-Calvert) announce he had asked Budget Director James G. Rennie for an immediate estimate of revenues needed to balance the 1958 budget. Goldstein said he was acting as a result of Gov. McKeldin's statement Tuesday that 37 million dollars in new revenues would be needed.

Wall Street Hears...

Father Of Big Family Knifed At Hospital

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 38-year-old man, father of five children living in Lower Marlboro, was found stabbed to death in the snow yesterday.

Spring Grove State Hospital said Charles C. Cole had been a periodic volunteer patient for alcoholism for several years and was discharged Monday after a treatment.

Cole's body was found on the back porch of a two-family house by one of the residents, Donald Carberry.

Police said Cole had been stabbed in the back with either a knife or scissors. They said they are looking for a 50-year-old man to question.

Local Option

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—One voter in Berwick township had his own ideas for his ballot in the fall elections here.

He printed, under his own title of the "live and let live amendment," the question "Shall We Have A Stop Light at Cross Keys?" After that he drew two squares, one marked "yes" and the other "no" and placed an "X" in the "yes" square.

Election officials threw out the ballot because it had been defaced.

The stamp, in black, was designed by Robert Geissman of New York City.

Light Bill On Floor Trips Up Burglar

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)—Sheriff Ford Vance said officers investigating a burglary found on the floor the electric light bill of Matthew Magee, 42, of 614 South 6th Street.

They went to that address and arrested Magee who admitted the burglary but couldn't explain how he happened to leave his light bill on the scene.

State Digging From Under Snowstorm

Stranded Residents Jam Hotels; Flights Halted In Baltimore

By The Associated Press

The worst early-winter snowstorm to hit the Maryland-Delaware area in at least five years had lost most of its punch today.

But it left behind a white memento: One to 12 inches of snow over much of the two states that turned to ice in some places as overnight temperatures dipped.

Maryland's Harford County on the Pennsylvania line had two feet of snow.

Partly cloudy and warmer this afternoon was the forecast for Maryland and Delaware. The snowfall ended late yesterday but wind still drifted it early today and driving conditions remained hazardous.

Worst In Delaware

The 10-inch fall that paralyzed Northern Delaware last night was called the worst in the history of the state.

In both states, schools, offices and industrial plants closed early when the brunt of the storm moved in.

Maryland public schools were closed today in Baltimore City and at least five counties—Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Frederick, Harford and Montgomery. The University of Maryland also held no classes on its College Park campus.

Baltimore's venerable Pimlico race track cancelled its racing programs for yesterday and today. It was the first time anyone around the 87-year-old track could remember that weather had forced a cancellation.

Baltimore hotels bulged with suburban residents stranded downtown overnight. Flights stopped at Friendship International Airport and poor visibility stopped ship movement through the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal.

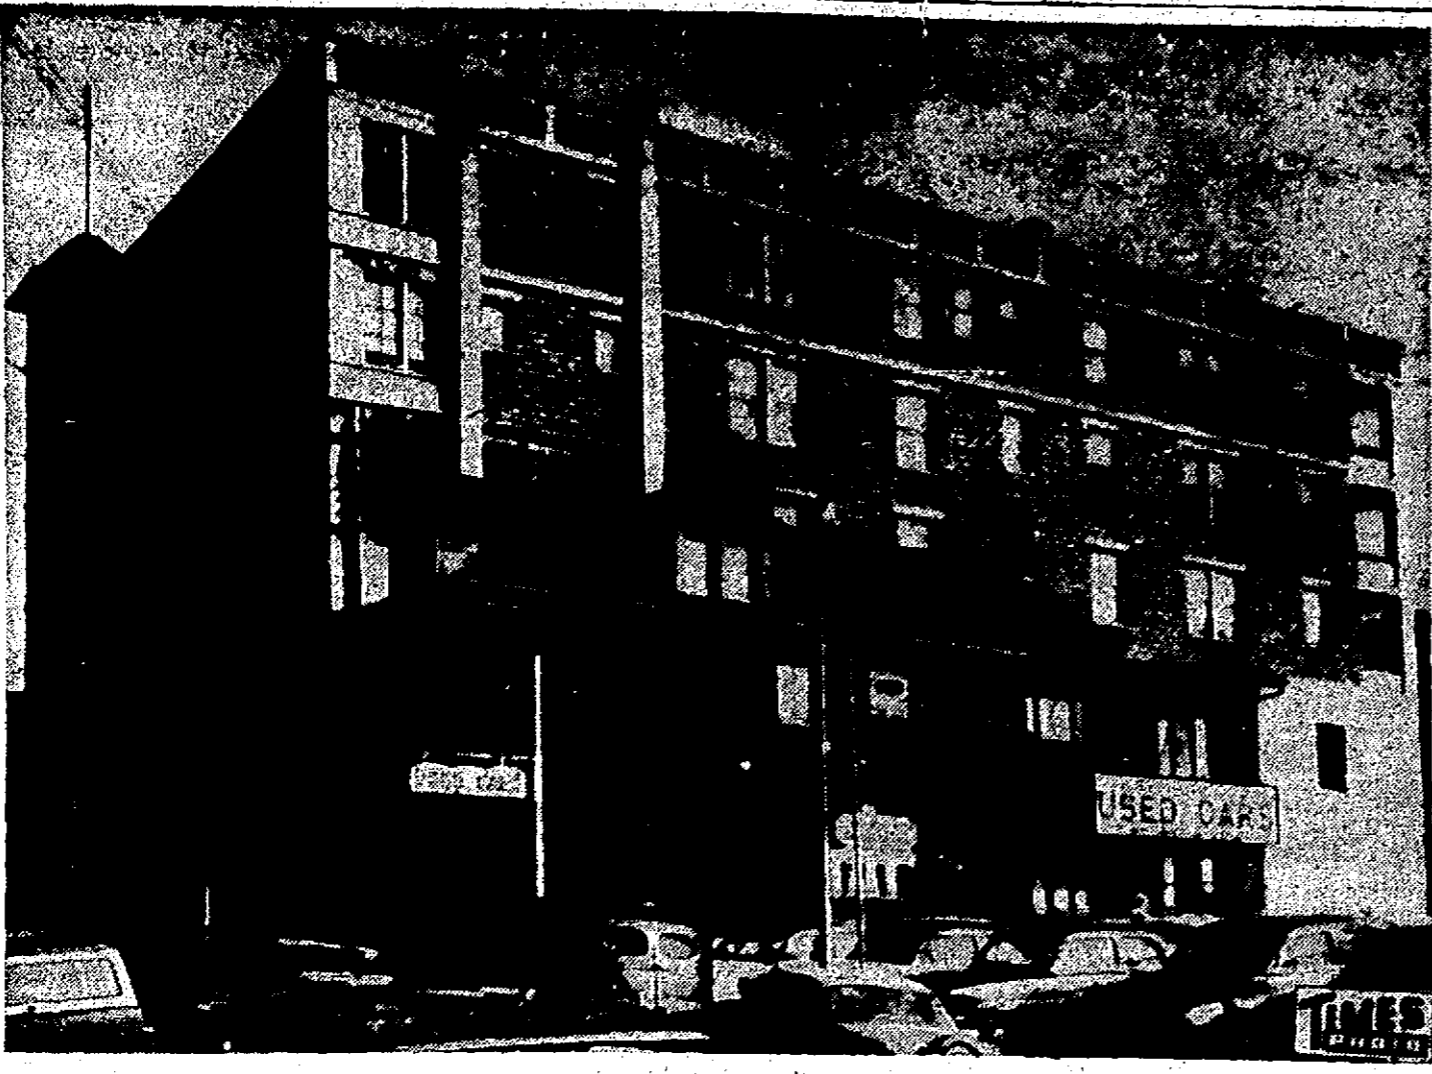

Traffic Bogged Down

Many city residents walked home as cars and transit vehicles slowed to a crawl or bogged down completely in the monumental traffic jam.

At least 600 telephones were out of service and the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. called it one of the greatest overloads in its history.

The Baltimore Loyola-Georgetown University basketball game scheduled for Washington last night was cancelled.

Western Maryland, not the hardest hit section of the state for a change, reported about 10 inches of snow in Allegany County and

Hot Rod Sailors

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (U)—One item on the list of Conservation Department law violations caught a newsman's eye; speeding on the Tygart Reservoir.

Legal chief Arthur C. Bachman said two men were fined $20 and costs each for exceeding the speed limit in their motorboats.

Elkton Man Named To Cecil School Board

ANNAPOLIS (U)—Gov. McKeldin yesterday announced appointment of John Cook Sr. of Elkton to the Cecil County School Board.

He will fill the unexpired term of the late Henry W. Pippin, who was named to a six-year term in May, 1953.

Horse Show Girl Began At Age Six

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—The horse show queen of San Francisco's 1957 Grand National Livestock Exposition, Horse Show and Rodeo met her first horse when she mounted a traveling photographer's pony to record her sixth birthday.

This year Martha Joy Schroeder, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram N. Schroeder of Saratoga, Calif., won a total of 16 firsts at California horse shows.

Blue-eyed Martha, who has seriously studied equitation and caring for horses for the past three years, is equally skillful in a western saddle or riding gaited horses.

She won most of this year's ribbons with "Sally's May Day," a three-gaited chestnut mare she bought at the 1956 Grand National Horse Show.

In her free time the San Jose State College freshman is now breaking and training a pretty chestnut filly with flaxen mane and tail.

Corals, like sea anemones, are animals—a fact that was unknown until the 18th century.

Mason Re-elected Head Of Dairymen

Nine area dairymen received certificates for herd average of 600 pounds of butterfat last night at the annual Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association meeting at the LaVale Fire Hall.

The association also re-elected all its association officers, re-naming John T. Mason, president; Harry E. Miller, secretary-treasurer; Lloyd Nave, Charles W. Brinker and J. C. Shumaker, directors; J. R. Schabinger, extension dairymen; Joseph M. Steger, county agent and J. B. Arnold, assistant county agent.

The nine dairymen to receive the butterfat average certificates were Carl Howsare of Bedford Valley, Pa.; Wilbur R. Paul, Mt. Savage; William A. Moore and Son, Mt. Savage; Lloyd Nave, Bedford Valley, Pa.; John T. Mason, Route 5, Cumberland; Fred C. Siple, Route 2, Keyser; C. O. and Elizabeth Miller, Route 1, Frostburg; A. E. and D. W. Light, Pinto, and Ernest Light also of Pinto.

A feature of the meeting was a skit by the Frostburg Homemakers Club, and a talk on Lincoln's mother by Harry I. Slegmaier, Cumberland attorney.

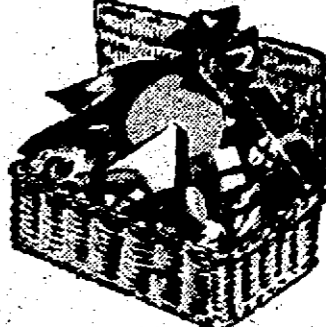

Harry Miller gave his report as secretary and treasurer of the association.

The report noted that the average production of the Potomac Valley Association's dairy herds rose for the seventh straight year with 8,569 pounds of milk, tested for a richness of 4.13 per cent, and an average of 353.6 pounds of butterfat.

This compared to the 1956 average of 8,135 pounds of milk, tested to 4.09 per cent and an average yield of 332.6 pounds of butterfat.

The report also noted two cows among a total of 34 which produced 500 or more pounds of but-

Gas Company Check Plans Progressing

Equipment To Help Determine Specific Areas Of Growth

The program designed to enable Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company to maintain a better check on gas flows in this area is well underway. District Manager C. C. Robbins said today.

All of the 16 measuring and regulating stations have been installed at various points in the system. Robbins said information obtained through the use of new equipment will help determine specific areas of growth in gas deliveries and enable C&A to do a better job of predicting future gas requirements.

Among the largest regulating units installed are located at N. Macolin Street off Braddock Road and at Federal Street in Cumberland. Garden City near Cresap town; Vocke Road and Allendale Road, both in LaVale; B Street, Corriantville, and Gardener Avenue, Ellerslie.

The equipment has been installed by the Dravo Corporation of Pittsburgh which leased a parking lot-site across from the Amcelle Plant of Celanese Corporation on Route 220 for its fabricating area.

Dravo has removed its temporary facilities at the site which included storage shed, welding machines, and other pipe fabrication equipment.

Most of the regulating and measuring stations contain meters to measure the gas, high and low pressure regulators, to control gas flow and gas scrubbers to clean the incoming fuel of impurities.

Robbins said the cost of the project amounted to $77,000.

Dimes March Not To Take CUF Revenue

Although receiving an offer to associate with the County United Fund, the Allegheny County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will not be able to participate.

This was the stand announced by John M. Robb, president of the chapter, upon receiving the invitation to join the United Fund this morning.

"The county chapter is bound by the policy set by the National Foundation which is that no unit may participate in a united fund," Robb said.

The national policy also disallows the acceptance of any contribution from these united funds, he added.

The steering committee of County United Fund, comprised of Lewis J. Orr, Woodward D. Pealer, and William R. Carscaden, offered the chapter $20,000 for this year's participation in the CUF.

However, Robb said the chapter, bound by national policy, will go ahead with the annual March of Dimes drive to raise money for the fight against infantile paralysis and its afflictions.

The Dimes Drive consists of canisters set out in public places and the Mothers March on Polo, where those who wish to contribute on the night of the drive put their front porch lights on, he added.

The CUF has made other offers to various county branches of national health agencies to join in the area movement.

AHEPA Elects Charuhas Head

Christ (Cris) Charuhas has been elected president of Fort Cumberland Chapter 301, AHEPA. The election was held at the lodge's hall on North Mechanic Street. Within a half-hour of the election Charuhas was admitted to Memorial Hospital where he remains a patient.

Other officers elected were Frank Diamond, vice president; George Parsinos, treasurer, and Pete Penderos, secretary.

The officers will be installed at a ceremony during January. Guests at the election meeting were V. I. Chimbichis, ex-supreme president; Ernest DeNatales, ex-supreme councilor and present supreme member of the board of directors, and John Vlahos, ex-district governor, all of Washington.

Fahy Released From Hospital

John Fahy, 9 Hampton Place, has been released from Memorial Hospital.

He was admitted to the institution early yesterday with a stab wound in the lower right side of his chest. City Police are questioning Mrs. Jean Ann Bittner, 128 Frederick Street, in connection with the stabbing.

Frostburg Reports Nearly One Foot; 8-Degree Low Seen

Not much of yesterday's deep snow will thaw out today, or for that matter the rest of this week, the Weather Bureau in Baltimore predicted.

Garrett County is to have a low between eight and 15 degrees. This will probably apply for a good part of western Allegany County.

For Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties, the low is to be between 12 and 22 degrees.

24-Hour Snow
The skies are to be fair tonight but there is to be some cloudiness by tomorrow afternoon.

The section is digging out of the snow that kept on from Tuesday at 4:30 p. m. until yesterday. It stopped here about 24 hours after it started, but Garrett County last night was getting just a little light snow.

The most snow reported in this section was at lofty Deal, Pa., on the top of Savage Mountain just across the state line from Finzel where 14 inches was measured.

The district forester's office here said New Germany, state recreation area, noted for its skiing, has 13 1/2 inches of snow.

Many Roads Covered
Frostburg had about a foot; Cumberland, 9.5 inches; Accident, 9 1/2 inches; Oakland, 9 inches; Town Hill, 5 inches; Elkins, 6 inches, and Thomas, 9 inches.

As for driving conditions on the main state highways, the district office of the State Roads Commission said all roads in Garrett County were covered today with chains necessary on vehicles traveling there.

In Allegany County most of the highways were bare, but slick in spots, and no chains were recommended if caution was used.

East of here Martins Mountain had a thin covering of packed snow, and all other mountains eastward to the Washington County line were from 50 to 90 percent bare, the SRC reported.

All Schools Open

As for the Allegheny County roads system, the County Roads Department reported every truck and auto patrol was at work yesterday, with all roads being worked.

Today, this same equipment was out widening lanes, cinderizing and spreading calcium.

While some buses could not make some steep slopes yesterday morning, all schools were operating normally in this county.

The same held true yesterday and today in Garrett County where no school has been missed for several years because of snowy conditions.

East of here in Maryland, schools were closed by the heavy fall.

Deer Season Kills Slump

There was a marked slump in the number of deer kills this morning, with only 18 reported from the Allegheny and Garrett County checking stations.

Seven of the kills were reported at the Shipway's Inn station, six at Storey's Inn on Deep Creek Lake, three at the LaVale State Police barracks, and one each at Oldtown and Westernport.

Yesterday's heavy snow apparently kept most of the hunters out of the woods, although observers said the weather today was ideal, and the snow would make for easy tracking of deer.

There were only 30 kills reported yesterday, to bring the three-day total to 445 in Allegany County. Game wardens point out that yesterday's total threatened the all-time mark of 591 kills set last year since the season still had three more days to go.

Two of the largest kills reported this morning were made on Wills Mountain, Clark Lemaster of Ellerslie bagging an eight-point, 150-pounder, and Richard Thomas of Cumberland bringing down a nine-point, 139-pounder.

West Virginia Conservation officials said the three-day total of Allegheny County kills was 185 deer, with 19 bagged yesterday.

Child Critical After Accident

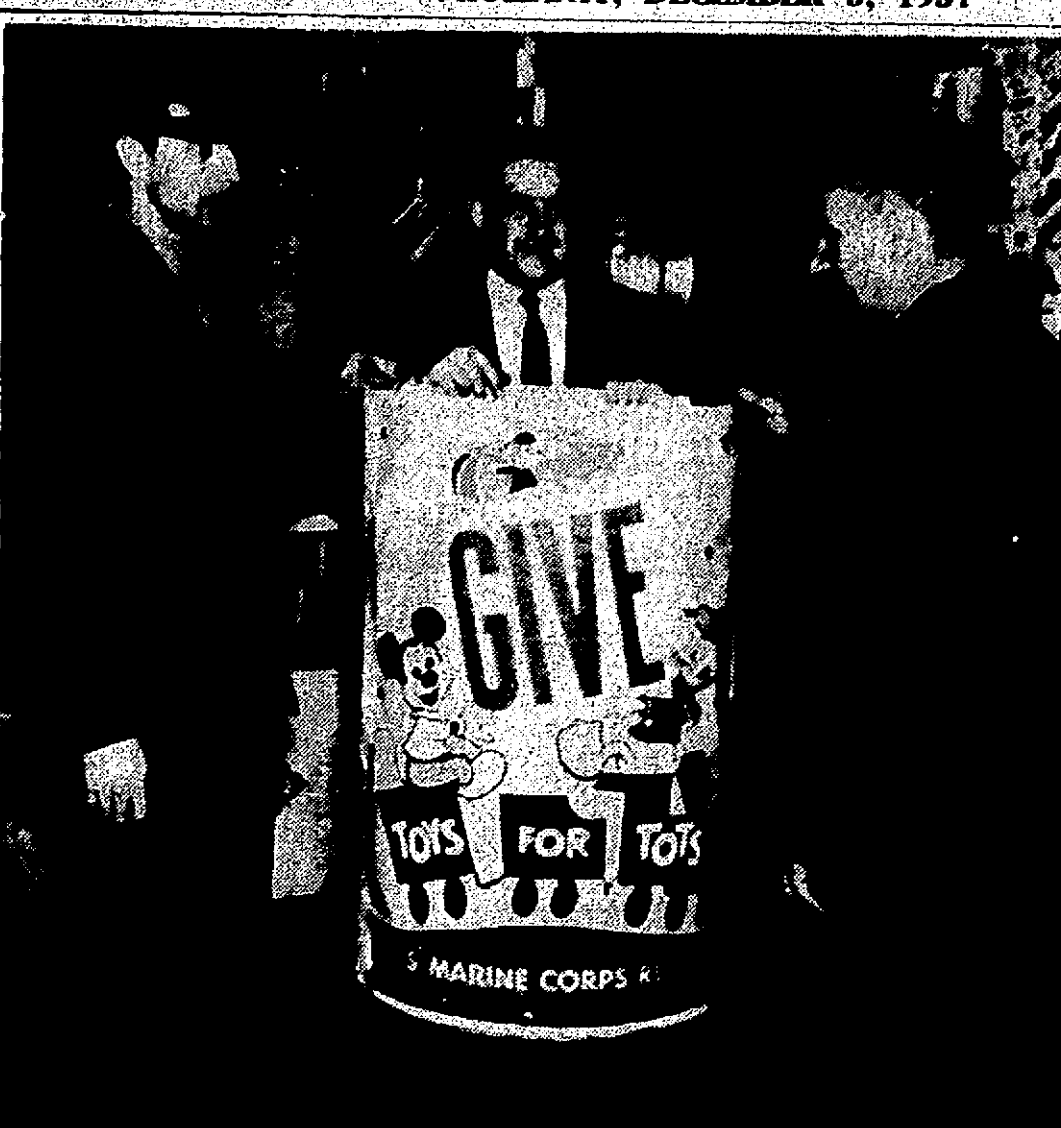

Dawn Sadler, two-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Sadler, Salem, W. Va., remains in "critical" condition today in Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser.

The child was injured in an automobile accident on Route 50 near Keyser.

Hospital attaches said they are discouraged with the child's chance of survival. She sustained a skull fracture of a severe nature, attaches said.

Meanwhile, the child's parents are reported in "good" condition in the same hospital. They suffered a number of cuts and abrasions in the two-car collision.

West Virginia State Trooper Charles Oliver, who investigated, said the Sadler car collided with an auto driven by Tony Oliver of Arlington, Va.

TOY DRIVE UNDERWAY—The Sixth Infantry Company, local Marine Corps Reserve unit, has launched its fourth annual "Toys for Tots" drive. The Marines last year collected, repaired and distributed, through the Associated Charities, some 10,000 toys to underprivileged children in Cumberland. Containers have been set up in various business establishments where residents can place new toys. Pickup service may be obtained by calling either the

Marine Unit Begins Yule Toy Appeal

The fourth annual "Toys for Tots" Christmas drive has been launched by the Sixth Infantry Company, local Marine Reserve unit, and the Associated Charities.

Capt. Billy C. Menges, commanding officer of the Marine company, said all toys collected will be distributed in the Cumberland area.

Last year, he pointed out, some 10,000 toys were collected and repaired by the "Leathernecks," and distributed through the facilities of the Associated Charities.

Marine reservists, Capt. Menges continued, have been playing "Santa" since 1948 when a group on the West Coast inaugurated a toy drive for underprivileged children.

There are now 269 Reserve units conducting such campaigns throughout the country.

Both new and used toys in good condition are being sought, Capt. Menges said. Containers for new toys have been placed at Rosenbaum's, Murphy's, McCrory's and Lou's Auto Stores on Baltimore Street; Hill's Store, North Centre Street, and Powers' service station on Henderson Boulevard.

Pickup service may be obtained by calling the Marine Reserve headquarters at PA 2-1404, or the Associated Charities office at PA 4-3411.

Keyser Man Wounded By Deer Hunter

A Keyser man is in critical condition in Potomac Valley Hospital there as the result of a hunting accident yesterday.

The man, Howard K. Barrick, 25, of 29 Gilmore Street, was shot by his brother-in-law, Andrew Simpson, also 25 years of age, and also of the same address.

Attaches at Potomac Valley said Barrick was shot in the left side of his abdomen, with the projectile exiting in a downward position on the other side of his abdomen.

Claude Rice, West Virginia Conservation Commission officer, who is investigating, said the two men were hunting on the Simpson farm, about five miles east of Keyser on West Virginia State Route 46.

Simpson told Rice that he and his brother-in-law separated and that he fired at what he thought was a deer in a heavy clump of pines. Rice pointed out that the day was cloudy, and that the shooting took place at approximately 5 p. m.

After discovering his mistake, Simpson summoned other hunters and Barrick was removed to the hospital in the ambulance of the Keyser Volunteer Fire Department.

Teachers To Outline Plan For Officials

Statewide Increase Of $800 To Be Aim At Assembly Meet

Key legislation desired by the Maryland State Teachers Association will be explained to Allegany County legislators and officials at a dinner Wednesday, December 11, at 6 p. m. in the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The event is being conducted by the Allegany County Teachers Association under the sponsorship of the MSTA, according to Hayes Chambers, president of the county association.

Raver To Speak
Milton C. Raver, executive secretary of the MSTA, will explain the three key pieces of legislation desired by the organization during the 1958 session of General Assembly.

This includes the overriding of Governor McKeldin's vote of the bill passed in the 1957 session that would have given the teachers a $400 annual wage increase.

Another is for the correction of discrepancies in teachers' annuities and the third is for a bill calling for an additional $400 wage increase.

The teachers association before the 1957 General Assembly had proposed an $800 increase, but compromised with half that amount. The legislature passed the bill, but the Governor vetoed it.

Many To Attend
Chambers said those who will attend will include Sen. Charles M. See and the county's delegates; the county commissioners, Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools; Kenneth Malcolm, president of Allegany County Board of Education, Dr. Adam Baer, representing the Allegany County Council of Parents and Teachers, and Teachers, and Ivan C. Diehl, dean of men, representing Frostburg State Teachers College.

Various members of the county teachers association will attend. These include John L. Kelly, chairman of the speakers' committee; Miss Anna McLuckie, public relations chairman; and all members of the public relations committee—Miss Mary Murray, chairman; Homer S. Higgins, Miss Gertrude Williams, Joseph Pelzer, and E. Allan Weatherholt.

Others who will attend will be Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools; Lewyn C. Davis, and Joseph Byrnes, members of the ACTA retirement subcommittee; Edward Meconi, ACTA first vice president, and Miss Yola Hudson, who is in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

Pair To Attend State Meeting
Allegany County will be represented at the December 11 meeting of the Maryland Association of County Commissioners in Carvel Hall, Annapolis.

William A. Wilson, the new county commissioner, and Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, will attend the session.

This meeting will be on legislation contemplated by the association at the 1958 session of the General Assembly.

That includes matters pertaining to assessment and taxation of personal property and distribution of state revenues to political subdivisions.

Trainmen To Install Heads Tuesday Night

Installation of officers and "old timers' night" will be held by William R. Durbin Lodge 628, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the lodge room in the Ridgeley Fire Hall.

The lodge is comprised of trainmen employed on the Western Division of the Western Maryland Railway.

The results of the election held recently will be announced at the meeting.

Recently retired members to be honored will include A. F. Zais and David Densmore, Westernport, and E. P. Will, Piedmont.

A 45-year service pin will be awarded a retired member, T. C. Dunlap, this city, according to Lynn Ferguson, president.

After the meeting, the lodge will adjourn to Albert's Restaurant, South Mechanic Street, for a social hour.

Hearing On Phone Rates Continues

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. has, in effect, upped its proposed rate increase by about 1 1/2 million dollars.

The company's request filed last August asked for increases amounting to $6,800,000 in additional annual revenue from 464,000 Maryland customers. Yesterday, the hearing was reopened before the Public Service Commission.

C. & P. told the PSC it has granted $1,400,000 in pay increases to Maryland employees since the last hearing, and asked that this be kept in mind when rates are set.

People's Counsel Wilfred T. McQuaid objected to consideration of the request but the PSC granted it. The session was largely devoted to cross-examination of witnesses who had testified Oct. 23.

Today, resumption of the hearings was to include testimony by Dr. Eli W. Clemens, professor of economics at the University of Maryland. The hearings were recessed to permit McQuaid to secure the advice of Dr. Clemens.

McQuaid said yesterday the PSC has received protests against the increase from 4,358 persons, as against 628 favoring the company plan which also includes wider dialing areas for many customers.

C. & P. General Counsel J. P. Preston Jr. said the protest was only a fraction of the 464,000 subscribers notified of the plan.

One Injured In Accident
One person was hospitalized yesterday in a head-on collision on Cooper Mountain, 10 miles west of Capon Bridge, W. Va.

Trooper Charles E. Dorsey of the West Virginia State Police detachment at Romney, who investigated, said Raymond Hooper, Baltimore, was admitted to Memorial Hospital in Winchester, Va. following the crash.

Hooper sustained lacerations of his face and head and is reported in "good" condition today.

Trooper Dorsey said Russell G. Hampt, Baltimore, was traveling east bound on the road when his vehicle skidded on a curve and rammed head-on into another car driven by Thomas R. Dunn of Arlington, Va.

Police said approximately $600 damage was caused to the two vehicles.

Odd Fellows Plan Election

Chosen Friends Lodge 34, IOOF, will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at Odd Fellows Temple, South Mechanic Street.

Nominations and election of lodge officers for the coming year will be held.

Voting will be held at this meeting also for grand lodge officers. All past grands are urged to be present.

Siamese Daughters Born Dead In Hospital

Siamese-twin daughters were born dead yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bennett, of near Great Cacapon, at Morgan County (W.Va.) War Memorial Hospital, Berkeley Springs.

The birth was the first of its kind ever recorded at the ten-year-old institution. The physician in charge said the daughters, perfectly formed, were joined at the breast.

The 43-year-old mother is reported "doing fine." Mr. and Mrs. Bennett have three other children.

Wellersburg PTA To Meet Today

The Wellersburg School Parent-Teacher Association will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the school with the theme being "Moral and Spiritual Values in the Home."

The roll call will include lessons taught by parents in the home relating to moral or spiritual matters. There will be a speaker on the subject.

Group Holds U. S. Should Aid Potomac

Cooperation Urged To Solve Problems In Allegany County

Congress should assume responsibility for the Potomac River and for the solution of its flood control, pollution and water supply problems.

This was one of the main suggestions made by Potomac River Committee of the Legislative Council of the Maryland General Assembly in its report of a several months study of the river and its problems.

In its county breakdown, the committee had this to say about Allegany County:

"To solve problems of pollution, flood control and water for municipal and industrial uses in this narrow area of Maryland, cooperation is necessary among this state, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. The committee urges establishment of the machinery for cooperation between the jurisdictions."

Other Comments
Others in the county-by-county breakdown are as follows:

Garrett — Army engineers have proposed a series of three dams on the North Branch of the Potomac three miles above Luke, Md., on Stony River near U.S. 50 in West Virginia, and on the Savage River above the present Savage River reservoir.

The committee urged cooperation between the States to raise non-Federal funds necessary for coordination of the three dam projects.

Local flood protection works are proposed at Kitzmiller, Md., and Blaine, W.Va., but the committee said "cooperation is difficult" in raising local funds, for preliminary costs at Blaine, because it is an unincorporated community. The committee suggested that if this money cannot be raised locally it should be borrowed from the Board of Public Works.

Adopt Plan
Washington County — The committee adopted "in principle" recommendations of a citizens' committee that the State buy federally owned land along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal. Some would be used for State parks and recreational uses, some could be retained as municipal parks of towns along the river; and the remainder of the land "would be resold by the State to the abutting property holders."

"The canal property will thus revert to the people of Maryland, and the shore of the Potomac will once again become, in large measure, the property of the people to whom it belongs."

Frederick County — A low dam or series of low dams would result in the flooding of less land than if a high-level dam is built at River Bend. The committee does not recommend the high-level dam at this time.

Delay Costs
Montgomery County — Further delay in formulation of a public program for water impoundment will "compound the present inadequate (water supply) situation."

Prince Georges County — Pollution is a most serious problem, said the committee. "Citizens of the lower feel that they have been neglected by the Engineers in planning for the river." Interstate cooperation to settle this problem and "some method of financing sewage facilities" are needed.

Charles and St. Marys Counties — They "share the same problem as Prince Georges in respect to pollution."

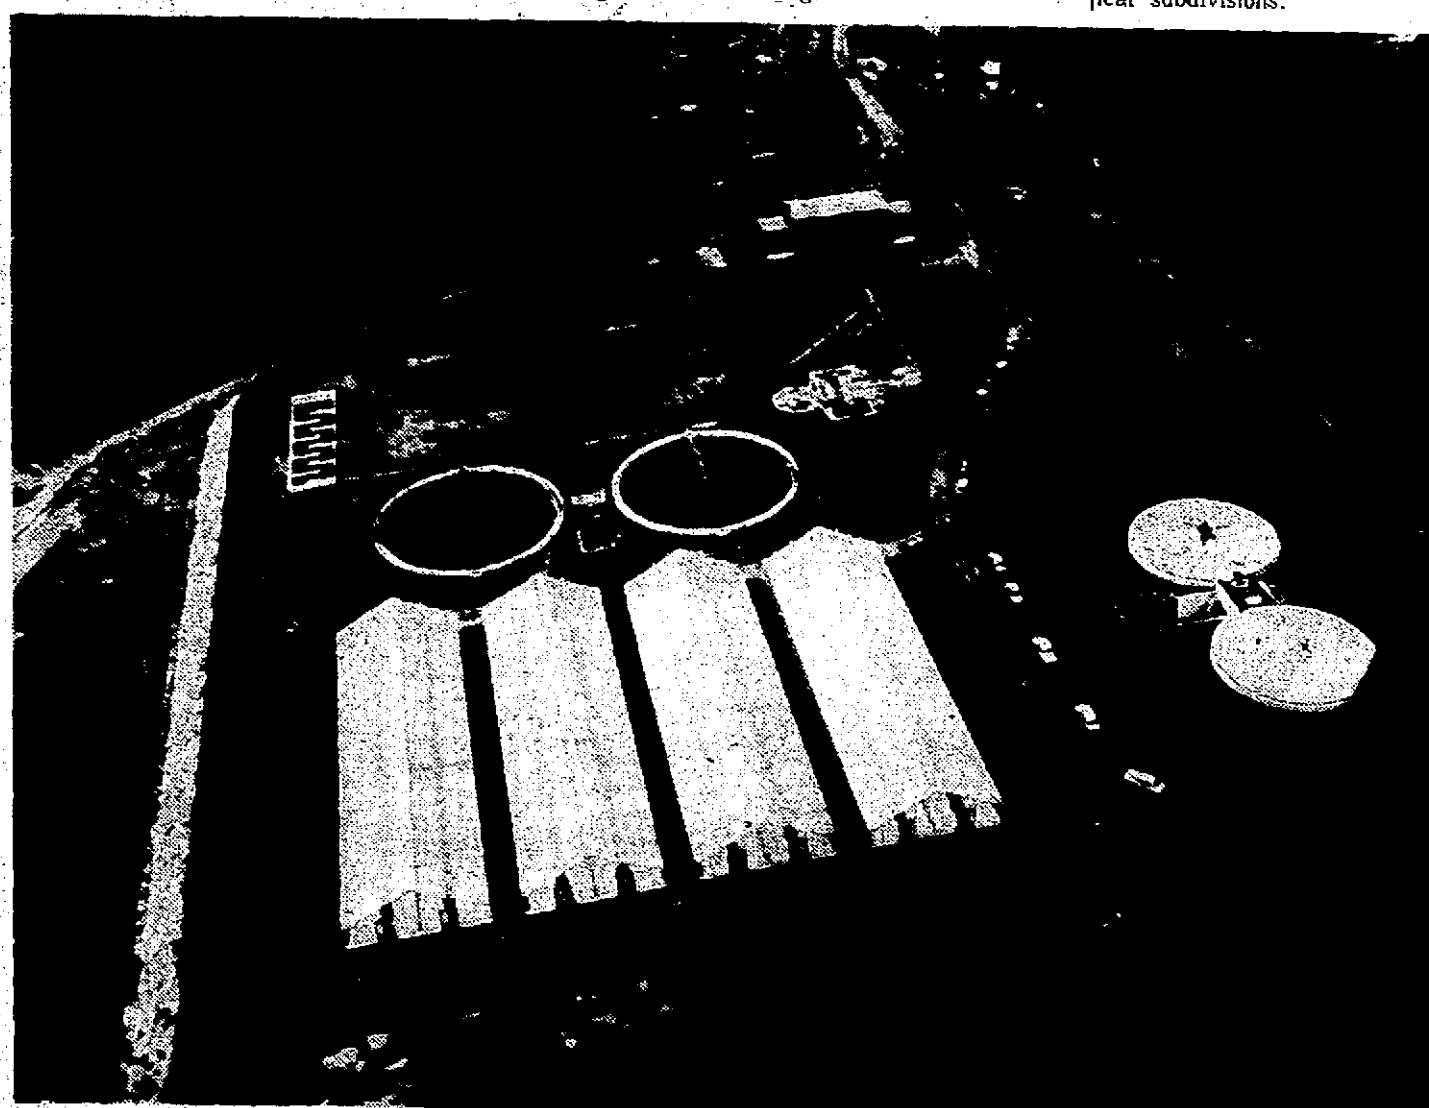

Water For Washington
In the report the committee concluded that "one of the principal needs in the River basin is that of water supply for the Washington Metropolitan Area."

"This is not to minimize the other problems which the committee has observed to be present," the report added. "Some of the other problems which appear to this committee to be of significance are those of flood control and pollution."

The Potomac may be unique among River basins for its confusion of jurisdiction," said the committee headed by Del. Machen (D-Prince Georges). It pointed to the fact that, unlike most rivers marking interstate boundaries, the river is owned by only one State—Maryland—while its headwaters arise in Virginia, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland.

Attempts by the states and the District to solve river problems have included the granting of certain powers to the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin," it continued, with Maryland, because of its ownership, exercising "some control over the uses of Potomac Water."

NEW FACILITY TO BE DEDICATED — Cumberland's new $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant will be dedicated in ceremonies tomorrow at 10 a. m., according to William H. Buchholz, commissioner of streets and public property, under whose supervision the plant will be operated. Some 200 federal, state, county and city officials have been invited to attend the ceremony.

money, with Buchholz explaining that the facility will be open for public inspection at a later date. The plant is located adjacent to Offutt Street in South Cumberland. The first sludge went through plant processes on Tuesday, Commissioner Buchholz said. Former Mayor Thomas S. Post is superintendent of the plant.

Tree Planting Cost Raised By Maryland

District Forester Hears Report On Chestnut Tree Study

A report on the meeting last week of top officials of the State Department of Forests and Parks was given today by William H. Johnson, district forester here. The sessions were at the U. S. Forest Service Experimental Station at Beltsville.

Johnson said it was decided to increase the price of planting trees by machine on private land from $10 to $13 per acre in Western Maryland. The cost was raised on the Eastern Shore from $12.50 to $16 per acre. Increased material, labor and machinery costs made the higher prices mandatory, Johnson reported.

Reports On Chestnuts

Dr. Jesse Dillar, plant pathologist at Beltsville with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, spoke on the attempts to revive the chestnut tree in America since the blight of years ago decimated these nut-bearing trees.

Dr. Dillar said the prospects of the native American chestnut overcoming the effects of the blight are very poor. He also told of the grafting and Chinese and other Asiatic strains of chestnuts on native trees. This has produced some fine results, but only as far as the trees will bear chestnuts. These hybrids are not good as sources of timber.

The chestnut blight, which started about 1920 in New York state and soon covered the entire Eastern United States, killed off millions of stately chestnut trees. Their loss also hurt the propagation of wildlife such as squirrels.

Some Are Studied

An appeal for chestnuts from some of the few American trees still standing has resulted in many stands of these survivors of the blight being plotted and their locations listed on a map. Dr. Dillar said. Some of these locations are in Western Maryland, he added.

Others who spoke at the three-day meeting were Harry Dengler, Extension forester at the University of Maryland, who told of marketing of timber products. Richard Jones, director of Region No. 7 of the U. S. Forest Service at Philadelphia, spoke on the laws creating the cooperative forest management program in the various states. He also discussed small watershed development in cooperation with the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. This program has done much to curtail the effects of erosion in many watersheds.

12 Complete Fire Course

Twelve men, eight from District 10 Volunteer Fire Company and four from Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Safety and Plant Protection Department, will receive certificates today for completing a 60-hour University of Maryland training course in basic fireman ship.

The ceremony will be at a dinner meeting at District 10 fire hall, Oldtown Road. Wives will attend and dinner will be served by District 10's Auxiliary at 6:30 p. m.

John J. Long, director of safety and plant protection at PPG's Works 7 here, will be toastmaster.

The 12 men completed the course held each Wednesday for three hours over a period of 20 weeks. Cromwell Zembower was instructor. Each man was required to pass an examination.

alone," said the committee. Although cooperation is required of the other States and jurisdictions, "these jurisdictions have continued to pollute foully and to cooperate little."

The report said, in view of these conflicting jurisdictions, the committee felt "that the Congress of the United States should assume responsibility for the Potomac River and for the solution of its problems."

This could best be accomplished, it is suggested, by the Army Corps of Engineers, which in 1946 recommended construction of a high-level dam at River Bend in Frederick County and last year was given funds for a broader study of river problems.

This will be a study that in comprehensiveness forms in some respects an innovation in the field of Corps of Engineers basin studies," the Machen group said. "It will embrace all uses of water as a resource with the objective of producing a basin master plan for insuring control and the adequacy of water to meet all consumptive uses in the future."

The committee said it felt an appropriation of less than $200,000 approved for the Engineers study in 1956, while greater than expected, still was insufficient to complete the work planned for 1957.

"It urged that enough money be made available to complete the Engineers report in time for presentation to the 1959 Congress, rather than in 1961 as scheduled."

The B-29 Enola Gay, which dropped an atomic bomb on Hiroshima, was presented to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D. C. on July 2, 1949.

ABL Savings Checks Paid

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory Christmas savings checks, amounting to $85,717 have been distributed to 469 members. Checks totaled from $25 to $500.

This marked the second year the savings club was available to employees. Last year, $74,558 was distributed among 421 employees.

Information sheets concerning the 1958 club have been distributed. Saving are deposited with Liberty Trust Company on a 10-month basis, January through October. Each month's deduction represents 10 per cent of the plan.

Authorization for deductions must be in the hands of the Payroll Department by December 13.

Randolph Area Hunter Killed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A 73-year-old Randolph County man became the first to die of gunshot wounds during the current deer hunting season.

Leonard Ira Channell of Becky's Creek was shot in the head yesterday by a companion. The accident occurred about two miles from his home.

Two other hunters have died as a result of heart attacks since the season opened last Monday. Seven woundings occurred during the first two days, the State Conservation Department reported.

Rec Program Successful

Saturday recreation sessions at Fort Hill High School are proving more successful than anticipated, the sponsoring city Recreation Department announced today.

For the two Saturdays the program has been in operation, 275 youngsters between the ages of 10 and 14 have taken advantage of the program which is for both boys and girls.

The turnout has been so good, the department said, that some changes will have to be made because of space limitations. These are to be worked out.

In charge of the program are Richard Cunningham and Glenn Wilson. The session is conducted from noon to 2 p. m. each Saturday.

Helen F. Holt Appointed To State Position

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Mrs. Helen F. Holt, West Virginia's new secretary of state, plans to return here later this week to take up her duties.

Mrs. Holt was appointed yesterday by Gov. Underwood to succeed D. Pitt O'Brien, who died Friday.

Mrs. Holt said she would resign from the faculty of Greenbrier College, where she has been an instructor in chemistry and biology.

The appointment of Mrs. Holt, a Republican, reduced the Democratic majority on the board of Public Works from 5-2 to 4-3. She is the first woman ever to serve on the board, made up of the State's seven elected officials.

Mrs. Holt said yesterday that she would be a candidate for O'Brien's unexpired term, to be filled in the November 1958 election.

As an appointee, she will serve only until an elected successor takes office for the unexpired term, which runs until January, 1961.

Mrs. Holt is the widow of former U. S. Sen. Rush D. Holt of Weston.

Testimony Started In Marine Trial

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Testimony begins today in the superior court trial of three Marines, charged with the Roadhouse slaying of Charles Sullivan, 23, last Sept. 20.

The trial opened yesterday, but the day passed in selecting a jury from a special venire of 50 persons. Attorneys rejected 27 veniremen before seating the final juror.

A new Hanover County grand jury indicted 10 Marines from Camp Lejeune in the slaying. However, Sol. John J. Burney announced yesterday that he would try only three at this time: Paul H. Faust, 18, of Baltimore, Md.; William T. Powell, 19, of Cincinnati, Ohio; and Wilbur Carter, 20, of Annapolis, Md. Burney announced no reason for his action.

Sullivan died of a bullet wound from his own .22 caliber rifle during a brawl in a parking lot outside the roadhouse.

Road Condition Report Made By Maryland Police

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP) — Following is a roads condition and snowfall report issued at 9 a. m. by Maryland State Police headquarters for various barracks areas: Pikesville — 9 inches; roads covered with ice. Chains recommended.

Frederick — 8 inches; all roads icy. Main roads drifted in spots. Many secondary roads closed. U. S. 15 still blocked from Maryland 23 to Virginia State line.

Cumberland — 9 inches; roads still slippery in spots.

Salisbury — 2 inches; still very slippery. All roads open.

Waterloo — 10 inches; roads covered with hard packed ice and snow. Traffic moving very slowly.

Rockville — 8 inches; main roads open, icy in spots. Secondary roads in rural areas partially blocked by drifts. Road crews out.

Easton — 2 inches; roads covered with ice and snow, very slippery but possible.

Conowingo — 16 inches; all roads very icy and slippery although passable. Most secondary roads are drifting or have drifted shut.

Randallstown — 10 inches; all roads packed with hard snow and some partially closed due to drifts but slippery. Chains needed. Plow and cinder crews active.

Towson — All roads covered with snow and ice. Chains needed.

Waldorf — 6 inches; main roads open and icy.

Benson (Bel Air) — All roads covered with hard packed ice and snow. Some drifting but no tieups. Chains needed. Most county roads closed by drifts.

Turkey has an area of 236,000 square miles.

Judge Defers Man's Sentence

BALTIMORE (AP) — Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen has deferred sentencing of Charles W. Menard, Washington civil engineer who was convicted of income tax evasion in U. S. District Court yesterday. Judge Thomsen deferred sentencing at the request of defense council, pending a probation report.

Menard was found guilty of failing to file income tax returns in 1953 and 1954 when, the government contended, his income was $35,000. He also was convicted of filing fraudulent withholding tax and Social Security returns in 1950, and failing to file four quarterly returns in 1954.

A psychiatrist, Dr. William N. Fitzpatrick, testified that Menard went into a state of "severe depression" in 1953 when he and his wife separated.

Menard lives in Rockville, Md.

Marriage Licenses Show Slight Increase

The number of marriage licenses issued at the Court House here during November was just three more than for the same month last year.

The 218 issued during the month ending Saturday compared to 215 last year in November.

As usual the majority of the couples came here from various points in Pennsylvania.

Bawdy Yule Cards Stir Congressman's Blitzen

By JERRY BENNETT
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Congressman Frank Thompson Jr. is dreaming of more than just a White Christmas this year. He wants a clean one, too.
The New Jersey Democrat has started a campaign against comic Christmas cards which hail the Yuletide Season with bawdy and sexy rhymes.
"I have been deeply disturbed by this flood of obscene material from a new and unexpected source," he declares. In fact, the congressman is so disturbed that he has taken up the matter with the U. S. Post Office Department.
Thompson recently wrote Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield that the cards should be barred from the mails. In addition to being obscene, he explained that they mock and desecrate the true spirit of Christmas.
He urged the postmaster general to warn anyone who manufactures or sells the cards that they can get into trouble with the law.

Boone Checks His Temperature

BALTIMORE (AP)—As a hot debate on jai alai raged about him in the Legislative Council yesterday, Del. A. Gordon Boone (D-Balto County) quietly listened with a thermometer in his mouth.
Withdrawing the instrument, he noted his temperature was 99.3 or 7 above normal.

Chemistry Class Rocket Blast Kills One, Hurts 7

ELOYADA, Tex. (AP)—A rocket made from a piece of pipe blew up during a high school chemistry class experiment yesterday, killing the teacher and injuring seven students.
Garland Foster, 40, the teacher and a former employee of the Atomic Energy Commission research center at Los Alamos, N.M., was killed.
Keith Hollums, 18, and Jerry Crawford, 17, were seriously injured. The other five had more minor injuries. Three more were treated for shock and released. Hollums had several teeth knocked out and suffered other mouth injuries and was hospitalized here. Crawford suffered ear and face injuries and was taken to a Lubbock hospital for surgery.
Dennis Whitfill, 16, a member of the class who was only a few feet from the explosion but escaped injury, gave this account: "The teacher used to work at the Atomic Energy Commission research center at Los Alamos and had learned about rocket fuels. 'We had mixed together carbon, potassium chlorate and sulphur and placed it inside this one-foot-long piece of pipe. The ends were capped with a hole in one end. 'We had twine tied to the left of it, was blown about 20 feet away.'"
The youth said 14 members of the chemistry class were gathered around the teacher on the school grounds when he struck a match to the opening at one end of the rocket. The match went out.
"The next time he tried," Whitfill said, "the rocket fizzed just a second and then exploded. Pieces of iron went in all directions. The roller skate, what was

Council Rejects Oyster Proposal

BALTIMORE (AP)—A move to require longers to remove mud and dirt from the shells of newly caught oysters was rejected yesterday by the Legislative Council.
The council adopted an unfavorable report of its Judiciary Committee, which had studied the proposal by the State Department of Health.
Del. Simpkins (D-Somerset) said he and Committee Chairman Malcus (D-Worcester) had investigated the proposal and found it would be impractical and unenforceable.
Railroad mileage in the United States totals about 241,000 miles.

Broiled-Beef Sandwiches

Different and hearty!

Broiled-Beef Sandwiches

Ingredients:—One egg, 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 1/4 cup finely chopped sweet mixed pickles, 1 teaspoon finely grated onion (pulp and juice), 8 slices rye bread, 8 thin slices cooked roast beef, salt and pepper.

Method:—Beat egg with rotary beater (hand or electric) until thick and pale-colored. Mix well but gently with mayonnaise, chopped pickles and grated onion. Spread half of mixture on bread slices. Top with beef; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Top with remaining pickle mixture. Broil 3 to 4 inches from source of heat for 5 to 6 minutes, or until lightly browned. Makes eight servings.

Fudge For Cowboys And Christmas

SMALL FRY DELIGHT:—The Sheriff will have no trouble rounding up a posse when his badge is pinned on a batch of animal cracker fudge.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

The sweetest and trickiest idea we've come upon this year is Animal Cracker Fudge. Small fry will be enchanted with it and grownups won't mind eating it either. The fudge is a light milk-chocolate color with good flavor and just-creamy-enough texture. The small animal cracker atop each square tastes delicious with the sweet rich candy underneath.

If you try this recipe we think you'll agree with us that it's a great one for youngsters' parties at holiday time and the whole year through. You can vary the garnish by choosing crackers or cookies to suit your party theme—at Christmas time star-shaped cookies are perfect. For a Cowboy and Indian party, use cookies that picture these themes.

Animal Cracker Fudge
Ingredients: 4 squares (1 ounce each) unsweetened chocolate, 1 1/2 cups evaporated milk (undiluted), 4 cups sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 12 medium-sized (about 1 1/4 cups) marshmallows (diced), 16 small animal crackers.

Method: Put chocolate and undiluted evaporated milk in a medium-sized saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until chocolate melts; beat with rotary beater to blend chocolate. Add sugar and salt. Cook, stirring

Company Dinner

This salad is always popular. Batter-fried Chicken Breasts, Creamy Mashed Potatoes, Snap Beans and Mushrooms, Super Orange Salad, Hot Biscuits, Moche Tortle Beverage.

Super Orange Salad
Ingredients: 1 quart torn mixed salad greens, 2 large oranges cut into membrane-free sections, 1 cup thin diagonal celery crescents, 1 green pepper (cut into thin strips), 1/4 cup thin strips cheddar cheese, 1/4 cup coarsely broken walnut meats, 4 slices crisply cooked drained bacon, olive oil, white wine vinegar, prepared Dijon mustard, salt, pepper.

Method: Arrange the salad greens, orange pieces, celery crescents, green pepper strips and cheddar cheese in a salad bowl; cover tightly and refrigerate. At serving time sprinkle with walnuts and crumbled bacon; toss with a dressing made from oil, vinegar, mustard, salt and pepper, using proportions preferred. (Classic proportions are 3 tablespoons of oil to 1 tablespoon of vinegar.) Makes 6 servings.

Seasoned with salt, ground seed, cottage cheese balls rolled in black pepper and ground dill in paprika make a delightful vegetable salads.

Hors d'Oeuvre Sub For Dips

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Once in a while, when you're entertaining, you might enjoy straying from the ubiquitous spreads and dips that nowadays are usually served with crackers, raw vegetables and crisp vegetable chips.
For an occasion when you are ready and willing to do some preparation ahead, small sandwiches dipped in a French-toast mixture and fried until golden brown will be something different to offer your guests. The filling for this hors d'oeuvre combines deviled ham with cheese and pickle relish, and the attractive garnishes are pickle "fans," pimiento stars and bread, 3/4 cup evaporated milk, eggs, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1/2 teaspoon caraway seed, butter or margarine, pickle fans, low out a small red cabbage, fill it with a mustard or spicy fruit sauce and surround it with small hot frankfurters. The franks are dipped into the sauce, so you'll need to have a small container of wooden cocktail picks at hand. The filling for the French-toast hors d'oeuvre also makes an excellent spread served with some of the new potato crackers, or with small squares of pumpkin-nickel bread.

Method: Mix the deviled ham and grated cheese with pickle relish to taste. Trim crusts from bread. Spread about 2 table-spoons of the filling on 8 of the slices; top with remaining slices. Cut into triangles, squares or ovals. Beat evaporated milk (undiluted), eggs, mustard and caraway seed together in a shallow pan. Dip sandwiches into mixture, turning to coat both sides. Preparation may be done several hours ahead and at this point sandwiches may be refrigerated in a covered container. At serving time, brown both sides of sandwiches in a small amount of butter in skillet; cook slowly so as to have a slightly crisp golden-brown exterior. Garnish with pickle fans, pimiento shapes or sliced olives. Serve at once. Makes about 24.

To make the pickle fans for the garnish, make parallel slits in gherkins from one end almost to the other end of each pickle and spread out in fan shape. Miniature cutters may be bought in sets in the housewares department of many shops; there's usually a star-shaped cutter among these that can be used to shape pimiento.
An electric fryer or an uncovered chafing dish will keep the French-Toasted hors d'oeuvre hot at serving time.

Spanish-Style Lima Beans
No water needed to cook lima beans the Spanish way. Beat 2 tablespoons Spanish olive oil in heavy saucepan, add 1 small onion, sliced, cook about 1 minute. Add 1 package frozen Fordhook limas, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash pepper. Cover tightly, cook over low heat until limas are tender, stirring once or twice with fork to break up block.
Mix cream cheese with bits of anchovies, turn into a small bowl and refrigerate. When firm, shape into a ball and roll in minced parsley. Nice to serve with crisp crackers and tomato juice for a first course.

Chuck Roast On Feature List For Food Shoppers

By The Associated Press
Housewives who have trouble making up their mind will find the going rough in supermarkets and grocery stores this week, for the choice of meat is likely to be varied.
Unlike last week, when the choice was almost automatic for turkey, various cuts of beef and pork will be featured at bargain prices. Some stores will be offering the more expensive cuts, such as steaks and top or bottom round. Nearly as many, however, will be using the big type for chuck roast and stew meat.

Fish May Go Higher
Fish and fowl are not widely offered this week, although such favorites as cod steak, halibut steak and fried scallops are featured in normal seafood areas. Fish prices may go higher, however, due to recurring storms which hamper North Atlantic fishing fleets. This would hit frozen specialties, such as fish sticks, just as hard as sales of the fresh variety.
Best buys at vegetable counters will be potatoes, onions, lettuce, eggplants, escarole, endive, yellow squash and cabbage. Some areas offer a choice in the last-named—plants from nearby growing areas' fall crops or new cabbage from fields in the North Carolina-Virginia belt.

Florida corn is lower this week, gaining the best buy class, but produce men say the ears show a wide range in quality and condition.
Slightly more expensive are Idaho potatoes, broccoli, sweet potatoes and brussels sprouts. Cauliflower is trending lower in price, but the heads are getting smaller, so the savings are questionable.
Cucumbers and tomatoes are reported higher this week, making them no better than moderate in price. Shoppers may find bargains in snap beans, but they'll have to look carefully, for the beans are somewhat irregular in quality.

Apple Supply Plentiful
Apples again are the star performers in the fruit department and government figures show why: This year's crop is 16 per cent greater than last year's. Oranges, grapefruit and tangerines also are outstanding buys. So are Avocados. California's Emperor grapes are still plentiful and cheap.

Other good buys are navel oranges from California, pears, lemons, Revere grapes and a new one called tangelos. That's a cross between a tangerine and a grapefruit.

Frosting Hard Too Soon?
If that boiled frosting begins to harden before you've frosted your whole cake, beat in a tiny bit of hot water.

When you are using fresh herbs, chop them very fine to extract flavor.

Creamed-Onion, Cheese Dish

New twist to a vegetable dish—Creamed Onions and Celery With Blue Cheese.
Ingredients: One-fourth cup butter or margarine, 4 medium-sized onions (thinly sliced), 1 cup thinly sliced celery, 2 cups cents, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, salt, white pepper, 3 ounces (1/2 cup) crumbled blue cheese.
Method—Melt butter over low heat in medium-sized saucepan; add onions and celery; cook gently, stirring often, until vegetables are partly tender but not browned. (Saucepan may be covered for quick cooking.) Stir in flour thoroughly.
Add milk all at once; cook and stir constantly until sauce thickens and bubbles. Add salt and pepper to taste. Turn into buttered casserole (1 1/2 quarts), sprinkle with cheese. Bake in moderate (375°) oven until lightly browned—about 20 minutes.
Put a sheet of waxed paper between each layer when you are storing cookies.

ONIONS 'N LIMAS CASSEROLE

Place 1 package frozen lima beans and 12 small peeled onions in a casserole dish. Add 1 1/4 tsp. Sterling Salt, dash of pepper and sage... and about 3/4 cup of cream. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350°) for 1 hour, or until beans are tender.
Any dish has extra zest, extra flavor richness when cooked and seasoned with Sterling Salt!

Noodle Loaf, Cheese Sauce

Harvest noodle loaf is especially good when you serve a cheese and hard-cooked egg sauce over each slice.

To make the loaf, add 2 teaspoons salt and 4 ounces bread noodles to 3 cups boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 5 minutes.

Meanwhile, melt ¼ cup butter or margarine in saucepan. Add ¾ cup chopped celery and ¼ cup chopped onion and brown lightly. Stir in ¼ cup enriched flour and 1 teaspoon salt. Add 1½ cups milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly.

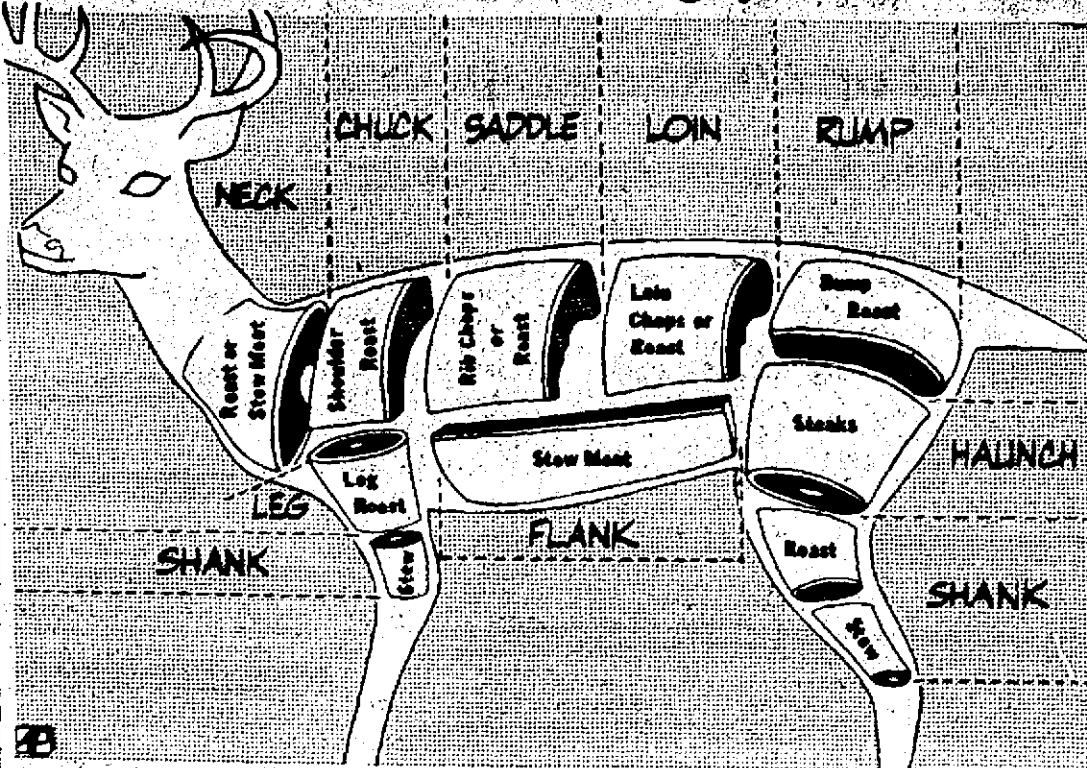

Rinse noodles with warm water and drain well. Beat 2 eggs. Add 1 cup cooked chopped spinach and noodles. Stir in celery-onion sauce, mixing lightly. Pour into well-greased 4½x8½-inch loaf pan.

Set loaf pan in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 1 hour. Turn out on heated platter and serve with egg sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Onions For Dressing

When making your best French dressing recipe use instant minced onion. This handy mixture-free product eliminates grating or chopping onion, yet gives the full sweet onion flavor desired.

Helpful Hints For Hungry Hunters

COOK VENISON like beef. Broil or roast fine cuts and use slow, moist heat for less tender sections.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Does your freezer boast game?

As we drove through Connecticut this fall, cars and station wagons whizzed past us loaded with deer.

Judging from this sampling, the hands that rock the cradles are busy cooking venison.

Although our own experience with the meat has been limited, we have learned a few things emphasized by Audrey Alley Gorton in her recently published "The Venison Book." One is that proper cooking will do more for the meat than the marinades usually prescribed. Mrs. Gorton recommends that choice cuts such as chops, steaks and roasts be treated exactly as you would handle similar fine beef cuts; and that long, slow cooking, or pressure-pane-cooking, will usually take care of the less choice cuts of meat.

Of utmost importance is Mrs.

Gorton's discovery that the gamey flavor of venison comes from the fat. She says, "If the fat is removed when the meat is prepared for freezing or cooking, and strips of bacon or lardons substituted

when the meat is cooked, there will be no need to drown the venison in a witch's brew." Let marinades take over when they're due—in sauerbraten, made with venison, for instance.

One of Mrs. Gorton's recipes is for an English-style Venison and Kidney Pie, worth trying because England has always been noted for its game cookery.

But don't get the idea that Mrs.

Gorton is concerned with recipes alone; she has practical advice to offer on freezer packaging, pressure canning and curing with salt and smoke. Her book also takes up dressing the kill, skinning and cutting up—these gory details sup-

thor's at Marlboro College, Frederick J. Turner, Professor of Forestry.

Venison and Kidney Pie

Ingredients: 1 pound stewing

steak (cut in 1½-inch cubes), 1

beef kidney or 3 lamb kidneys, 3 tablespoons fat (beef suet may be used), 2 medium-sized onions (peeled and sliced), salt and pepper, boiling water or stock, pie crust, 1 egg yolk.

Method: Prepare the kidneys by removing the membrane and cutting out the white part. Slice the beef kidney or halve the lamb kidneys. Roll steak and kidney pieces in flour, pressing the flour into the meat. Melt the fat in a skillet and brown the pieces of meat. Put the meat and onions into a fairly deep fireproof dish (the dish should be about ¾ full). Put the boiling water or stock into the skillet to take up the gravy and cover the meat in the dish with this mixture. Put on the lid and bake in a medium oven (350 degrees) for at least 1 hour—or until the meat is tender and the gravy thick. Add salt and pepper to taste. If you are in a hurry, this part of the cooking can be done in a pressure saucepan. Cook the meat about 20 minutes under 15 pounds pressure. Remember to reduce the liquid by about ½ the amount recommended for baking. When the meat is cooked (either method), remove from the oven—or, if pressure cooked, put meat in baking dish—and cover with baking, fluting the edges and making several slashes in the crust to let out the steam. (The English cut a round hole about 1 inch in diameter in the center of the crust). Brush the crust with an egg yolk beaten up in 1 tablespoon of water if you like a shiny crust. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) until the crust is nicely browned.

Board Plans Dances, Open House Jan. 29

FROSTBURG — The Advisory Board of Teen Town met last evening in the clubrooms and made plans for December activities.

Sponsors for the month will be Mrs. Mae James and Mrs. William Brode.

The board is making a plea for more men to aid their wives in serving as chaperons at the teen dances. The group pointed out that men are desperately needed due to the large number of children present each evening. Men they said, can perform many of the duties necessary.

A Christmas dance will be held from 9 p. m. to midnight on Christmas night with music by Billy Cassel. The regular dances will then be held Friday and Saturday nights following.

On New Year's Eve, another dance will be held from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

Preliminary plans were made for the annual open house to be held January 29, at which time adults and parents will be invited to inspect Teen Town.

Those who served as chaperons for November were Mrs. George Ewing, Mrs. Fanny Anthony, Guy Mallow, Mrs. George Downton, Mrs. Mabel Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Denmore, Mr. and Mrs. Delvin Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Zumpano, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Baer, Mrs. Harriet Horner, Mr. and Mrs. Ewan Layman, Mr. and Mrs. William Shumaker, Mrs. Charles Keating, Mrs. John Kreitzberg, Robert Wiebrecht, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barclay, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Zeller, Mrs. Mildred Fritz, Mrs. Oliver Fabbri, Mrs. Mae James, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Emmart, Mr. and Mrs. G. Franklin Martens, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Felker, Mrs. Alberta Beeman, Mrs. Ruth Morgan, Mrs. Virginia Sigler, Mrs. Jane Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Myers.

Brownies To Meet

PIEDMONT — The Brownie Scouts birthday and Christmas party will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. in Union Hall, Westernport. Troops 5 and 6 will observe their tenth birthday. Mothers of the Brownies are invited.

Industrial Unit, Company Fail To Ink N.Y. Contract

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Industrial Development Corporation and the Cumberland garment Company last night failed to sign a contract for the construction of a new plant here.

Maurice Milberg and the undergarment company lawyer, Clarence Lippold of Cumberland, were present with the agreement from New York.

Edward Ryan, city attorney, checked the document and recommended several small and minor changes which will be made after Lippold and Milberg check with the New York office.

No date has been set for the next meeting which will probably take place without public notification.

Work at the present time is progressing on the plant with all walls about two-thirds completed. Weather may hold up construction for awhile.

Ladies Guild Meets

The Ladies Guild of Zion United Church of Christ, East Main Street, held a Christmas party and dinner recently at Nave's Dining Room in Cumberland.

Ann Storm was in charge of the program which included a candle-light service with the following taking part: Edith Brode, Ann Storm, Clara Vogtman, Mollie Dudley, Mary Settle, Virginia Poland, Irene Rank, Loretta Seifarth and Genevieve Broadwater.

Following the program gifts were exchanged. The names of new secret sisters were placed in the favors at each table setting.

"Little Sisters" Fete Planned By College Sorority

FROSTBURG — Members of Phi Omicron Delta sorority of Frostburg State Teachers College, will hold their annual Christmas party for children in Compton Hall, December 18.

Thirty-three children from the community will be guests at the affair, and each sorority member will have one "little sister" to whom she will play hostess for the evening.

Games will be played and refreshments served, after which Santa will present a gift to each child. The party was arranged by Miss Sylvia Hilliard, social chairman, assisted by the officers of the group: Joanne Fiery, delta; Dorothy McBride, vice delta; Louise Grahame, phi; Norma McLuckie, omicron; Barbara Bagent, guard, and Dr. Lucille N. Clay, advisor.

Council Aims Brophytown Water Issue

WESTERNPORT — A delegation from Brophytown conferred with Mayor Okey E. Michael and Commissioners last evening relative to renewing water lines there.

Before hearing the delegation a letter was read from Horace P. Whitworth, town attorney, as follows:

"You have requested that I give you in writing my views as to the ways and means and the practicability of the future furnishing of water from your water system to those properties located beyond your corporation limits in the vicinity known as Brophytown.

"Assuming that you have a sufficient quantity of water to furnish this supply without restricting in any way your service to your own residents and that therefore you could properly give consideration to securing additional watermakers, provided the same could be secured upon a paying basis.

Urges Consideration

"In this particular case the proposition should be considered after a careful estimation of the costs of installation of the required lines and the prospective income therefrom, either at the rates now charged or at such additional rates as may be necessary.

"Since the town has already obligated itself for a very large sum of money, secured by its water improvement bonds which constitute a lien upon all property in Westernport, I am sure that securing the money to make this extension will be very difficult and perhaps impossible.

This necessarily leads to the question whether those who desire this water will undertake to provide the capital fund to be necessary and upon what terms and conditions.

"I might call your attention to the fact that you have a similar situation at Bloomingtown where the watermakers own their own pipelines and you furnish water upon meter readings at a wholesale rate at so much per gallon and through a local company which they have formed, they distribute the water among their customers and collect the water rents from each.

"If the watermakers at Brophytown can make an agreement among themselves and cooperate in this fashion I am sure that agreement can be worked out which will be satisfactory to all parties.

"It is perfectly obvious that the present arrangements cannot continue but if there is any way, either for the town or others to put in this water system, the rules and regulations of the town under which they supply water as well as the character and installations should be applied. I am sure that the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport do not wish to impose any unnecessary hardships upon property owners outside the corporation limits, but unless users can either directly or indirectly finance this service, it certainly is not right they should continue receiving water at the expense of the town.

"From information I have received I am led to believe that there are a number of people in Brophytown using water in various ways which they are not paying for and imposing on their neighbors as well as upon the citizens of Westernport.

"Frankly, I do not know of any way for you to correct the physically bad conditions of the pipe in this vicinity, except to replace and revamp them—in fact, establish a new system throughout that area.

Engineer Needed
"An engineer should give you an estimate of the costs of this and your present set-up, and income would give you some idea of the revenue to be gotten.

The delegation was comprised of Elmer B. Sheffer, Richard Mackley, Mrs. Claude Westfall, Harold Raines and Mrs. John Pattison.

Mayor Michael proposed that the group form its own water company and build a pipeline. They reported that at a meeting held Sunday at Brophytown, attended by 17 of the 34 property owners, 16 were opposed to the formation of a water company.

At the council meeting they were in favor of the town putting in the water line. In turn they will pay the town for it over a period of ten years, in addition to paying for the water received.

A rough estimate stated that it would take 1,500 feet of four-inch pipe and 540 feet of two-inch pipe. With fittings the estimated cost would be $10,000.

In addition to that amount, an engineer would have to be employed to make surveys and draw up specifications for bids. Fees would be $2,000.

Mayor Michael appointed Alvin Pence, water commissioner, to get estimates on the cost of laying new water lines at Brophytown and Franklin. The estimate of each place is to be separate.

Wesleyan Guild Annual Concert Planned Dec. 15

PIEDMONT — Final plans for the annual Christmas concert sponsored by Wesleyan Service Guild of Trinity Methodist Church were made Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Anna Lee Withrow, West Fairview Street.

The program will be presented Sunday, December 15, at 8:45 p. m. in the auditorium of the church.

Miss Adair Welton, Mrs. Dorothy Kight and Miss Phyllis Adams are in charge of arrangements.

A letter was read from Mrs. Frances Dayton, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, thanking the group for helping to make the bazaar.

Miss Withrow reported on Christmas cards being sold by the Guild, and it was announced that a Thanksgiving basket was given to a needy family.

Miss Katherine Crawford, program chairman, gave a talk on "Evangelism" and presented a Christmas reading. Mrs. Doris Daddysman conducted the devotions.

Mrs. Billie Jane Fleck, president, announced that an all-day workshop sponsored by the WSCS will be held at Petersburg tomorrow.

A party was held after the business session and jingle gifts were exchanged. Members sang Christmas carols and refreshments were served. Miss Pauline Whitman and Miss Katharine Crawford were assisting hostesses.

Women Sponsor Clothing Sale

Taking part in the various dances were Holly Hester, La Donna Bott, Vin Schmutz, Patricia Pownell, Jo Ellen Brill, Brenda Zirk, Carolyn Townsend, Wendy Hester, Sussie Baker, Sandra Clark, Jane Hamrick, Geraldine Halterman, Phyllis Friddle, Linda Chapman, Susan Vance, Lois Hitt, Sissy Kuykendall, Seelene Ludwick, Marcia Puffenberger, Greta Grimes and Tamara Vetter.

Miss Ilabella Miller, of the Potomac Edison Company, gave a demonstration of Christmas decorations which could be made from articles found about the home and also made Christmas dishes to see and taste.

The short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. M. H. Maxwell and Mrs. Francis Baker had devotions on the Christmas theme.

The club's sale of good used clothing opened in the Kukendall building. The room will be open two days a week, Wednesdays and Saturdays, from 2 to 4 p. m., as long as there is clothing.

Mrs. Donald Baker is treasurer for this project and Mrs. C. R. Powers is in charge of personnel.

Mrs. R. E. Fisher was appointed chairman of a committee to select Hardy County's teacher of the year. The committee will be made up of members from other organizations to make a selection before the middle of January.

Gifts will be sent to Pan American students at West Virginia University, sponsored by the state federation, as well as the remembrance to shut-ins.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. W. D. McCaulley, Mrs. G. W. McCaulley, Mrs. H. S. Pownall, Mrs. S. D. Dodd, Mrs. J. B. Chipley Sr., and Mrs. J. C. McCoy.

Paw Paw Mail Delivery Set

PAW PAW — Because of the increase in the number of mail packages to be delivered to the train, a new system of deliveries has been inaugurated.

Bids were submitted to the Post Office Department both here and in Cumberland. Of the nine local bids and a few from Cumberland, Bernard Larkin was the successful bidder and began the delivery November 30.

Four trains must be met daily except Sunday. Number 34 brings mail and takes mail, Number 4 throws off mail, and Numbers 11 and 9 receive and deliver both.

Five days a week, Larkin will deliver packages by truck to the Queen City Station in Cumberland, leaving here about 5. If there are packages in excess of 50 over his load, an extra trip may be authorized by the postmaster. If the excess is 50 or under, the number will be placed on westbound train Number 9.

Deliveries to Cumberland began Monday. This is the busy season for such an operation since Christmas orders are rolling in steadily to both Avon and Consolidated plants.

Brief Mention

Word has been received by the families of Robert Robey and Daniel King that they had dinner and enjoyed exchanging news of hometown and mutual friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tuning and son, Roger, visited Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Tuning, Massillon, Ohio.

Miss Sara-Kay Youngblood, who is spending her first year in the music school of West Virginia University, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Youngblood.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kerens and daughter, Deborah, visited his sister, Mrs. Charles Lynch, and her family, in Bridgeport and his mother, Mrs. Grace Kerens, Elkins.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Ambrose were Mrs. Susan Willison, Mrs. Sam Alkire and children, Larry and Emma Sue, Fort Ashby, and E. C. Ambrose and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ambrose.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rouzee and daughters, Regina and Vicki, of Frederick, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rouzee and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ambrose.

Mrs. Ambrose returned to Frederick with them for a short visit. While she is there she plans to see Mrs. Bessie Lambath, Arlington, Va., who is also the grandmother of two of Mrs. Ambrose's grandchildren.

Mrs. W. O. Gross visited her son, William, who lives in Westminster.

Recent guests at the home of Mrs. C. J. Bevans included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Laign and children of Wilmington, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. William Slusher and daughters and Mrs. Perley Russell of Hagerstown.

The Junior Tri-Hi-Y will hold a "splash" party Saturday at 2 p. m. at the YMCA. The Hi-Y has invited the Girls Club group to join the swimming party at Cumberland.

Tri-Hi-Y Club membership cards were given out at Monday's meeting presided over by Roberta Love, president.

A Thanksgiving food basket was prepared by the club, each member bringing a food item, and presented to Miners Hospital at Frostburg.

On Thursday, December 19, the Junior Tri-Hi-Y will meet to plan for holiday projects and activities.

To Plan Reunion
The committee planning the 10th reunion for the 1948 graduating class of old Central High School will meet on the third floor of the firemen's armory at 7:30 tonight to push plans. Alex Patton is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

For Rent: Three room furnished apartment. Apply 130 East Main Street, Frostburg.

Yule Program Planned Sunday By Keyser Group

KEYSER — The annual Christmas program under direction of Mrs. E. E. Church will be held in the Keyser High School auditorium Sunday evening, beginning at 8. Peter Lukas, Cumberland, will be organist.

About 60 persons comprising members of the various choirs of Keyser churches, and approximately 35 members of the Seventh Grade of Mrs. Church's music class will take part.

Rev. Fred Bowman, pastor of Church of the Brethren, will give the invocation and Rev. Robert L. Bridges, pastor of United Evangelical Brethren Church, will offer the benediction. A candle-light procession of the choir will precede the program.

Leonard Withers will direct the lighting and staging. Mrs. Paul Dayton is the piano accompanist. Soloists are Mrs. Carlyle Kauffman, Miss Frances Sarullo, William Rogers and Robert J. Martin.

Parking meter receipts for the past week amounted to $72.38. Adjustments on the water bills of C. B. Wilt and Richard Grove, were authorized.

The reading of the water meter installed at Bruce High School for November was 139,000 gallons. The school will be billed for $63.30. The previous monthly rate was $38.

Council ordered that all persons who have not paid their 1956 municipal taxes will be notified. Unless they are paid by February 1, 1958, the matter will be turned over to the town attorney. The amount of these unpaid taxes is $3,236.32, plus interest.

If water accounts are not paid by the tenth of the following month, service will be discontinued.

Pythian Sisters To Elect Officers
FROSTBURG — The annual Christmas dinner of Calanthe Temple 3, Pythian Sisters, will be served at 6 p. m. tomorrow in Junior Hall, Broadway. Jingle gifts will be exchanged during the meal.

A business meeting will be held at 7:30 with nominations and election of officers taking place. The installation will be held in January.

Norma Fazenbaker will preside.

Red Cross Groups Will Meet Tomorrow

PIEDMONT — A joint meeting of the Westernport-Luke branch and Piedmont chapter of the American Red Cross will be held at the Presbyterian Church tomorrow between 1 and 2 p. m. A "Dutch Treat" luncheon will be served.

Arthur Koster, Johnstown, administrator of the Bloodmobile Center; Miss Doris Harper, Elkins and Frank O'Connor, field representatives of the American Red Cross, and Mrs. Harry Beneman, chairman of the blood program, Allegany County chapter, are among Red Cross officials expected to be present.

Keyser Girl Scout Troops
Join Council

KEYSER — Seven Girl Scout troops of Keyser have affiliated with the Cumberland Girl Scout Council. Mrs. George J. Miller, council president, said last night.

Mrs. Miller and Miss Olive Hurlburt, Council Scout executive, met with a group of Keyser Girl Scout leaders Monday night and final arrangements for council coverage were completed.

This brings the total number of troops in the Cumberland Council area to 66, and the area now embraces all of Allegany County with the exception of Westernport and Luke where troops are part of the Tri-Towns Lone Troop Association, all of Hampshire County, and Ridgeley, Fort Ashby, Wiley Ford and Keyser in Mineral County.

Miss Hurlburt said Keyser will become a part of District 1 and will be set up as a neighborhood area. Three members of a neighborhood service team are being recruited, including a chairman, a troop organizer and a troop consultant. Two volunteer trainers are also being sought.

The date for the sixth annual Circle K Club All-Campus Talent Show will be Wednesday, December 11, at 8 p. m. in the administration building auditorium at Potomac State College. The show will be made up of talent among the students on the campus.

The talent registered for the show includes solo and group singing, instrumental offerings by groups and individuals, specialty dancing, a whistling act, acrobatics and a dramatic offering. There will be cash prizes for the participants selected as most outstanding, either group or individual.

Announcement was made recently by William E. Michael, faculty sponsor of the Circle K Club, that Harold Wimer is acting as general chairman of the production.

Junior Class
Plans Comedy

MT. SAVAGE — The Junior Class of Mt. Savage High School will present the play, "A Little Honey," in the school auditorium on December 13 at 8 p. m.

The play was written by William Davidson, and is a comedy in three acts. The theme evolves around the coming of age of a young woman who has been misled by her mother to rely on intellectual pursuits to secure for herself a husband. With some help from an energetic grandmother, who knows the right answers, the problem is solved after many hilarious scenes.

Members of the cast are Kay Lashley, Thomas Carter, Patricia Lepley, Dorothy Winebrenner, Ralph Folk, William Martin, Carolyn Cessna, Teresa Russell, Janet Martin, Drena Dickel and Kenneth Taylor.

The technical staff includes James Deffenbaugh and Richard Aldridge. The play is being directed by Bing Elliott and Edwin Gillis. It is being produced by arrangement with The Dramatic Publishing Company of Chicago.

Philatelia Class
To Hold Program

FROSTBURG — Philatelia Class of First English Baptist Church will hold its annual Christmas meeting tomorrow in the form of a covered dish supper at 6 p. m. in the lower auditorium, followed by the Christmas party.

An appropriate program will be given by members. Gifts will be exchanged and the annual Christmas offering received.

Firemen Offer
Reward In False
Alarm Incidents

MOOREFIELD — Officials of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company will pay a reward of $25 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons sending in false alarms.

Fire Chief C. C. Hesen stated that nine false alarms had been turned in during the past two weeks. Moorefield's fire alarm is activated by dialing Lehigh 2-2300 which trips the siren. The siren continues to sound at five second intervals until a fireman answers the phone, finds where the fire is, writes the address on the blackboard and grabs his equipment. The fire truck departs as soon as a minimum of six men and the driver are aboard, and the other firemen follow in their own cars. Usually the truck is under way within 90 seconds.

Hesen pointed out that the volunteer firemen are businessmen and workers in the town, on call 24 hours each day. They drop their work to go to the assistance of their neighbors whenever the siren sounds. Firemen take risks in their rush to serve the community, and there is danger each time the alarm sounds, he said.

The number dialed to trip the alarm is unlike any other number on the exchange, ruling out the possibility of an error. Firemen have been plagued with false alarm calls frequently during the past six months. As the calls have been coming in on school days after three in the afternoon and before eight in the evening, it is surmised that school children dial the alarm for a thrill. Firemen have asked all parents to keep a close watch on their children.

Fire company officials pointed out that no less than 14 violations to existing statutes and ordinances could be charged against persons willfully turning in false alarms.

The Wardensville-Capon Valley Volunteer Fire Company has been faced with the same problem since the dial system went into service.

MT. Savage

MT. SAVAGE — The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary of St. Patrick's Catholic Church will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the music room of St. Patrick's School. Plans will be made for the annual Christmas party for the pupils of the school.

The Mt. Savage Parent-Teacher Association will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the school. There will be homeroom visitations, followed by a Christmas program presented by the school children. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria by the mothers of the first and second-grade pupils.

Raymond Snyder, USN, has returned to the USS Boxer, Los Angeles, Calif. He was home for 30 days.

Mrs. Pearl King visited her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles King, Willard, Ohio.

Story Hour Planned

FROSTBURG — Misses Diane Meehan and Mary Bolt will conduct a story hour-Saturday from 10:30 until 11:30 a. m. at the Frostburg Public Library. The Christmas theme will be carried out in the stories read to the children.

Four New Workers Join Staff
At Luke Mill Of W. Va. Firm

LUKE — Four new employees joined the staff forces at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company this week.

William A. Armstrong, Berlin, N. H., started work as a project engineer in the expansion construction program; Robert L. Suit, Hyattsville, Md., joined the accounting department as a cost accountant; Robert T. Nagle, Lowell, Mass., started work with the technical services department and Berma Blaine Yerkey, Morgantown, joined the paper mill staff as an operating engineer.

A native of Kinburn, Ontario, Canada, Armstrong came to the Luke mill from the Dunn Paper Company mill at Port Huron, Mich., where he was chief engineer for the past nine months. Prior to that he was employed as plant engineer for the Brown Company's pulp and paper mill at Berlin, N. H., for two and three-quarter years. Previously he had worked for six years for the Aluminum Company of Canada at Arvida, Quebec, as an industrial engineer, production engineer and process development engineer.

Armstrong, who served with the RCAF for five years during World War II, taught high school in Quebec for two years. He has a Bachelor of Arts degree in mathematics and physics, and a Bachelor of Science degree in mechanical engineering, both from Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario. He is a member of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

Mrs. Armstrong and their two children, David, 9, and Susan Ellen, 1, will join him here as soon as housing arrangements are completed.

Suit has Bachelor's and Master's degrees in commercial science from Benjamin Franklin University. He served in the Marine Corps for three and a half years during World War II. Except for the past year when he operated a retail hardware business, Suit was employed for 10 years as a cost accountant by the Stone Paper Tube Company in Washington. Mrs. Suit and their two children, James, 3, and Bruce, 9 months, will join him when housing facilities are located.

Nagle, a 1957 graduate of Lowell Technological Institute, has a Bachelor of Science degree in paper engineering. He worked for the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Savannah, Ga., from March, 1957 to November, and served in the Air Force for 14 months. He is a member of the New England section of the Technological Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Nagle are living at 9 North Grant Street, Frostburg.

Yerkey, a native of Morgantown, Doddridge County, W. Va., attended Potomac State College at Keyser for two years before transferring to West Virginia University.

Areas Set Up
For Coasting
At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — Chief of Police Lloyd Truly said the following streets would be roped off for sled riding from 8 to 10 p. m. daily while the snow lasts. Coasting areas will be set up on Main Street from Pine to Water Streets; Hill Street from College Avenue to the railroad; Green Street from Washington Street to Hanna's Store and the part of First Street that parallels Centennial Street.

He has urged that motorists use extreme caution in driving in the vicinity of any of these streets as many children will be on their way to and from these areas during the time they are roped off.

Chief Truly has also warned motorists that Ordinance 473, forbidding parking after midnight on Main Street from Grant to the western limits; Water Street from Main to Linden Street and Broadway its entire length, will be strictly enforced.

He said that the elimination of parking for the motorists benefit so city street workers are able to plow snow back to the curb line, thus giving full street width on which regular parking may then be done during the day.

If the streets are blocked, this eliminates parking during the day when it is needed.

Beach To Speak

James Beach, president of the Welsh Memorial Baptist Brotherhood, will speak at the 11 a. m. service of Congressional United Church of Christ, Bowery Street Sunday. There will be no service held at 8:30 a. m.

Both senior and junior choirs will take part in the service. Services the following Sunday will be held as usual.

Rev. Fred Zimmerman, pastor, has returned to his home in Cumberland after having been a patient in Mercy Hospital, Baltimore. He was taken ill recently while attending a church meeting in Baltimore.

Visits Parents

KEYSER — Second Lt. Richard Lee Bright visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Bright, State Street. He was enroute on transfer from Fort Bliss, Texas, to Fort Knox, Ky., where he is now stationed. He was accompanied by Second Lt. W. A. McBride, Philadelphia, who was also transferred.

Detroit's Answer To Service Woes

Auto Makers Now Put Emphasis On Quality

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
DETROIT — (NEA) — The 1958 model cars are being built more fully than any automobiles which have come off the production lines since World War II.

This is not because the auto industry is suddenly conscience-stricken about slipshod manufacturing. Mostly it's an attempt to help relieve the serious crisis which has developed in the service end of the industry.

It's also an attempt to reduce the huge cost of paying 100 per cent of warranty adjustments which resulted when the manufacturers assumed all of this expense last year. This cost was formerly shared between dealer and factory.

The crisis in auto service results from the huge car population in the U. S., plus the complexity of the modern automobile. It is estimated that there is a shortage of 70,000 mechanics among U. S. dealers. The average age of all mechanics is more than 40 and the flow of young men into this field is not keeping up with the need.

The shortage of physical facilities for servicing cars is just as acute.

Thus for the first time in many a year the industry is going all out on the theory that if you build the cars better in the first place they will need less servicing.

In fairness to the manufacturers it must be reported that there has always been great effort to produce the best possible cars. The trouble has been, however, that there has been more emphasis on quantity rather than quality of production. The squawks of the dealers and customers over service headaches have now helped to alter this attitude of the manufacturers.

For the past several years Chrysler, Ford and General Motors have attacked the service problem by establishing schools not part of the production system.

"They pick cars at random and give each one the most comprehensive examination you can imagine. Each audit requires a visual or operational check of 1,500 different items. Reports go to each plant manager and other officials. Poor workmanship can be traced back to the man who performed the work."

At Chevrolet they've created 10 "flying control teams" to operate in each region. The teams consist of engineers and production experts operating independently of the regular production staffs. Their mission is the same one being attempted at Ford.

The rest of the divisions of General Motors, and the Chrysler divisions, are instituting similar quality control measures. And early returns from dealers indicate that warranty work is down and service requirements less.

Another factor favoring the production of better cars is the new and modernized plants which have been put into operation this year. This is the result of huge expansion programs started in 1955, allowing each plant to operate on a more relaxed schedule.

All the car manufacturers are also putting pressure on their suppliers to adopt similar methods of quality control. Most suppliers are going along with this effort.

Off His Back
MONTROSE, Colo. (N) — The buckskin shirt that Chief Ouray of the Utes wore at a peace treaty in Washington in 1880 has been returned to the Ute Indian Museum at Montrose.

HELENA, Mont. (N) — No reason on the list applied to Ralph Morgan's excuse for not wanting to serve on a jury, but Judge Lester Lobel excused him anyway. Morgan, just 21, had a date with his draft board.

Candidates Must File By March 10

Prospective candidates for Allegany County offices have been reminded that only a little more than three months remain until the filing deadline arrives.

Prospective candidates for Allegany County offices were reminded yesterday that a little more than three months remains until the filing deadline arrives.

Irvin J. Neat, registrar for the County Board of Election Supervisors, said the deadline is 70 days before the May 20 primary election. All candidates for the primary elections must file on or before midnight, Monday, March 10.

However, prospective new voters may register up to and including Monday, April 21, 30 days before the primary. About the end of February, registrars will begin a tour of county communities to register voters who find it impossible to get to the Court House to register.

The first talking movie was "Don Juan," which Warner Brothers released in 1926. The sound was on synchronized phonograph records.

DAY IN SECRETS

Cumberland's Tommy Mont, University of Maryland football coach, got himself off the "hot seat" this season as his team came up with a 5-6 record for 10 games after their "Johnson Band Aid" year in 1956 when no major football team ever suffered as many injuries in one stretch.

With 1957 now safely behind him, Tommy has gone on another "hot seat" although this one is of his own doing and whether he is right or wrong won't be known until around 5 o'clock on the evening of Saturday, December 28.

The Terps were the only team in the nation this season to play both Texas A-M and Tennessee, the participants in the Gator Bowl to be played at Jacksonville, Fla., on that Saturday. Sorry to say but they were also the only team to be beaten by both clubs.

The Aggies, in the nationally televised opener, had their hands full before finally winning, 21-13, last September. Tennessee eventually won down the Mountain, 16-0, in midseason.

"I'm picking the Aggies in a real light game," Mont said to sports editor Tom Siler of the Knoxville News-Sentinel yesterday in a long-distance telephone interview.

Mont said he gave the edge to the Texans because coach Paul "Bear" Bryant would have a month in which to set up a defense for Tennessee's single-wing attack.

"That gives the boys plenty of time to get acquainted with the single wing, forget about the split-T defense they've been using, and concentrate on the Tennessee system," the Maryland coach continued. "This extra time, I think, explains why the Vols have never done too well in bowl games."

Tennessee's record in bowl contests is three victories and seven losses. One of the defeats was by the powerful Terrapin team of Jim Tatum in 1952 when they ran all over the No. 1 ranked Vols, 28-13, in the Sugar Bowl.

In comparing the two teams, Mont gave Tennessee the edge in kicking and reserve players. He said he thought the Aggies had better reserve backs.

"The Aggies haven't got anybody who can kick with Bobby Gordon," Mont said. "Who has? But their kicking isn't bad. They punt the ball 30 or 35 yards very high and, of course, cover it well."

By the way, the Terps had the distinction of meeting another bowl participant this fall—Duke's Blue Devils who represent the Atlantic Coast Conference in the Orange Bowl against Oklahoma. Maryland was a 14-0 victim of Duke.

Sports Spatterings

Two cagers who will be seen in action here during the season have been tabbed by Street and Smith's pre-season basketball publication as potential High School All-Americans for the coming school year.

Topping the list from Maryland, as the issue covers all the states in the nation, is the "big man" of the Valley High State Class B champions—six-foot, three-inch George Lauder. . . . George, only a junior, caught the eye of several college scouts when he helped the Black Knights retain their state honors last March in the tournament at the University of Maryland. . . . A solidly-built 230-pounder, George amazes almost everyone with his cat-like reflexes and shooting accuracy. . . . Another floor artist who was also instrumental in helping his team to state supremacy at that time was guard Donnie Keller of Frederick as Homer Brooks' Cadets walked away with their first state Class A championship. . . . The younger Keller, brother of Charlie and son of the former New York Yankee great Charlie "King Kong" Keller, was overshadowed then by his more famous brother who was graduated last spring. . . . Donnie, one of the scrappiest cagers in the state and also an excellent shooter, is a senior now and will be the key player for the Cadets. . . . He was labbed for future honors although being listed with the District of Columbia players by the magazine. . . . Keller will make his first appearance here a week from tomorrow evening when the Cadets play Allegany. . . . Lauder will be here tomorrow evening as Knights face LaSalle at SS. Peter and Paul gym in the opener for both quints. . . . Jim Doremur, little sparkplug of last year's Allegany quint, made an impressive debut with Western Maryland College Tuesday night. . . . Jim tallied five pointers for coach Dick Clower's hoopers in a reserve role as they whipped an Alumni five, 35-53, getting his points on a pair of field goals and one of two tosses from the free-throw line. . . . The Green Terrors open their season tomorrow night against Catholic University in Washington. . . . When the pro football teams hold their annual draft, the names of West Virginia University gridgers are

Minors Expected To Ask Repeal Bonus Rule

Majors After Problem Of Franchise In New York

By HOWARD SIGMAND
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—(INS)—The minor leagues were expected to vote to repeal the bonus rule today and the majors began meetings to determine what to do about the territorial rights to the one-team New York area.

Momentous legislation and the launching of a major league battle were billed on two fronts in the action-packed baseball convention.

The minors held court at the Antlers Hotel to vote on a total of 34 amendments, headed by proposals to kill the controversial bonus regulation and motions to revise the draft system and "free the slaves."

'Bash' Question In NYC
At the same time, four miles away at the plush and sprawling Broadmoor Hotel, the National and American League club owners got together in separate sessions and their main concern was big and blase New York and how to prevent it from going "bush" now that the Giants and Dodgers have moved West.

The New York area, with its vast population, was left with one team, the Yankees, and one league, the American, when the Messrs. Stoneham and O'Malley decided to seek West Coast gold in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

At the time of their defection, commissioner Ford Frick let it be universally known that he opposes allowing the New York area to remain a one-team territory.

The American League has passed a resolution which would allow the N. Y. to function in only one borough of the city—Brooklyn—and the National League must now revise its constitution to provide for franchises in both Brooklyn and the borough of Queens.

Queens Only Site

An inter-league battle is expected because Queens appears to be the only site—if and when—another major league franchise ever is set up in New York City.

Commissioner Frick holds the key. If the two leagues are deadlocked when they meet in joint session Saturday, the commissioner has the tie-breaking vote.

Another headache faced the major leaguers. A committee of seven minor league presidents, headed by Frank Shaughnessy of the International League, was to call on the big league big-wigs to protest against over television.

The minors are up in arms over plans to nationally televise a "Game of the Week" on Sundays next season. Presently, the majors already have such a game videoed into minor league territory on Saturday and the minors view the new move as a crushing double play.

Shaughnessy's league voted unanimously to take the matter to court and commissioner Frick said he agreed with the minors that the TV plan is "a bad thing" but that his hands are tied due to warnings from the Justice Department.

World Kill Bonus Rule

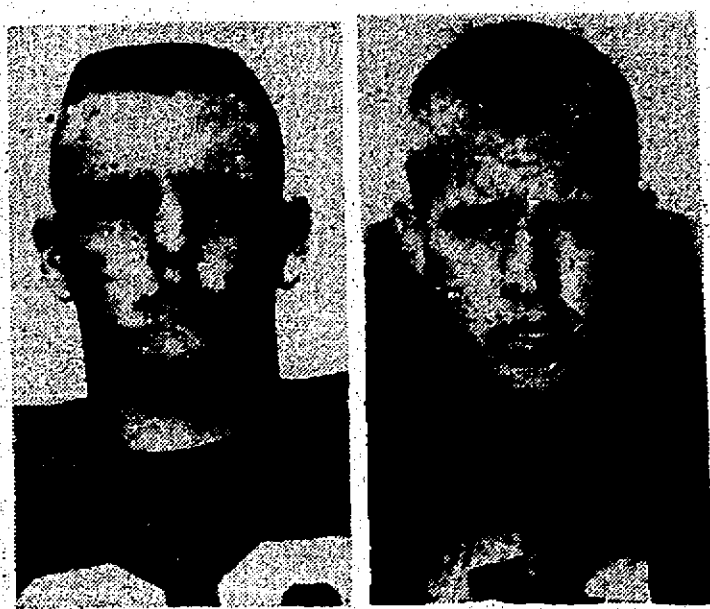

In a move to prevent anti-trust legislation against baseball, Frick and the major-minor executive council submitted to the National Association a proposal calling for the unrestricted draft of four year players. This proposal would kill the bonus rule, which provides that players who receive more than $4,000 for signing with a big league club must be kept by that club—without being sent to the minors—for two years.

Another amendment calls for making all minor league players subject to draft after their first year in organized ball.

All legislation passed by the minors must be approved by the joint session of the majors Saturday before becoming baseball law.

The majors also had on their agenda a list of player demands and it appeared certain that the main one—to raise the minimum salary from $6,000 to $7,000—was to be granted.

The players' representatives met with the club executives and the commissioner yesterday and also expressed a desire to see the present bonus rule scrapped.

ROD BREEDLOVE GENE ALDERTON

Alderton And Breedlove All-American Mentions

By BOB HOOBING
NEW YORK (AP)—A halfback whose first field goal attempt made history, a "comeback" tackle and a senior giant making his varsity debut at center today were named to the 1957 Associated Press All America football team.

North Carolina State's Dick Christy is the electrifying runner whose 45-yard boot climaxed a record 29-point finish to his brilliant year and clinched the Wolfpack's first Atlantic Coast Conference championship.

Quarterback King Hill of Rice, bonus pick of the National Football League, Texas A&M's massive John Crow and elusive Jimmy Pace of Michigan complete the backfield.

Rated by Coach Forest Evashevsky as a "dismal flop" as a sophomore, Iowa tackle Alex Karras has become one of the finest linemen in recent years. The 233-pounder from Gary, Ind., is the lone repeater from 1956.

Dan Currie of Michigan State was asked to plug a gap at center after two years as guard. The 6-3, 225-pounder had did it so effectively he was ranked No. 1 player in the area by the Midwest board.

The remainder of the line includes Jimmy (Big Red) Phillips of Auburn's national titlists and Dick Wallen of UCLA at ends, rugged Lou Michaels of Kentucky at the other tackle with Ohio State's Aurelius Thomas and Oklahoma's Bill Krisher manning the guard spots.

Dozen Regional Boards

The team was selected on recommendations from 12 regional boards.

Hill and Crow represent the only paired backfield men from the Southwest Conference on the All America with the exception of the two-platoon year of 1951.

A 205-pound handyman from Freeport, Tex., Hill ran, passed, kicked and was outstanding defensively. Crow is a gifted 214-pounder from Springhill, La., who constantly amazed opponents with his speed, power and ability to make the big defensive play.

The 180-pound Christy set an ACC scoring record in "his" 29-26 victory over South Carolina fashioned on the field goal after time had run out. The Chester, Pa., flash couldn't be stopped. He rushed 626 yards, caught 10 passes for 211, returned kicks 363 and tallied 83 points.

Pace Edges Kowalczyk

Pace, picked by an eyelash over Michigan State's Walt Kowalczyk, is the Big Ten's leading scorer and ground gainer. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan calls Pace "Michigan's best running back since Tommy Harmon and Elroy Hirsch."

Kowalczyk, Bob Anderson of Army, Bob Stransky of Colorado and Lee Grosscup of Utah comprise the second-team backfield.

Shoot Set Sunday

The Barrelville Outdoor Club will hold a shooting match Sunday, 1 p. m., with prizes being dressed turkeys and hams. Only 12-gauge guns are permissible.

Potomac Five Wins Second, Rips Senators

Again exhibiting hot shooting, Potomac State College ran up its second basketball victory in as many starts with a 99-79 victory over Davis & Elkins last night at Keyser in the West Virginia Inter-collegiate Conference opener for the Catamounts. Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's charges had beaten Altoona (Pa.) Center, 92-76, in their opener Monday night.

Three cagers, Tom Allen, Bob Bordeaux and George Eicher, led the 38-goal assault by accounting for 57 points. Allen was the top scorer with nine goals and 21 points while Bordeaux followed with 19 and Eicher finished with 17.

Dick Moench and Dick Niblett were high for the Senators with Moench taking the evening's top honors on 29 points while Niblett finished with 15.

The Senators, who were opening their season and braved a heavy snow to make the trip, took an early lead at 9-6 but soon lost the advantage to the Cats and never were able to catch up. The Potomac quint was in front, 43-30, at the half.

Potomac State hit on 43 percent of its shots, registering its 23 goals on 53 shots. Davis & Elkins had 28 find the mark for 76 attempts. Both teams had 23 free throws in 40 shots.

Senators, Tribe In Huddle, May Make Five-Player Deal

By HOWARD SIGMAND
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—(INS)—Frank Lane was in action at the many trading wheels in Colorado Springs today and the Cleveland general manager reportedly was all set to complete his second deal, a five-player swap with the Washington Senators.

Lane, attempting to live up to his promise that there will be changes made in Cleveland, was said to be giving the Senators first baseman Joe Altobelli, infielder Larry Raines and left-hander Hank Aguirre for infielder Pete Runnels and left-hander Bob Wiesler.

Slays In Running
The three-for-two deal wasn't as big as the four-man exchange he made with the Chicago White Sox yesterday, but it would keep him in the running—along with Chicago's Chuck Comiskey, John Rigney and Al Lopez—for the champion trader title at the winter baseball meetings.

In the first move, Lane sent righthander Early Wynn and left fielder-third baseman Al Smith to the White Sox for left fielder Minnie Mino and infielder Freddy Hatfield.

This was Chicago's second transaction in two days. Earlier, the pennant runnersup made a six-man swap with Baltimore in which they gave the Birds Larry Doby. The Orioles remained in action last night when they sold 35-year-old southpaw pitcher Bill Wright to the Cincinnati Redlegs.

With Mino and Doby gone from the Chicago scene manager Lopez apparently is left without any big RBI guns in his outfield.

Lopez figures to have an outfield of Smith in left, Jim Landis in center and Tito Francona (acquired in the Oriole trade) in right.

It's a younger trio than the one which featured the 35-year-old Mino and the 33-year-old Doby last season, but Mino hit .310 and drove in 103 runs and Doby hit .288 and drove in 79.

Fail To Land Boone

The White Sox apparently failed in an attempt to make a three-way trade with the Tigers and Senators to get Detroit's slugging Ray Boone.

Nevertheless, Lane, Lopez and most baseball men agreed that both parties got some value out of the trade.

Yankee manager Casey Stengel, interested observer, noted: "Lopez must know what he's doing. He had both Smith and Wynn at Cleveland and he must think they can help his club."

Some parties insisted that the 37-year-old Wynn, who suffered

Tall Carolina Has Starting 6-5 Lineup

By The Associated Press

When North Carolina Coach Frank McGuire trots out this year's edition of the nation's No. 1 basketball team last year against Clemson on Saturday, a lot of folks—including many players—will have to look up.

McGuire's probable starting lineup averages 6-5, the average considerably shortened by the Tar Heels' good little man, Tommy Kearns, a 5-11 senior.

Other probable starters are seniors Pete Brennan (6-6) and Bob Cunningham (6-4) and sophomores Lee Shaffer (6-7) and Dick Kepley (6-9).

Reserves Also Tall

"My plan is to leave Kearns and Cunningham in the back court and use Brennan, Shaffer and Kepley up front," McGuire said.

Two of his top reserves are Danny Lotz (6-7) and Ray Stanley (6-4).

The pressure will be on the Tar Heels, who won 32 games without a loss last year, paced by All-American Lennie Rosenbluth. Rosenbluth was the only departing starter from the championship team, but during a practice scrimmage Nov. 7 veteran Joe Quigg (6-9) suffered a broken leg.

Last To Open

"Losing Rosenbluth was a tremendous blow," said McGuire, "but we were prepared for that. If we failed just because we lost Rosenbluth, it would be my fault for not having a man to move into his place."

"But when you lose a player like Quigg at the last minute, when you have counted on him all along . . . well, that's a different matter."

North Carolina will be the last of the eight Atlantic Coast Conference teams to open the season. Duke, North Carolina State, South Carolina, Virginia and Wake Forest started Monday night. All were idle last night, but Clemson and Maryland opened last night.

Terp Wrestlers Open Tomorrow

COLLEGE PARK—Maryland's varsity wrestling squad opens the 1957-58 season with Wake Forest at Winston Salem tomorrow and follow up with North Carolina State Saturday at Raleigh.

The first home meet will be with North Carolina on Dec. 14, giving the Terps three ACC meets before taking on tough Pitt.

The 57-58 schedule will give local fans a look at some of the best collegiate wrestlers in the country. Schedule:

Dec. 6 Wake Forest at Winston Salem
7 North Carolina State—Raleigh
14 North Carolina—College Park
Jan. 11 Pittsburgh—College Park
18 Navy—College Park
15 Virginia—Charlottesville
17 VPI—Blacksburg
Feb. 22 Penn State—College Park

Kansas, Kentucky Break From Barriers In Hurry

'K' Quintets Bag Second Wins, 'Stilt' Tallies 32

By REN OLAN
The Associated Press

Kansas and Kentucky, each tabbed a strong contender for North Carolina's national collegiate basketball championship, have broken from the barrier in a hurry.

So has Wilt (the Stilt) Chamberlain, the Jayhawk's amazing marksman.

Wilt Tallies 32 Points

Both "K" teams hung up their second victories of the infant campaign last night. The Jayhawks rode over Canisius 66-46 as Chamberlain poured in 32 points and Kentucky nipped highly-rated Ohio State, 61-34.

Pittsburgh also scored impressively, 72-62 over Michigan, and tiny St. Norbert College upset supposedly-loaded Marquette 49-47.

Kansas, which whipped Oklahoma State Monday night, led 28-24 at halftime. But with Chamberlain catching fire with 20 points, the Jayhawks crushed Canisius in the second half. Wilt the Stilt's output have him a 62-point total for the year.

Hutton Snaps Deadlock

Ohio State's Buckeyes are rated tops in the Big 10, along with Michigan State and Indiana, and they showed the Wildcats why. They managed to deadlock the game at 39-39 in the second half, but Vern Hutton's jump shot snapped the deadlock and the Wildcats led the rest of the way.

Don Hennen, Pitt's 5-8 scoring ace, paced the Panthers to their triumphs collecting 26 points on eight field goals and 10 free throws in a rough game that saw three players from each team sidelined on fouls.

Terps Real GW

Marquette's loss was its second in two starts through Coach Jack Nagle has described the team as his best since 1954-1955. That one put together a 24-3 record.

Still, their opponents from De Pere, Wis., had the answer in ball-control strategy.

Elsewhere, Clemson, which will touch off North Carolina's campaign Saturday night, bowed to Georgia's Bulldogs 62-60.

Maryland, a strong Atlantic Coast Conference team, opened its season by turning back George Washington 64-55.

Wheeling Given 102 Racing Days

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The State Racing Commission assigned dates yesterday for 193 days of horse racing next year at two of West Virginia's three tracks.

Wheeling Downs was assigned 102 days, 12 more than it had this year but seven less than it had asked for in its latest application for 1958.

Dates assigned to Wheeling Downs are April 12-May 31 (43 days), July 28-Sept. 6 (35 days), and Nov. 3-29, except Thanksgiving (23 days).

The commission assigned 96 racing days to Waterford Park near Chester. This is 10 more days than Waterford had this year but 10 less than it had requested for 1958.

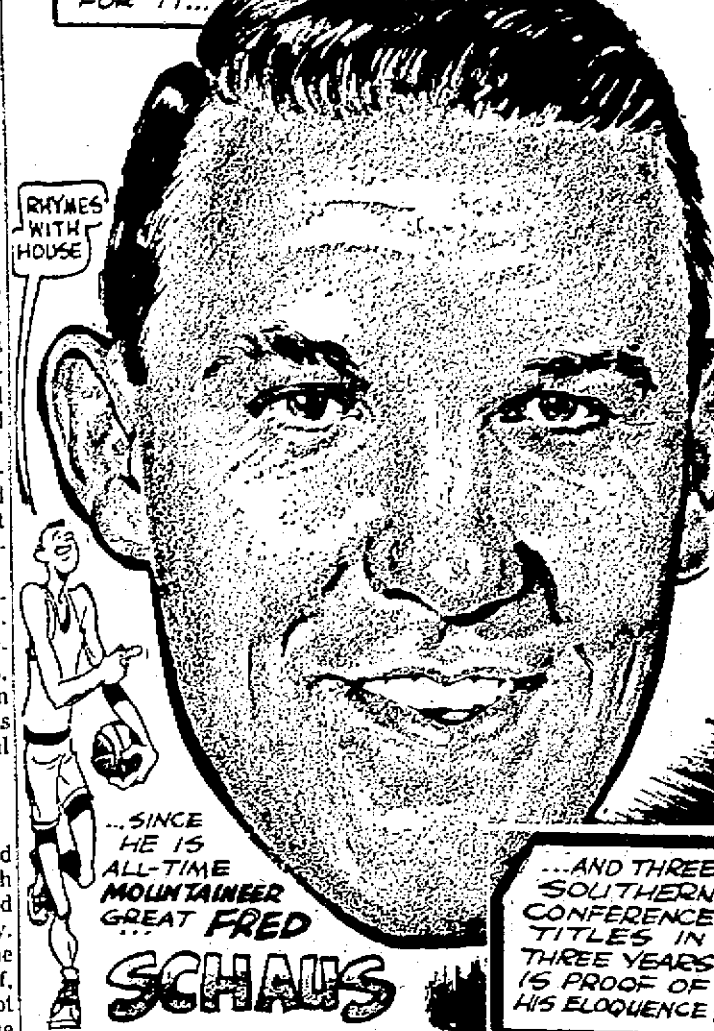

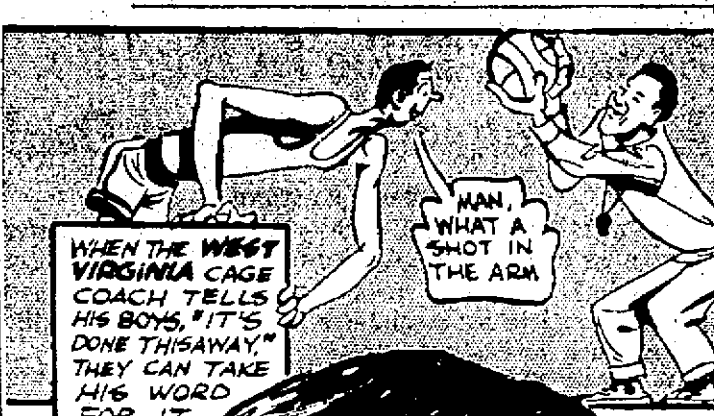

Waterford's dates, providing 48 days for each of two meetings, are June 2-July 26 and Sept. 8-Nov. 1.

The commission has received no application for 1958 dates from Charles Town. Its principal owner, A. J. Royle, died last month. It was explained that there would be no problem if Charles Town later applies for dates which conflict with those assigned Waterford and Wheeling Downs.

Dodgers Must Sell LA Voters Idea On Projected Stadium

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—The only way now the Dodgers can get Chavez Ravine as the site for a projected $10,000,000 baseball stadium is to sell the idea to Los Angeles voters.

Opponents of a land deal between the city and Walter O'Malley succeeded yesterday in forcing the issue to a referendum vote.

City clerk Walter C. Peterson, after a week of checking, confirmed that an initiative petition circulated by the deal's foes contained more than the 53,226 valid names required to force an election on the matter.

Probably Vote On June 3
It probably will be put on the municipal election ballot next June 3.

Voters will be given a choice of approving or rejecting a city council-adopted ordinance trading 300 acres of city-owned land in Chavez Ravine for Wrigley Field, the Los Angeles ball park owned by the Dodgers.

Opponents of the trade have denounced it as a give-away. They claim that the ravine land is worth far more than Wrigley Field.

Big Asset To City
Those in favor of it point out that the ravine land has lain, unused, for scores of years and that the stadium O'Malley plans to build will put the property on the tax rolls and will be a big asset to the city, apart from its tax-yielding value.

One newspaper reported that "a source close to the Dodgers' front office" said that if the voters turned down the ravine deal it may force the club "to eat crow and remain in Brooklyn."

However, another source close to the situation said there wasn't the slightest chance of the Dodgers returning to Brooklyn.

It said that if the ravine is voted down, the Dodgers will play either at Wrigley Field or the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Bobby Newman Offense Leader

NEW YORK (AP)—Quarterback Bobby Newman of Washington State captured major college football's total offense championship in 1957 by a scant 19 yards—the smallest title-winning margin in 18 years.

The 21-year-old junior passed and ran for 1,444 yards (1,391 and 53) in 10 games to edge runnerup Bill Austin of Rutgers. Final statistics released by the NCAA Service Bureau today showed that Austin accounted for 1,425 yards in nine games.

Hardin-Simmons' Ken Ford finished with a flurry to emerge as the leading passer with 115 completions, 11 more than Newman. Stuart Vaughan of Utah caught 53 aerials to wind up as the leading pass receiver.

Longden May Return To Racing By Feb. 1
LOS ANGELES (INS)—Johnny Longden, the world's winningest jockey, expects to be over the effects of a leg fracture in time to get back in the saddle by Feb. 1.

Longden said yesterday that the cast was removed from his right leg last week. It was fractured when Royal Zaca smashed him against the starting gate at Del Mar.

After the first of the year he hopes to get into training to add more victories to his record total of 5,090.

Dixie League 'Darkhorses' Open Tonight

By The Associated Press

Virginia Tech's Gobblers and Richmond's Spiders, a couple of potential darkhorses in the Southern Conference basketball race, open their collegiate campaigns tonight in a family fuss that may give some indication whether either will be a challenger to West Virginia's Mountaineers.

Richmond will have the advantage of two exhibition games against the powerful Phillips Oilers, both of which the Spiders lost by 17-point margins. Tech will have the advantage of playing on its home court.

Talented Veterans Back

Both squads have several talented veterans on hand and both are anxious to see how well highly touted freshman prospects will do.

Richmond veterans include Roy Peschel, Butch Lambiotte and Larry Rauppius, the Spiders' No. 2, 3 and 4 pointmakers last season. Tech has exactly the same scorers back in Terry Penn, Dave Kuhn and Larry Hemmings.

The Spiders' yearlings are 6-10 Terry Litchfield and 6-9 Jerry Sklar. Tech has a sophomore transfer, 6-5 Duke Rice, and four top freshmen—6-4 Bob Ayersman, 6-5 Chris Smith, 6-4 Dean Blake and 6-2 Earl Gilbert.

Victories Deadlock Race

The winner will move into a temporary tie with West Virginia, which opened the conference campaign Tuesday night with an overwhelming 109-50 victory over Virginia Military Institute.

Other games tonight, all non-conference, have Davidson visiting College of Charleston, VMI playing host to Hampden-Sydney and Washington & Lee at home against Randolph-Macon.

Two conference teams took on non-league foes last night and lost, manpower-rich William & Mary bowing to Penn 86-70 and George Washington losing to Maryland 64-55.

Falcons, Hawks Score Shutouts In Pistol Action

By The Associated Press

Falcons and Hawks shot double victories in the Western Maryland Pistol League with Eagles and Owls suffering the twin setbacks.

Pacing Falcons, in the 30-shot gallery course, were led by Jack Livengood's 275 while Leo Leasure had a 256 for Eagles. Norm White was tops for Hawks with 273 while John "Colt" Cook had 235 for Owls.

The 20-shots timed fire saw Livengood again leading Falcons with 190 while Neal Sears' 163 was high for Owls. Norm White again showed the way for Hawks with 182 and "Dead-Eye" Leasure was the big shot for Eagles with 185. Summary:

Aragon Seeks Restoration Ring License

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Art Aragon, once known as the ring's "Golden Boy," planned today to seek restoration of his boxer's license after a bribery charge against him was dismissed.

The bribery charge, for which Aragon was sentenced to five years in prison, was dismissed in superior court yesterday "in the interests of justice."

The dismissal motion was made by district attorney William B. McKesson, who was faced with the choice of either dropping the charge or prosecuting Aragon again.

The district court of appeals reversed the fighter's conviction of last February and ordered a new trial for him. It called his conviction "a miscarriage of justice."

Aragon was convicted of offering Dick Goldstein $500 to "take a dive" in a bout they were to have fought, but never did, in San Antonio, Texas.

Lakers Fade In Cage Race

By The Associated Press

It looks like a long, cold winter for the fast-fading Minneapolis Lakers.

Minneapolis dropped deeper in the Western Division cellar last night as the sizzling Boston Celtics rallied in the final period to hand the Lakers a 103-98 setback in the only game played.

A doubleheader at Philadelphia involving Detroit against Cincinnati and St. Louis against Philadelphia was postponed until tonight because of a snowstorm.

The Lakers have lost 10 of their last 11 games and have won but three of 20 starts overall. The Celtics, running away with the Eastern Division race, own a 17-2 won-lost mark.

Dupas Bout May Be Next As Brown Retains Crown

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO—(AP)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown, fresh from blasting aside game but overmatched Joey Lopes, is poised for a probable February title defense against Ralph Dupas at Houston, Tex.

Brown last night scored an 11th-round technical knockout of Lopes in a televised championship bout that was more uneven than it may have looked.

Lopes' Boom In 11th
On points, Lopes was still very much in the fight until the champion lowered the boom in 1:50 of the 11th round, but actually Brown was toying with the 4-1 underdog virtually from the start.

Brown fought a retreating fight in the early rounds, but scarcely used a right-hand punch. In the seventh, the champion exploded a right to the chin which floored Lopes for a count of four.

Wanders 'n Daze
The fight really was over right then. Lopes fought back gamely, but in the 10th round, the scrapper from Sacramento, Calif., wandered in a daze to Brown's corner and sat on the champion's stool.

In the 11th, Brown came out for the kill. A square right shot to the jaw dumped Lopes, who took a three-count. Lopes righted himself, only to run into another explosive right to the chin which dropped him again. Lopes struggled to his feet once more. Brown savagely belted him and Referee Joey White flew between the two to signal a TKO and save Lopes from possible serious injury.

Seixas, Flam In Easy Wins

By The Associated Press

ADELAIDE, Australia—America's Vic Seixas and Herbie Flam swept to easy straight set victories over the top tennis aces of the Philippines today to send the United States into a 2-0 lead in the Interzone Davis Cup Final.

First the 34-year-old Seixas of Philadelphia, in razorsharp form, erased Tony Felicissimo Ampo, Philippine giant killer, in a match that took only 53 minutes, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

Then Flam, bespectacled, bow-legged ballhawk from Beverly Hills, Calif., attempted to match the time schedule, but failed by three minutes as he crushed Philippine champion Raymond Deyro 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

The winners had a 10-4 edge in the first quarter then moved on to 20-8, at the intermission. LaVale tallied 12 markers in the third quarter but was behind, 30-20, going into the last period.

Hersberger led the winners with 28 points on 12 field goals and four free throws. McCrea netted nine for the losers.

The other scheduled contest between McKendree Methodist and Salvation Army Citadel was postponed until December 23, 5:55 p. m., at the "Y."

Scandal Gone, LIU Returns To Cage Game

By JOHN BARRINGTON
INS Sports Editor
NEW YORK (INS) — It has been not quite seven years since Long Island University's varsity basketball team was, as the school publicist delicately puts it, "disbanded abruptly" in midseason.

LIU, which had been one of the ranking teams in the nation, was rocked hard by the series of point-shaving disclosures that made up the basketball scandals of 1951.

Different Reactions
The schools involved in the scandals reacted in different ways. Some continued high-time basketball as if nothing had happened. Others, like City College of New York, whose players were among those most deeply implicated, scaled down their operation from major to minor league.

At LIU, the decision was to drop basketball altogether.

Now, however, the Blackbirds (a pre-1951 nickname with no reference to the scandals) are trying their wings again. Last year, they played a freshman schedule. This season, basketball is a varsity sport again, but with a vast difference.

Gone are such erstwhile powerhouse opponents as Kansas State, UCLA, Idaho, Bowling Green, St. Louis, Duquesne, San Francisco, California and Arizona.

The current 17-game slate includes names like Pace; Yeshiva; Quinnipiac; Monmouth; Adelphi; Wittenberg; Fairleigh Dickinson; New Haven State, Bridgeport and Hunter.

Gone, too, are the evidences of recruiting that brought players from all over the nation to the Long Island campus. Now, only one is as far away as Jersey City.

YMCA New Home
The Blackbirds' new look doesn't include Madison Square Garden, either, needless to say. A Brooklyn YMCA is "home" now.

CCNY, without abandoning the sport, has been playing the same type of schedule LIU is embarking upon. Monday night, the Beavers started the new season with a mild upset by defeating Columbia, 76 to 70.

An observer described the CCNY personnel as composed of "the neat little ballhandlers from the second division high school teams and the broad-beamed big fellows who try to make up in hustle and heft what they lack in mobility."

City coach Dave Polansky also gets a third type — the boy who never played high school basketball but can develop into a fair sort of player by the time he is a senior. Right now, he has a 5'5" Jamaican, Hector Lewis, who is a green pea at the game but has enough natural athletic ability to give Polansky high hopes.

The glory may have departed for schools like CCNY and LIU, but the way they're playing basketball nowadays ought to be a lot more satisfying than in the old days.

Unitas, From Sandlots, Contender For Jim Thorpe Trophy Award

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — "Everything," Frank Gifford spreads his palms, "began with the trophy . . . the movie offers, the endorsements."

The handsome New York Giant halfback was describing what it meant to him to receive the Jim Thorpe Trophy as the outstanding player of the National Football League in 1956.

This was the material reward. "Means Everything" was recognition he esteemed the most — the vote of the players of the National Football League that he was their best.

"You're chosen by your own guys," says Gifford, "and that means everything." Ballots are again in the hands of the same guys, every player in the National Football League. The winner of the third annual Jim Thorpe Trophy, presented by A. G. Spalding Bros., will be announced Dec. 16 exclusively by NEA Service in the Evening Times.

Rounding out another strong campaign as a running and passing threat for the Giants, Gifford is again a heavy contender for the professional game's original most valuable player prize.

A quartet of quarterbacks, however, is prominent in the scramble for votes. Their momentary leader is John Unitas, phenomenal pitcher of the Baltimore Colts, who two falls ago was picking pebbles out of his pants on Pittsburgh sandlots; a Steeler reject who nudged his way onto the Colt roster and this year has thrown 22 touchdown passes, or nine more than any other man in the league.

Bobby Layne, continuing the fine comeback he instigated in 1956, has kept the Detroit Lions in contention with his clutch throwing and booting. Two 10-year veterans, Charley Conerly of the Giants and Y. A. Tittle of the San Francisco 49ers, are having remarkable seasons.

Title probably best embodies all the tools of a T-quarterback — smart signal caller, superb fader, adept thrower and dangerous runner.

Conerly, who admits to 36, has been carrying the Giant load all alone this year. Since standing Don Heinrich broke his thumb in an early game. There isn't a better arm among the pros.

Brown, O'Connell Cited
Any voting must take into account the Cleveland pair of Tommy O'Connell and Jim Brown, an improbably updated version of the Otto Graham-Marion Motley combine that used to terrorize the pros. Brown is the recruit who played halfback in college and has become the leading fullback in the game. O'Connell is a Chicago Bear reject snubbed by other clubs.

Undeniably, the offensive stars have all the best of it when it comes to picking up individual honors.

Unitas, from sandlots, is a contender for the trophy. He is a running and passing threat for the Giants.

Bryant Seen As Bear Not Hibernating

By BILL CORUM
MIAMI — (INS) — Some bears hibernate. But not Bear Bryant, the football coach. He's a fiddle-footed "bear" on a hot tin roof.

Indeed, he travels so fast and furiously from one college to the next that he may wake up some bright autumn morning and find he's run out of colleges.

Not been run out of them, please mark the difference. To the best of my knowledge, Bryant never has been asked to leave any college where he coached. And certainly not because he had losing teams. Almost without exception he has had winning teams. But he never stays.

In the years since this column first heard of him as a coach, Paul has carried his football bag of tricks from Tennessee (Vanderbilt) to Maryland, Kentucky, Texas, (Texas A&M) and now Alabama.

"The Other End"
It was at Alabama, in his playing days, that Bryant played end as a spectator. At his alma mater in dear old Tuscaloosa, where the Mel Allens speak only to their sponsors, Bear was the only anonymous All-American in football history.

On one of coach Frank Thomas' greatest Alabama teams, Bryant played the other end from the fellow with the magnets in his fingers, and both thumbs, Don Hutson, thereby gaining a somewhat dubious football immortality as "the other end."

It may be that his return to alma mater is marked with a desire to be remembered there by name and not as a number on the football program.

Liked in Kentucky
My first meeting with the Kentucky was here of football, when he was coaching at Kentucky. It was an acquaintance ship only, and brief. But I liked him. So did all the Kentucky gridiron fans, and their name is legion.

Bryant, of course, wasn't coaching at Kentucky this season. He was down at College Station, Texas, making a strong bid to lead Texas A&M to the mythical national title.

True, the photo-finish camera caught up with him right on the winning pole. But he had come through with a big season for the Aggies, while still learning to wear a tangle-white hat.

At Texas A&M, the cheering section, known as "The Twelfth Man," stands throughout all games. This gives them a big advantage. They can get to the goalposts quickly in case of victory, or retreat with equal facility.

"The Twelfth Man" at College Station must still have been soaking "his" bunsions, when he looked up to find that the "Ol' Bar" was gone.

With a rolling gait but deceptive speed, he was Alabama bound.

Navy May Be Ready To Quit Bowls After Clash With Rice

By HERB THOMPSON
ANNAPOLIS, Md. — (AP) — As the football coaches mapped plans today for Navy's second bowl appearance in four years, Naval Academy brass attempted to dispel any notion that the Navy has gone "bowl crazy."

Capt. Slade Cutter, director of athletics, said he thought it would be "a good many years" — as a matter of policy — before the middies accept another post-season bid following their Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl game with Rice.

Should Be Shelved
Rear Adm. William R. Smedberg, academy superintendent, said he too thought the bowl matter should be shelved, at least for a few years. He said, however, he thinks Navy should leave itself open for consideration "from time to time . . . when we have an exceptionally good football team."

Navy departed from a 30-year stand in 1954 to accept a bid to play Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl. Its 21-0 victory spurred recruiting and brought the academy wide publicity.

There has been no let-up in bowl talk about each academy football team since then.

Meet Qualifications
To avoid the confusion and bitterness which followed this talk in 1955 and 1956 players were told they could go to a bowl this year if they had a good season and beat Army. They met the qualifications with a 14-0 victory over Army last Saturday and an 8-1-1 season record.

Since then the academy has received some letters accusing it of being bowl conscious and emphasizing football to the detriment of studies and its officer training program.

Adm. Smedberg and Capt. Cutter are seeking to dispel any such notions. Both admit that extending the football season is distracting to the academy program but say this year is a special case. Although they haven't cited it, Navy needs the extra revenue, estimated at about $100,000, for its drive to build a new football stadium with privately raised funds.

Smedberg Explains Stand
Adm. Smedberg puts it another way: "I would really be happy if we never played a bowl game."

"But from time to time it may be worth while to set back this process a little bit because of the good will that can accrue to the Navy."

"But we wouldn't want it to become an established procedure that we would go to a bowl every year or every few years we have a good team."

The game against Rice will be played during the midshipmen's Christmas leave period. Coach Ed Erdelatz yesterday announced Calgary, Canada.

Terps Defeat GW, Guarilia Registers 32

By The Associated Press
Maryland opened its basketball season last night with a 64-55 victory over George Washington, paced by the ball-hawking of Tom Young and the 15-point accuracy of Al Bunge and John Nacinick.

Clemson did not fare so well as its Atlantic Coast Conference mate, dropping its opening game to Georgia, 72-60.

Only ACC Action
The Clemson and Maryland games were the only action on the ACC's basketball schedule last night. Tonight's lone contest sends North Carolina State to Wake Forest.

George Washington held the lead for the first two minutes, until Bunge tied it up with a hook shot and Maryland took over, never to be headed. Young grabbed seven rebounds, handled key passes on many of Maryland's goals and dropped in 10 points himself.

Guarilia Paces GW
GW's Gene Guarilia led his Southern Conference team with 22 points.

Tonight's N. C. State-Wake Forest game is the first all-ACC contest of the young season.

Cards, Reds Seen In Multiple Deal

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Redlegs will complete a multiple trade today, the Associated Press learned.

The trade will bring at least two pitchers to the Reds in exchange for some hitting power.

One of the players to come to the Cardinals will be a catcher. The deal involves at least four players but the Associated Press was not at liberty to reveal their identity.

Three Tie For Third In Hockey League

By International News Service
A three-way tie for third place existed in the National Hockey League today as a result of Chicago's 2-0 victory over the New York Rangers.

The Black Hawks tied Boston and Toronto for third behind Montreal and New York when Elmer Vasko opened the game last night with a goal in the first 45 seconds. Ed Litzenberger added another score in the third period.

The league-leading Canadiens fought a scoreless deadlock with Toronto in the only other game played.

Cigar Bowl Game Cancelled This Year
TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cigar Bowl Committee cancelled plans yesterday to hold a football bowl game here this year.

"We have called off this year's game because we were unable to attract two major college eleven and we didn't want to put on a game with small college teams," Morton Annis, head of the group, said.

'Come To Me' Heavy, Says Jack O'Brien

Reports "You Can't Win" Too Trite And Farcial Show

By JACK O'BRIEN

NEW YORK — (INS) — Kraft Theatre's "Come To Me" was standard TV dastardliness, directed and acted too heavily in the early American ten-twenty-third style.

Margaret O'Brien's role frankly submerged all her prettiness. It was written by Peter Land Hayes and his gag writer, Bob Crean; the latter has written far better TV dramas.

U. S. Steel's "You Can't Win" certainly couldn't with so trite and shallow a farcical script.

Bert Lahr contributed his comic genius, but this bout with the ancient and obvious couldn't even be helped much by Lahr's long-asserted stature.

Two other expert comedienne, Doro Merande and Margaret Hamilton, were trapped, too.

This one was contrived by Robert Emmett, who also contrived to act in the play (as Bert Lahr's pal).

Jane Morgan signed for "The Big Record" Feb. 26, and then, on to the Persian room!

Jonathan Winters of the Paar hilarities may star in a Bdw. musical version of "That's My Boy," in the Eddie Mayhoffer role.

Jack Paar signed Chanteuse Genevieve as a twice-a-week "regular."

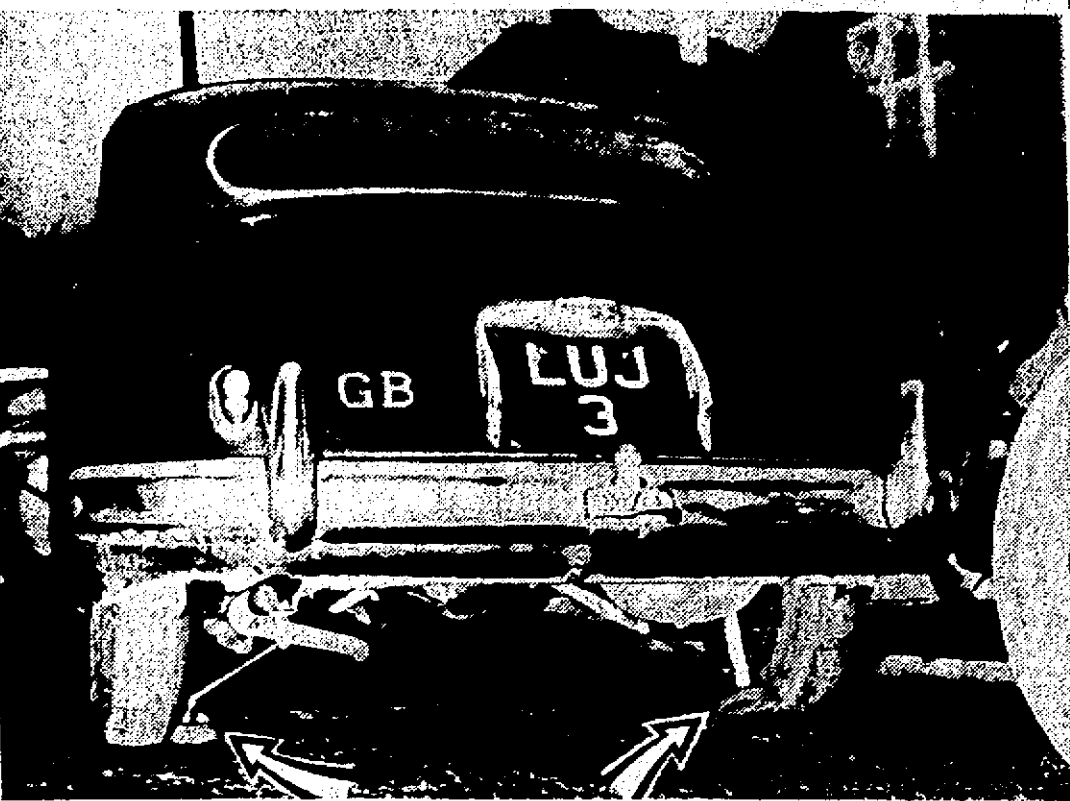

Fred Coe probably will go to CBS with Playhouse 90.

Now only a local Chicago show, "Ding Dong School," still managed to drown Garry Moore and Arlene Francis in the Chl. battle.

Ginny Simms will be on TV Varieties from N.Y. when she arrives to star at the St. Regis Maisonette.

Myrna Loy signed for a TV series, "Minerva," for Screen Gems.

Helen Hayes gave her okay for a TV series based on her late

CURB SERVICE — The problem of squeezing into tight parking spaces is made simple with a new device called the "Slider," invented by engineer Archie Butterworth of Frimley Green, Surrey, England. To park a car equipped with the invention, the driver steers the front end into the curb. At the press of a dashboard button, a hydraulic undercarriage with two rubber disks (arrows) is lowered, raising the rear wheels from the ground. Powered by the car's transmission, the disks spin and move the car sideways into the parking space. Low gear swings the rear one way, and reverse the other.

Permit Obtained To Build Dwelling

Clarence Lehr, Midlothian, has obtained a permit to construct a dwelling in Election District 19. The residence, to be 32 by 25 feet, will cost approximately $4,000.

Alarm Answered

A false alarm was checked yesterday at 7:24 p.m. when firemen from West Side station answered a call at the corner of Beall and Lee streets. Box 142 was pulled near that intersection.

husband's (and Ben Hecht's) play "Front Page."

Down Under goes big for westerns, too.

Lloyd Nolan will film a TV series based on a character called an "undercover agent for the treasury and internal revenue," which is okay with the income tax toffs, though no such fiscal super-snoop really exists.

Lloyd will own 25 per cent of this fiction.

Evelyn (Eloise) Rudie stars with Patrice Munsel Dec. 20, Jan. 4 on Gale Storm's "Susanah" show and starts filming the pilot of her own new series "Cindy" the day after Christmas.

Evelyn's dad, Emery Bernauer, will produce it at the Hal Roach filmery.

Toys Help Keep Children In Bed

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — (INS) — What can mother do after the doctor leaves with the final admonition: "Now just keep Johnny in bed for a few days and see that he remains quiet."

Several things, according to family life and child development specialists at Purdue University. Their suggestions include:

Select a number of toys and play materials which provide quiet play abed. For girls these might be dolls to dress and undress, while boys might prefer miniature autos, airplanes and trucks. All will be interested, for a short time at least, in picture books, stuffed animals, scissors and old magazines, easy puzzles and the makings of any special hobby that can be enjoyed abed.

For children well enough to sit up, a back support may be made with a straight chair tipped upside down with the legs braced against the head of the bed. A bed tray, cardboard box, or board placed across chairs on either side of the bed offer a good play surface.

For children so ill they may not sit up, a goldfish bowl placed where they may watch the movements of the fish, or a balloon tied to the bed are suggested entertainment items.

False Alarm Checked

Firemen from West Side station yesterday afternoon checked a false alarm at the corner of Allegany and Washington streets. They said Box 14 was pulled at 2:57 p.m.

King Of Hoboes: 'Don't Be A Bum'

DETROIT — (INS) — The "King of the Hoboes" says today's children should become educated... not bums.

Sixty-eight-year-old Sam H. "King" Cole, who says he hit the rails at the age of 13 after his parents broke up, doesn't recommend life on the road for modern youth. He said:

"Tell the young people to stay home and go to Sunday School and Church regularly and lead a good Christian life."

Cole says he has traveled around the world seven times in 34 years of "bumming and thumbing." He became head of the hoboes several years ago when his predecessor, Jeff Davis, died. He heads the strictly independent Tourist Union 63, International Brotherhood of Hoboes of America.

The Knight of the Road explained:

"I've been everything — wino, boozehound, but I gave it all up. I used to drink it by the barrel and I don't touch it now. My motto is: if the hogs won't drink it, why should I?"

BINGO FIGHT CONTINUES

NEW YORK — (INS) — Protestants in New York state, who conducted a losing campaign against the recent adoption of a constitutional amendment to make bingo games legal under a county option plan, say the fight isn't over. The official organ of the Protestant Council of New York said legal bingo can still be defeated in county votes.

Verdict Ranks High As Live TV Program

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK — The verdict of the judge: "Live television at its best."

The judge is Edward A. Scott, for 15 years a municipal judge in the town of Pelham, N.Y., and more recently also a presiding justice on a fascinating television program, "The Verdict Is Yours" (CBS-TV, weekdays).

This viewer won't appeal Judge Scott's decision on the program in which he appears, except to say it's daytime TV at its best — with the possibility of being equally good nighttime television.

The Verdict Is Yours presents simulated courtroom trials, with each case lasting over a period of several days. A general story line is blocked out. Actual practicing lawyers serve as prosecution and defense attorneys. A jury of 12 willing persons renders an actual verdict.

But the heaviest burden is borne by professional actors. This is because there is no script. The actors — in the witness chair or at the counsel table, often as defendants — match wits with the lawyers just as a defendant or witness might in court.

No one memorizes specific lines; he can only remember the broad situations of the case. The result is fine when the actors are adept ad-libbers. Fortunately, they nearly always are.

The cast call for "The Verdict Is Yours" is as large as for a Studio One production. The competition is keen, for the program is an excellent showcase for a talented actor.

Judge Scott was saying the other day that he is impressed by rehearsals. At the first rehearsal the story line is discussed and the actors take over. The second

A Christmas Story

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, December 6, 1957

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—You will probably have to work hard today for what you would achieve. But hard work can be inspiring. Gains which come easily are not as satisfying. Be careful in money matters.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—"You're Venus is somewhat negative in influence, but don't be dismayed. Stress alertness, skill. Even if immediate gains are not forthcoming, keep plugging. It will pay.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Unexpected happenings possible—most likely to your advantage—so be alert and highly ambitious. A slower procedure than you usually follow may be necessary now. Plan, think—then advance.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer)—This day may be somewhat restrictive but it should not keep you from going ahead with plans, regular duties. Don't expect too much, but DO strive.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo)—Be practical, willing and patient. Consider how tedious some tasks or details. Try to better your methods and look over past work to see where improvement could be made.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo)—Try to finish matters already begun before starting fresh undertakings—unless, of course the latter are imperative. Be careful not to overextend yourself, however, and do be careful in finances.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra)—Not an overstimulating day, perhaps, but there are encouraging helpful rays for all worthwhile endeavors—mostly in fields concerning people, their living and problems.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio)—Planetary influences stress a need for clarity of thought, effective action—without aggression. Subtle reflection in planning your schedule should better it, allow more freedom for practical action.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—Keep a tight hold on emotions and don't fear to carry out well considered plans. Good work is never in vain and eventually results will register to your credit. Have faith!

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 21 (Capricorn)—A better day for you than for many. Scan your program with a view toward making corrections, necessary changes, then start working on them. So much can be accomplished by you industrious, clever folk!

JANUARY 22 to FEBRUARY 21 (Aquarius)—Your future is in the best position of all the planets today. Be ambitious, show initiative, pursue all worthwhile objectives.

FEBRUARY 22 to MARCH 21 (Pisces)—A really good time to test your mettle—to see if you can and WILL meet the day's challenges. Put a penalty on yourself if you don't. Every day has some opportunities; work for today!

YOU BORN TODAY have many talents with which to attain lasting success, and you can achieve even late in life. Your ability to think clearly and act quickly, plus your fine insight equips you for leadership, organizational work or a professional life. You should derive much from athletics, work with civic organizations; could do well in investment brokerage, politics, law, real estate, scientific research, religion. Likely faults: hasty answers, a blunt manner, which you really don't mean and jump to conclusions. (King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Although he was the wealthiest man of his time, King Solomon didn't have a cent to his name. Coined money had not appeared in Palestine during his reign, in the 10th century B. C.

Careful Play Pays A Dividend

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service
When the St. Paul winter carnival tournament of 1958 takes place the end of January and the first of February, one of the leading home town contestants will be Mrs. Norman Grue.

Today's hand is an example of careful play and fine card reading on her part.

North, bid too much. The fact that his partner could not overcall with one spade should have warned him against trying for game but North was an optimist and hoped for the best.

The best came off. West opened the ace of hearts and shifted to the deuce of clubs. Dummy's queen lost to East's ace and the jack return forced dummy's king.

There was a simple diamond finesse for the contract but Mrs. Grue knew that it would not work. West had passed his partner's opening bid and shown up with the ace of his suit. It would be too much to expect him to hold the diamond king also.

However, there are such things as singleton kings. Mrs. Grue played dummy's ace of diamonds and lo and behold there was East's king!

Now all that was necessary was the mopping up. The ten of diamonds was carefully dropped. It was necessary to unblock the suit. Trumps were drawn and the five of diamonds led. West played low and dummy's eight was finessed, whereupon all dummy's diamonds were good and Mrs. Grue had managed to wind up with an overtrick.

Bounty Proves To Be Bonanza Find

BOUNTY PROVES—Finding of the coral-encrusted hulk of the notorious mutiny ship HMS Bounty by veteran undersea photographer Luis Marden adds an exciting episode to one of the great sagas of the sea. Ship was found where she was scuttled in Bounty Bay off Pitcairn Island in the Pacific in 1790, to conceal hiding place of the mutineers. At right, Marden is shown on the ocean floor, examining some of the ship's copper fittings. He was assisted in his search by Tom Christian, 21-year-old great-grandson of Fletcher Christian, leader of the Bounty mutineers. Photo copyrighted by National Geographic Magazine.

Local Bus Drivers Set Meeting Tonight

Members of Local 1110, Bus Drivers Union, will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple. Business will include a discussion on schedules of the Cumberland Transit Lines, union officials said. Officers will be nominated and elected.

Engine Purr

HELENA, Mont. — At first, Mrs. Fred DeWolf thought the peculiar noise was her car acting up. On closer inspection she found a cat entangled in her fan belt, meowing mightily. Police extracted it, harmlessly for all concerned. If a U.S. flag should become so worn it must be discarded, it should be destroyed by burning.

Wait For Floods

Floodwater mosquitoes of the Mississippi River lay their eggs on a stream bank where they cannot hatch until floods raise water over them. Some eggs may wait years before the waters return.
